V. Y. M. CLASS NO. 3 TO HAVE BANQUET

V. Y. M. Class No. 3 of the Marion Methodist Sunday School will have their banquet on Friday night, April 15. For several months the Marion's Men's class has been in a contest with the Men's class of the First Methodist Church at Henderson, Ky., and the Men's class of the Methodist Church at Madisonville, Ky. The contest was won by the class at Madisonville, they having at one time, 408 men present in their men's class. Marion was second in the race, having as their greatest number at any one time, 177 men. The Madisonville class will have their banquet on April 1st, and the Marion class has been invited to send representatives to that meeting.

A good time is promised at the banquet on April 15th and all men who have been present at any time during the contest are invited. Plans are already under way to make it one of the most enjoyable affairs ever given by Class No. 3 and in days past they have had some thoroughly enjoyable meetings. The officers of the class are R. F. Haynes, Pres., Dr. O. T. Lowery, Vice Pres., and Neil Guess Secretary.

At the meeting of the class last Sunday morning, J. H. Orme challenged the class to have an average attendance of 125 from now through June, saying that if they maintained this average he would give a barbecue to the entire class. Upon motion of the teacher, Rev. G. P. Dillon the challenge was accepted. The members of the class are already talking of that barbecue.

FEDERAL ROAD MAN HERE

Mr. R. D. Orders, of the Bridge and Drainage Department of the Federal Highway Commission was in our city last week. He was sent out to investigate the drainage of the Louisville-Paducah road which is to come through Marion. He surveyed the entire route through Crittenden for this purpose. Mr. Orders says that this is usually the last thing to be done before letting building contracts.

This looks good to the Press, to say the least, the project is not dead and sooner or later the contracts will be let and work begun. No doubt the road will be built and the construction to start at an early date.

REQUESTED BY MAYOR

The Mayor requests that in case of fire the citizens of Marion do not ring or call the operator at the central office until at least five minutes have elapsed from the time of the sounding of the alarm, in order that the operator may have plenty of time to notify the members of the Fire Engine crew, before trying to answer calls for information concerning a fire.

WHO'S WHO IN HY

The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades are to have a declamatory contest soon. The preliminary contests will be held in the chapel at 8:30 on the following dates: Eighth grade, April 4th; Seventh grade, April 7th; Sixth grade, April 11th and 12th. A gold piece will be awarded the winner of the final contests, one for the winning boy and one for the winning girl.

Dr. Mutchler, former director of Extension of the University of Kentucky was in chapel last week and gave an interesting talk on "What I would study if I were to go to school."

Mr. Erikson, District Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was in chapel last Tuesday. He gave an interesting account of the campaign plans of the Strawberry Grower's Association at Pembroke, Ky. It is understood that he is working for a company of 25 to go there for the strawberry season.

Those making A in English for the month of February were: Vera Eskew and Virginia Reed, Seniors; Irene Daughtrey, Martha Reed, Leola Sullinger, Marie Taylor, Juniors; Katherine Hughes, Carrie Moore, Katherine Arflick, Clara May Crass, Freshmen; Chas. Reed, Mabel Gahagan, Ebbie Wathan, Sophomores. In French Class Irene Daughtrey made A.

SPLENDID RECORD FOR MARION SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Marion continues to maintain its reputation as a Sunday School town. It is a widely known fact that the people of our city have a church and Sunday School-going spirit that is hardly equalled by any town of its size anywhere. The average regular attendance at all the Sunday Schools seems to show a steady increase.

No town that we know of, having a population equal to Marion, which is 1780 according to the 1920 census, can boast of as large attendance at the Sunday Schools as were present last Sunday, March 27. The following shows the number present at the different Sunday Schools:

First Baptist	477
Methodist	437
Cumberland Presbyterian	72
Second Baptist	57
Southern Presbyterian	53
Christian	47
U. S. A. Presbyterian	45

Total 1188

The colored people held a union Sunday School at the C. M. E. church and had 87 people present, making a total of 1275 men, women and children in attendance at the Sunday Schools of Marion last Sunday.

