JUDGE RHEA FACES FEDERAL CHARGE

John S. Rhea, Arrested At Russellville, is Accused of Sending Obscene Letter.

Russellville, Ky.,-Judge John S. Rhea of the Circuit Court at Russellville was arrested this afternoon on a United States warrant, charging specifically the use of the United ils to send an obscene letter. His arrest is the culmination of a feud of political inception that began with the birth of the Russellville Messenger.

Judge Rhea was taken before Unit-States Comissioner George S. Hardy, who released him under $500 bond for preliminary hearing Thurs-

The arrest was made by United States Marshall A. T. Chaney.

Logan county has long been known as a democratic stronghold in Kentucky, but early in 1919 J. F. Logan returned to Russellville from overseas with the rank of captain and grades or high school. The superin- that he used to carry before the war. with A. M. Herndon started an independent newspaper, the Russellville Messenger.

Rhea, his ley, Danville, and J. H. Payne. brother, served as Election Commissioner year in and year out and during the hast gubernatorial race was chairman of the Democratic Cam-palen Committee. That a newspaper, other than one avowedly Democratic should expect totlive in Logan county, caused much comment and Democrats freely expressed themselves as believing the peter financed by Republican money was started for the specific purpose "getting the Rheas." The Messenger in one of its first editorials under the caption, "What Will Be the Policy of the Messenger?" tried to answer these rumors, the editorial being a denunciation of Judge John S.

A day or so later Mrs. Herndon received an otherne letter denounc-ing her and her husband and part-The letter was unsigned, but the editors of the Messenger accused Judge Rhea of its authorship. Several days later Judge Rhea called

But if they are not true the pubispers of this paper should be indicted," he told the grand jurors. Indictments were returned at once against Captain Logan and Mr. and Mrs. Herndon. The following day Mrs. Herndon was thrown in jail.

Trial after trial of the case was called until finally it was thrown out Court by refusal of governor Black to name a special judge, necessitated because of the fact that Judge Rhea was a party to the suit.

The Herndons in the meantime asked a federal investigation of the authorship of the anonymous letter Postoffice inspectors have been work ing on the case, and several days ago for Judge Rhea's arrest and forward ed to Russellville

The letter received by Mrs. Herndon has figured extensively in gossip and newspapers in Logan county, but Judge Rhea repeatedly has de nied the authorship of it.

At a recent sitting of the Federal grand fury in Bowling Green, Judge Walter Evans instructed the grand juty to investigate the letter but the term of the grand jury closed before it could get to the letter.

Matter of Food, in These Days of tion of Calculation.

Once upon a time this problem of food was a very simple matter. Three times a day, as a rule, the attention of man was drawn to a hotlow feeling located due east of the lower end o the vertebral column. This vacancy he proceeded to fill with a slab of bread, a chunk of beef, a pot of rice, etc., flavored as a rule with butter jam, garlie, etc., according to race, re ligion, climate, age, etc. This settled the problem till the next call from the far East

It pains us to say that this was living to eat and not enting to live. It showed no adjustment of means to It was a system of food that made no distinction between a longshoreman and a free-verse poet. It was internal anarchy.

Happily the truth has been realized. The consumption of food is no longer destructive but constructive. Man no longer eats corned beef and cabbage, but the vitamines in the beef and the polyzeugmatics in the cabbage. When he picks up the bill of fare he no tong-"What will most speedily and cheaply allay the unrest in my far East?" but he says, "Where can I find the 12,500 carbonuxates that will give me the right outlook on the League of Nations?" And he finds it in unpolished rice. Or he says to himself, "I am now at work on the fourth act of my poetic drama; to make it convincing to Belasco I must absorb 3,200 permaganazoids daily for the next 30 So he shaves the kernels off the corn and eats the cob. Perhaps with coconut butter, for the added col loidal saxophoniams

This yery midnight in our great city a couple of army corps of teething in-fants will be lulled to rest with 23,175 tle.-New York Evening Post.

When Hamilton engaged its rural she went among other places to Coke Otto, where perhaps 700 peo-Sanitary conditions were very lax there, so one of the first movements was the organization of a "tin can brigade." This was divided into eight sub-regiments and prizes were offered the group that kept the most rubbish out of the community for a specified length of time.

Subsequent community meetings have shown the people of Coke Otto the need for street clean-ups, flood protection and sanitation. After the third meeting the community decided that better and quicker results could be obtained through united efforts. Hence the plan to become an incorporated town.

Famous Small Bells.

The source of the dinner table "call bells" is not always traceable. Some come from old churches, where they have served as altar bells, especially those that have Latin quotations on he medallions on the sides of their cup-shaped gongs. Those that repreent famous personages are after the fushion of the period in which their leeds made them familiar figures in the public eye. Some are patterned after the bells in certain famous rhimes—like the copies of bells from the famous Miller collection in Call-

By A. MARIA CRAWFORD

"Your job is waiting for you, my boy," said Telford McGraw, patting the broad shoulder of a convalescent patient in St. Luke's hospital.