MARION HIGH SCHOOL TO DEBATE WITH PRINCETON

Marion High School has accepted a challenge to debate with the Princeton High School this Friday night, April 1, on the subject, "Resolved that the government should establish Courts of Arbitration to settle disputes between employers and employees of public utilities." Marion High will have the affirmative side of the question and will be represented by Watts Franklin, Billy Eskew and Otis Wheeler. It goes without saying that a good crowd of Marion school supporters will go with the boys on their trip Friday night.

Princeton is reported as having an exceptionally strong debating team, and knowing the mettle of the boys that represent Marion we predict that it will be a battle royal. The Princeton school supporters have very graciously extended an invitation to provide entertainment for all visitors from Marion Friday night.

A CARD FROM JUDGE HENDERSON

Editor Crittenden Press,

Dear Sir:

I have been asked by a number of interested citizens of the county to state whether we would have a board of magistrates in Crittenden county in case the commissioned form of government should be voted at the coming election. In this county there would be no need of a board of magistrates if we should have a commission form of government and of course no one would seek or accept the office if the commission form of government should be voted. If we have the commission form of government we would have no magistrates. If the commission form of government should carry, there will be three commissioners to be elected by the voters of the county who will have the fiscal affairs of the county in their charge.

I make this statement because I have been asked to do so, without undertaking to advise any one how they should vote on this question.

Very truly, CARL HENDERSON

J. L. Lowery of near Sullivan was in Marion during the week end. He is a brother of Dr. O. T. Lowery of this city.

D. E. GILLILAND ANNOUNCES AS CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

In this issue of the Press we carry the formal announcement of Mr. D. E. Gilliland as a candidate for Sheriff of Crittenden County. Mr. Gilliland served as Sheriff one term, having been elected eight years ago this fall by a large majority, and made one of the most efficient and best liked officials the county has ever had, and we feel sure that if he should be the winner this time, he will give the people entire satisfaction as Sheriff.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this opportunity of thanking our many friends for their kind deeds and sympathy extended us in the illness, death and burial of our dear wife and mother.

We can but in a small measure express our feeling of gratitude for those who made every possible effort to do even the seeming little things she so loved and cherished while living. If she could speak she would have a breath and a tender caress for each of the many beautiful flowers presented and they were just as she would have had them. May God bless you each and every one for those acts and tokens of love for her and her memory and your kind friendship for us.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS MOVES TO COURT HOUSE

Having outgrown their quarters in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church, the Men's Bible Class, No. 12, will hold the lesson period in the Court House, beginning next Sunday, and continuing until the new extension to the Church has been completed, which will probably be ready for occupancy in the early fall.

Class No. 12, which was reorganized a few weeks ago, is now one of the Standard Classes in the Southern Baptist Sunday Schools, having adopted the Board's methods for the study of the Bible and system of management of organized classes, in the matter of teaching, enrollment, enlargement, finances, social features, etc., and having special officers whose duties are to look after their respective lines of work.

As an organized class it has gone forward at a steady rate in attendance interest in the study of the Bible and in many other ways, and the class now finds it necessary to seek larger quarters for temporary use, pending the erection of the addition to the church building.

A cordial welcome is extended to the man who is not a member of any Sunday School to join this splendid class, and casual visitors are also invited to drop in any Sunday morning.

The class will meet at the Court House promptly at 9:30 and after the lesson period, will join the main Sunday School at the church for the closing exercises. —Class Reporter.

MARINES RESUME RECRUITING

The Marine Corps was the first branch of the service to lift the temporary ban on recruiting, when it was announced this week that applicants without previous service would be accepted. For the last two months recruiting for the Marine Corps has been limited to reenlisted Marines only.

Major General Lejeune directs recruiting officers to accept men for either three or four years, the two year enlistment being abolished. Physical, moral and mental standards are to be kept as high as possible, and no man who is less than twenty years old, sixty-five inches in height, and weighs less than one hundred and thirty pounds is to be accepted. The total strength for the Marine Corps when general recruiting ceased last January, was approximately 22,000. It is now slightly under that figure.

EYE TALKS

By Susie E. Gilchrist, Oph. D.

Most everyone is under the impression that good vision means perfect eyes. Statistics show that less than one percent of all eyes are hyalically normal, ninety percent are hyperopic (far sighted) and the balance myopic (near sighted) or blind. Approximately seventy-five percent of all hyperopes have normal vision or better, and of the remainder, all but five percent can be made to see normal. In Hyperopia the eyeball is either too short on its axis or there is not enough curvature in the cornea, either of which would tend to cause rays of light from distant objects to focus beyond the back of the eye.

The eyes are the only organs in the body having facilities for overcoming their anatomical defects and Hyperopia is the only defect they can overcome. But in so doing they require a greater amount of nervous energy, which affects the general system because when the excess current to the eyes is turned on the entire system is increased in voltage with the result that normal parts receive too much current and the increased tension interferes with their work, causing complications from hysteria to hasty consumption. It interferes with circulation by increasing vascular tension and finally the insufficient supply to the heart causes it to exhibit weakly even to the skipping of beats.

Messrs Nesbit Fowler and Elcie Andrews left Monday for Evansville, where they will enter school.

Miss Fannie Moore who is attending school at Elkton, Ky., spent the Easter holidays with her parents.

J. H. Brouster, of Paducah was in Marion, Saturday on business.

G. P. Slayton was in the city Friday on business.

TOLU BANK PIG CLUB

The Farmers and Merchants Bank at Tolu are actively interested in the boys and girls of their community. With the help of County Agent Jno. R. Spencer, they are arranging to place pigs with ambitious youngsters on a short time note, the purpose being to introduce pure bred stock and give instruction in proper methods of feeding and care. This is a very worthy endeavor. All interested children between 10 and 18 years of age should get in touch with John Grimes, Cashier, or the County Agent at the Farm Bureau office.

HOW TO FAIL IN A DAIRY

Sometimes the best way to show how to do a thing is to tell how it should not be done. Then the way to succeed will be clearly evident. With this plan in view a West Virginia farmer gives some rules on how not to succeed with cows, a copy of which has just been received by the United States Department of Agriculture. The farmer-humorist says:

Don't weigh your milk, for then you might have to figure and think. Feed the cows timothy hay—it is good, for race horses.

Cow-testing associations are needless—they show how to save and know.

Keep the barn hot—Cows are like woodchucks.

Don't have many windows in the barn—the hired man might look out.

Keep water ice cold—shivering gives the cows exercise.

Avoid heavy milkers—they consume too much valuable time.

Misses Melba Williams and Forest Hammack who are attending school in Evansville are spending the Easter holidays at home.

LABOR UNAPPRECIATED.

"Why did you resign from the movies?"
"It was this way," said the ex-film actor: "I drove a motorcar at 60 miles an hour off a pier into the sea, swam out to a capsize boat and rescued the heroine, carried her to shore and fought a battle with three snake-believe smugglers and when I sat down to recover my breath, what do you suppose the director said to me?"
"Bravo!" probably."
"No. He said: 'A little more action, please.' Then I quit."

Shifted Responsibilities.

"The trouble with most politicians is that they promise more than they can perform."
"I avoid that," replied Senator Borah. "I keep a man hired to make my promises, and if the promises don't come true I administer a shocking reproof to him, with the disappointed constituent as a highly approving audience."

Its Effect.

"No wonder Elsie never puts up her hair in papers or patent arrangements. Her husband is such a passionate man."
"What has that to do with it?"
"Why, his language when he gets excited is enough to make any one's hair curl."

PUREBRED SIRES ARE INCREASING RAPIDLY

Have Proved Worth for Improving Range Herds.

Scrub Bull Has Been Blacklisted on Big National Forest Pastures—Great Improvement Seen in Grade of Steers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Purebred bulls have proved their value for improving range herds, and the number being bought in the cow country of the West is rapidly increasing each year, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. The scrub bull is now blacklisted on the big national forest pastures.

During the season of 1919 three local live stock associations, the members of which use the ranges of the Sierra National Forest in California, adopted rules for the purchase of purebred bulls. Under a special rule each association was required to place on the range a sufficient number of purebred Hereford, Shorthorn, or Aberdeen-Angus bulls. A committee to purchase and pass upon the credentials of each animal to be turned loose on the ranges was appointed.