Jim looked up, a little smile twisting his wide straight mouth. "You've been great boss, Mr. McGraw."

"Tut, tut," said the old man. nerry round face was wreathed in smiles. "I'll be glad when you are well enough to come back to the office. Girls were all right during the war when we couldn't do any better but give me a boy in my place of business, every time. Now that girl who took your position when you had to come out here to the hospital. She's a clever little thing, but you know, sometimes, I actually forget that I am dictating ecause I am so busy watching the lit-le brown curls around her face and wishing that I had a daughter as pret ty. Well, here she comes! I didn't tell you, did I, that she asked to come along with me? Pretty little thing. sn't she?"

He beamed in fatherly fashion on the girl who was walking slowly toward them. "Here's Jim, getting as fit as a fiddle," he called to her, "This is Miss Mary Sue Lenoir, Mr. James Mc-Connell, formerly Sergeant McConnell with the A. E. F. in France."

"I hope that you will soon be able to come back to the office," she said soberly.

Jim dashed her a quick look, haif curtosity, half unbeltef. "Sure you're glad?" he smiled.

"Yes indeed." she answered. "I would like to get out of the office by April." "She's on the level, Jim," said Me-

Graw, as he left. "She's told me the same thing." "You're making a pretty nice salary for a girl," suggested Jim, after McGraw had goue. "Don't you like the work?" She shook her head, turning to look

Jim leaned forward a little, looking at her. Mary Sue seemed sympathetic. "I can't hold down a desk job for a long time, maybe never again. I've developed nerves. I'd rather have lost a leg, or an arm." He leaned back in his wheel chair, closing his eyes, half ashamed of himself for disclosing his secret. She said nothing and presently Jim opened his eyes. She had taken off the sailor hat and was leaning her head against the ledge, looking away at the trees. Again Jim felt a subtle little thread of sympathy between them. "I dat's done, I's gwine buy me a big live with my Aunt Fanny and my Uncle Silas Lenoir, You'll like him. He's fine. He wrote to me only today round my black hat.'

"'Man,' says Rastus, 'what you-all —that they need a young man on the mean by all dem black closes and by farm this summer and they want me to find somebody for them before I go back. Uncle SI said that he wanted somebody who was good at figures, who could help him carry out some plans to improve the stock, to make the farm pay a maximum amount. You see, you're it! And Aunt Fannie's cooking! It's too good to talk about.

You'll get fat, Sergeant-" TO INCORPORATE TOWN "Oh. say Jim." he pleaded, the shadow on his young face lifting for the Brst time.

She clapped her hands and, as if in fairy-like answer, a little flurry of snowy pear blossoms sifted down on her head and shoulders. "Will-o'-the-wisp-o'-spring!" he whispered. "It sounds great, the farm, Aunt Fannie, Uncle Si-and you-but you'd get tired of your job. I can't let you fool yourself—and me."

Mary Sue moved very close to him, and her hand found his hand and held It. in warm sympathetic companion ship, there on the wheel chair, "We're not dreamers nor faddists in the country," she told him. "We're simple folk and we feel a personal responsibility in our neighbors' welfare. The folks in cities live next door to each other for years and never speak. We couldn't do that. In a month's time in the country, you won't be conscious of a nerve in your body. O Jim." she said softly, there's pence and happiness and God in the still places. You'll come? What shall I write Uncle SI tonight about

The boy leaned forward, feeling again the old urge of life, renewed frentis, topes, the longings common to man "Tell Uncle St." he said easerts. Will-o' the wise o'-spring !"

DESIRABLE HENS TO RETAIN

On Most Farms Size of Flock Could Be Increased-Range Is Very Important.

The average farmer might find to destrable to increase the size of the flock of hens. While most farmers have little time to devote to poultry raising, yet their families may attend to the fowls and see that they are wel cared for and protected. The usual "advice" to poultry raisers on most farms the women and girl have had the responsibility of the flock for years and most of them could wel afford to increase the number of lay

Dwellers on This Globe Have Shown No Curlosity Concerning Possible Wonders of Its Interior.

The earth's crust is compared to the skin of an apple by the writer of are essential in developing profitable American Monthly. Our knowledge of the globe on which we live, he says, is not even skin deep; for an apple as large as the earth would have a skin twenty miles thick; and no one has been much more than a mile into the crust, or has bored into it with tools more than a mile and a half. It is rather humiliating to think that we know more about the sun, ninety millions of miles away, than we do of the solld earth under our feet. We think nothing of dispatching exploring expeditions to unknown regions thousands of miles away; how about a little expedition to points only a few miles distant—vertically downward? Such explorations have been proposed, although the boldest explorer has not dared to suggest going further than twelve miles—a trip that would take him on the surface of the earth only from one end of Manhattan island to the other.