Under this plan, during the grazing season of 1920, 105 Herefords, 97 Shorthorns, and six Aberdeen-Angus bulls were purchased by the stockmen through their associations and placed upon the range. It is estimated that at the end of the season of 1920 the stockmen had not less than 200 registered bulls on their ranges, resulting in a great improvement in the grade of steers turned out.

The Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture assists these local associations in enforcing the rules which require that the same kind and grade of bulls be placed on the same range. Permits to graze on the national forest pastures are refused those who do not conform to the association's ruling and who have not paid their share toward the purchase of the association bulls.

POOR EGGS INCREASE PRICES

Percentage of Spoiled Product Shipped to Markets Is Very High and Discourages Trade.

In a shipment of three cases, or 90 dozen eggs, recently received by a Washington (D. C.) commission firm, 15% dozen were condemned by the local health department as unfit for food. The percentage of bad eggs shipped into the markets is very high, reducing trade and discouraging consumption, say specialists of the bureau of markets of the United States Department of Agriculture.

If a few eggs in the dozen are bad the housewife pays exorbitant prices for the sound ones. The dealer always prefers to handle good eggs, for spoiled ones injure his business reputation. A deduction for spoiled eggs also makes the shipper feel that he is not being treated in good faith by the commission merchant.

Bad eggs then are a loss to everyone who handles them. Every egg marketed should be of unquestionable quality.

SUITABLE FEED FOR HORSES

Timothy Hay, Oats and Corn Are Recommended for Animals Doing Average Work on Farm.

Rations recommended for average horses doing average work are fifteen pounds of mixed hay, ten pounds oats, four pounds wheat bran. If you would rather feed your timothy hay to the horses and save the clover for cows the following ration might have use on your farm: twelve pounds timothy hay, seven pounds oats, seven pounds corn. These are for one day's feeding.

SECOND CUTTING OF COWPEAS

Under Favorable Circumstances Plant Will Sprout Again After Being Cut for Hay or Seed.

Under favorable conditions cowpeas after being cut for hay will sprout again from the base. Considerable pasturage or even a second crop of hay or seed is sometimes produced, especially in the Gulf coast region. If good moisture conditions follow the first cutting. Ordinarily, however, but a single cutting can be obtained.

A number of citizens have been making inquiry of us about the status of the State Highway which is to be built from Louisville to Paducah. In order to get facts to give our readers, we wrote Mr. Joe S. Boggs, State Highway Engineer. The following is the correspondence.

J. S. Boggs, State Highway Engineer
Frankfort, Kentucky.

Dear Sir:

I write for information for our people concerning the Ohio River Highway.

I see announced in a daily of Mar. 24, 1921, contracts have been let for 54.81 miles of the Ohio River Road from Louisville to Paducah. The statement goes on to say that the Commission expects to advertise in May for Henderson, Daviess and Union County Sectors, and will have plans ready for Livingston County sector by April 15. No mention was made of the Crittenden County Sector.

Could you inform me why Crittenden County was left out?

Will appreciate any information concerning this matter. Yours truly,
W. F. HOGARD

Mr. W. F. Hogard, Marion, Ky.
Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of your favor of the 25th instant, and note your inquiry as to why Crittenden County has been left out by this Department in the program of construction work this season on the Ohio River Road from Louisville to Paducah.

I would advise that appropriation made during the administration of Rodman Wiley, Commissioner of Public Roads, was to largely come out of a county road bond issue and that as the resolutions for making this appropriation were not concurred in by the County Road Commission the Attorney General last year declared the appropriation to be invalid and void. Since that time Crittenden County has not indicated in any way their financial co-operation in this construction work other than a tender of loaning the money to the State, which matter was in abeyance until an injunction suit from Hopkins County was decided in the Court of appeals as to whether or not a county could loan money to the State.

In view of the fact that certain provisions were made by the Court of Appeals in this decision the State Highway Commission at their meeting on March 15 went on record not to accept loans from any county.

As I see the matter now, unless Crittenden County is willing to contribute to this Department that part of the cost of construction to which their Fiscal Court attempted to obligate them, no work in the near future will be done on this project in your county.

Yours very truly,
JOE S. BOGGS,
State Highway Engineer.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

The Press takes a great pride in the number of correspondents that it has writing for it. More than 25 sections of the county are represented, weekly by them, giving the happenings and the local news of their respective communities. This gives the Press an unusual amount of home news, thereby causing it to be read widely by our county people.

This gives our local merchants an opportunity to put their advertising before Crittenden county people in the best possible form. Many of our merchants, as well as other business interests are taking advantage of this opportunity and are calling the attention of our readers to their business—and with results.

Through this medium many people are brought to Marion. The writer recently met three parties on the train, and looking for news he made their acquaintance. He learned that they were coming away from their own county and towns, for two of them were from adjoining counties. On meeting the same parties at the depot that afternoon, all loaded with merchandise, he asked them why they came to Marion to do their shopping. They replied that they could get better prices here than elsewhere and that they saw those prices advertised in the Press.

It pays to advertise in the Press.

ANNOUNCES FOR TAX COMMISSIONER

In this issue of the Press is the formal announcement of W. K. Powell for re-election to the office of Tax Commissioner of Crittenden County, subject to the action of the Republican primary of August 6, 1921.

Mr. Powell has served one term in the capacity of Tax Commissioner and has made a very efficient and commendable officer and if re-elected no doubt he would continue to give satisfaction as an officer.

CHARACTER IN FEATURES

An upward turn of the point of the nose denotes an inquiring mind.

Two upright lines planted between the eyes denote love of justice.

Eyes that are round, large, full, and clear denote love of the opposite sex.

Oblique fullness at the side of the chin just below the upper lip denotes jealousy.

A perpendicular forehead with a nose which sinks down at its root denotes lateness.

A long interval between the nose and the mouth is the indication of want of prudence and precipitation.

Large, clear, transparent eyes which move incessantly, the eyelids being sharply delineated, denote quick judgment.

Ruffled, irregular eyebrows that are well pronounced and not far from the eyes give intellectuality and irritability, a not unusual combination.

Fullness in the cheek by the side of the mouth denotes impulsiveness. The lower portion of the forehead projecting and the upper receding gives perception, but lack of thought.

An indentation or dimple in the center of the chin announces one more anxious to receive love than to bestow same. The upper lip is often raised in such subjects, showing the middle teeth. A chin which is both narrow and square also indicates a desire for affection, but not given to constancy in love.

STARS AND STRIPES

Minutes invested in idleness bring their hours of toil.

Dame Rumor is an ugly wench, mainly mouth and ears.

The fellow who turned the other cheek is still in the hospital.

The man who is always in a hurry is usually running around in a circle.

Greediness is the worst form of poverty; its wants can never be satisfied.

There are more human sacrifices to the god of pleasure than to the god of war.

When men began to wear crowns of thought crowns of jewels began to go out of fashion.

Men who look for pull are usually those who must need push; to get what's coming, we just need to keep going.

He who accumulates a host of bad habits need fear no other enemy, for they will accomplish his downfall unassisted.

One of the doctors says it is wise to try to be in good humor when you are eating. That being the case, don't look at the prices when you are giving your order to the waiter.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

WISE THOUGHTS

There is more fun in leading than lagging.

The dearest thing you can sell is your own self-respect.

You cannot do justice to your work unless you enjoy it.

To fare well yourself, help along the welfare of others.

Consciousness of ignorance is no small part of knowledge.

Dodging work is the hardest work of all, and yields the poorest returns.

It is exceedingly foolish to worry ourselves with what cannot be remedied.

QUIET THOUGHTS

To feel, to love, to suffer, to live for self-devotion will ever be the text of a good woman's life.

One of the first essentials in securing a good-satured equanimity is not to expect too much of the people among whom you dwell.

In life, troubles will come which look as if they never would pass away. The night and the storm look as if they would last forever, but the calm and the morning cannot be stopped.

SAYS THE OWL

We often see weak old women and weak old babies.

Time makes all things even except in a poker game.

Lots of women who are short on senses are long on dollars.

Widowers, like tumbledown houses, should be repaired.

Trying to keep from worrying is what worries some people.

it costs money to build and money is hard to get.

Don't take risks with your buildings.

MRS. EFFIE MAY LOWERY

Mrs. Effie May Lowery, wife of Dr. O. T. Lowery and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Parker, of Salem, died in the hospital at Evansville, March 24.

Dr. and Mrs. Lowery, with their two small sons moved here from Tolu last fall. They soon found a place in the esteem of the people of Marion. In church circles, social life and educational work, Mrs. Lowery took a great interest. She was a dutiful wife and a loving mother.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist church by her pastor, Rev. Dillon, assisted by Rev. Capshaw of Tolu and Rev. Hogard. The large throng of people and the beautiful floral offerings were attestations of the high esteem in which she was held.

Mrs. Lowery was born at Salem and spent her girlhood days there. After her marriage to Dr. Lowery, Tolu was their home until they came to Marion. She passed away at 4:40 A. M., March 24 at Evansville where she had been taken by her husband and Dr. I. H. Clement for treatment.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, Thomas and Guy, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Parker, and a large circle of friends.

A SURE WAY

Our streets need repairing. There is one sure way of getting it done, do it ourselves. You repair yours, I'll repair mine. That is one way to get it done and one of our citizens are seeing it in that light and are going to do it.

A. C. Moore and W. Scott Paris have put on a heavy bed of rock over their section of E. Depot Street and are covering the rock with gravel. J. Stevens, Dr. Gilchrist, and C. A. Daughtrey have similarly repaired the street in front of their residences on E. Depot Street.

So far we have heard no objections to the actions of these citizens from the city Council. And by the way when is the embargo going to be lifted on the section of South Main Street, between the residence of A. H. Reed and the railroad crossing? It is now impassable.

DEAN HURST

Mr. Ormond Hurst and Miss Reva Dean were united in marriage Sunday evening, March, 27 at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Dean, in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives who extended them a warm congratulation.

Both bride and groom are very popular young people and have many friends that wish them a long and happy life.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. C. T. Boucher.

EDUCATIONAL MEETING

An educational meeting was held at the Methodist church here Tuesday, Rev. T. L. Hulise, P. E. of the Henderson District, presiding.

The ministers present were: A. R. Kasey, of Hopkinsville, A. H. Godby, of Carrsville; O. M. Capshaw, of Tolu, R. L. Rudolph, of Morganfield, L. W. Turner of Sturgis; W. P. Gordon of Clay, Rev. Richardson of Repton and G. P. Dillon and W. F. Hogard of this city.

A lunch was served to the visitors in the basement of the church by the Ladies Aid.

Make yourselves nests of pleasant thoughts, bright fancies, satisfied memories, noble histories, faithful sayings, treasure houses of precious and useful thoughts, which care cannot disturb, pain not make gloomy, nor poverty take away from us—houses built without hands, for our souls to live in.—John Ruskin.

SIMPLE DESSERTS.

CUSTARDS, in various forms and flavors, rice, tapioca, gelatin and fruits are all good desserts for the little people. Fruits are stimulating; milk, eggs, and such combinations are nourishing, and these simple foods, when served in variety, will never become monotonous.

Apricot Charlotte.

Wash one-fourth pound of dried apricots, cover with cold water and soak over night. Cook in the same water until soft, then rub through a sieve. Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in one-third of a cupful of cold water, add one-third of a cupful of boiling water, the juice of a lemon, one cupful of sugar and the strained apricot. Cook, and when the jelly begins to thicken, beat until light, then add the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and continue beating until the mixture holds its shape. Chill and serve with whipped cream.

Mock Sherbet.

Cook one-half cupful of minute tapioca, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of sugar and two cupfuls of boiling water, together until clear, using a double boiler. Add the juice of two lemons about five minutes before taking from the fire, also the yellow rind of one lemon. Pour the mixture on a platter which has been dipped in cold water. As soon as the edges begin to jelly add two egg whites beaten stiff. Beat until light and foamy. Serve very cold in sherbet cups with whipped cream on top.

Coconut Custard.

Prepare a custard for cup custards, pour into cups and sprinkle the top of each with a teaspoonful of fresh, grated coconut. Bake in hot water until firm. Chill before serving.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"BOLSHEVIKI"

LIFTED bodily from the Russian where the term means the left or radical wing of the political party as opposed to the "menshevik" or conservative element, "Bolshevik" has been imported into America together with many of the false and unsound doctrines to which its members subscribe.

Originally the term was analogous to and had no more sinister meaning than "radical," as used in connection with British politics. A Bolshevik was one who opposed the conservatives—not necessarily an advocate of arson and bloodshed, but a person who believed in a progressive policy instead of following a reactionary course. Until the overthrow of the Romanoff dynasty, the Bolshevik did not number anarchists and nihilists in their ranks. These disturbers of the peace were kept under close surveillance by the police and were given no opportunity to ally themselves with any political organization. During the chaos which followed the death of the czar, the extremely radical element came into control and the name Bolshevik fell into disrepute—becoming synonymous with "red," the red flag having been from time immemorial the symbol of lawlessness and disorder. THE WOODS

BY DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE SOUL.

I FINGER the soul of a man to the extreme underneath of a coat or a shirt. Ah! I finger the heart that pumps life through his frame to the same under diamonds or dirt.

For his face may be homely as' tough be his hide as' tested the bridge of his back. But the soul of the man is a better 'inside as' swells the moment to speak.

The soul of the man is a better 'way back, until maybe the lobster forgets there is any such thing as a soul in the shack to take note of his devilish fate. But smooch with the gang, on the long march alone, then it follows his foot-prints to see. God knows that I tell what I know, for my own it has been as' spoken to me.

It has risen as' spoken its speech by the light of the flicker's flame of the fire. It has come with its voice where the lounge glittered bright on a man that was drunk with desire. For I know not the hour that the visitor brings to the night, in the day, it is near. It has come when no step stirred the stillness of things, it has come when a hundred were here.

As' it knows all the past, as' it steps of the road I have traveled the years that are gone.

In the springtime of youth it was there when I sowed in the fields that were yellow with dawn.

It has followed my trail in the woods as' the town, it has stood by my side at the bar. It has followed my trail either up hill or down, as' has judged of my deeds as they are.

So it stood by my side in that old-time after when the night turned to red in my eyes.

As' it knows just how much of my story was square as' it knows just how much of it lies.

For it saw the blow fall, as' it saw the steel shine, as' it saw the thing leap to its goal.

You can feel all the world with a yarn such as mine, but you can't tell a lie to your soul.

I have spit on the doors of their law-makers' shops, I have spit as' have laughed at the law.

I have drunk with their sheriffs as' played with their cops, with my life as the stake in the draw.

I have traveled their streets in the glare of the sun, while the he-hounds were hot on the track.

I have shaken them all, shaken all but the one, but the one that will never turn back.

For the world may forget, or the world may not know, or the world it may know as' not care.

But forever builds me wherever I go still another walks close who was there. Yes, the dead may be done as' the dead may be hid, may be hid by the snows as' the soil.

But the thing that I planned as' the thing that I did one witness will whisper to God.

They know me back home as a man who is dead as' who passed in life checks as he should.

As' I answer up here to a new name tested that in every way is as good. I have shaken the teeth of the hounds of the past, forgotten like all men who die.

But I know that my soul will be there at the last—for my soul knows that I am still I.

PAIR OF SCALES MOST ESSENTIAL

Selling Various Farm Products
by Guess Is Seldom Profitable to Farmer.

PRACTICE PLEASING TO DEALER

Experienced Buyer Has Advantage of Skill in Estimating Not Possessed
by Seller—Small Platform
Device Is Best.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Guessed weights and measures" are seldom profitable for the farmer. This practice is unbusinesslike. It indicates a carelessness of the value of the thing he is selling, and the buyer would be more than human if he did not take some advantage. A "guessed bushel" of potatoes is more likely to measure 4½ pecks than 3½.

Where sales are based on weight the grower is paid for what he delivers. When the bar balances at 100 pounds both parties know that full value has been given and received.

An Argument for Scales.

The best argument for the installation of a good set of scales in a convenient place on the farm is that, while the produce dealer is nearly always willing to buy "by guess," he is seldom willing to sell that way. The most conspicuous piece of equipment in the vegetable stall, the market, or the grocery is an accurate pair of scales. The produce that is bought "by guess" is sold by ounces. The dealer is a practical buyer and attains some degree of accuracy in making his estimates. Thus he has the advantage of skill not possessed by the farmer, who lacks experience in making his estimates.

The dealer has another advantage not held by the farmer. As he sells by weight, he has a means of checking the accuracy of his guess. If he finds that the weight of a steer, for instance, was less than he estimated it to be when he purchased it, he may recover his loss by charging the customer more or by taking out the loss on the next "guessed" purchase he makes. The loss is likely to fall not on the dealer, who incurred it, but upon innocent parties.

The bureau of markets, by publishing the prevailing market prices for meat and farm produce, offers free information to the farmer that will place him on the level with the dealer so far as knowledge of prices is concerned, but unless the farmer has a set of scales available he cannot use this knowledge.

An accurate set of small platform scales should be a part of the farm equipment, and every farm sale should be referred to them. If mounted upon rollers they can be moved from place to place as their services are required. If without rollers, they can be moved in a wheelbarrow. They should be kept in a building that is as free from dust and moisture as possible, and should be tested with standard weights at least once a year. In some states the tests are made by law by an official who makes the adjustment necessary to restore the scale to balance, or, if this cannot be done, condemns the apparatus and seals it so that it cannot be used again until repaired.

Answers Most Purposes.

Such equipment will answer most farm purposes, but a larger set of scales is occasionally required to weigh cattle, hogs, hay, or other materials too heavy or bulky to lift upon the small platform. Very often a merchant whose place of business is centrally located, or a farmer who lives on a main road leading into town finds it a profitable investment to put in a set of pit scales for the use of farmers and others who are bringing bulky material to market. When a farmer knows that he can drive his cattle or his loaded wagon upon the platform of pit scales without going out of his way, he will be less inclined to lump off a barnful of hay or sell his stock by the head. The owner of the scales receives a small fee for his services and the farmer a signed statement of weight which is the basis of payment when he delivers his load at the market or shipping yard.

Illinois Central System Discusses Subject of Freight Rate Reduction

There is a good deal of discussion at this time, especially in the press, about railway freight rates. Some writers contend that they are too high and constitute an impediment to business. Others, having more regard for the necessity of adequate transportation, and the increased cost of producing it, consider the present level of freight rates reasonable and advocate at least a try-out—which has not yet been had.

It is admitted that there are inequalities in some of the rates that will have to be adjusted, but the basic rate is not too high, at present operating costs, if the railways are to be expected to furnish adequate transportation. The question of adequate transportation is one that is often lost sight of. Without it business cannot be carried on successfully.

So eminent an authority as Chairman Edgar F. Clark, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, whose ability and fidelity to the public interest is unquestioned, has recently called attention to the narrow margin between railway revenue and operating expenses and fixed charges. In view of existing conditions, it is unfortunate that there should be an agitation for the lowering of freight rates. This can only result in raising false hopes that the rates can be reduced, and perhaps in retarding the development of business. If shippers are led to believe the rates can, or will, be reduced, they will naturally postpone shipments.

Stability of the rates at which the commerce of the country is carried is of the utmost importance. If freight rates should be manipulated up and down in response to every temporary business fluctuation, it would naturally result in more serious business depressions. Railway freight rates must be operative over a period of time to insure business stability.

It is contended by some that a reduction of rates would encourage shipping and provide adequate railway revenue through a greater volume of traffic—that the August rate increase created a restriction on business and was a factor in precipitating the depression which followed. Take cotton, for example. A year ago cotton was selling for about 40 cents a pound while in November, more than two months after the August increase became effective, the price was about 15 cents. The present market price is about 11 cents. If a reduction of 50 per cent were made in the freight rate on cotton, it probably would not result in the movement of a bale of cotton which will not move at the present rate.

A study of the situation will show that the August increase in rates had an almost negligible effect upon business. During September and October, and well into November, the railways handled a maximum traffic. By the middle of November the "buyers' strike," which began early in the summer, was reflected in a general recession of business. The public had gone on strike against war prices and was determined to force liquidation.

The pre-war freight rates were not sufficient to attract as much new capital as was needed for enlargement and expansion of the railway plant. The cost of labor, materials and supplies, in all probability, will never go back to pre-war levels. They ought not to do so entirely. Business should adjust itself to the present level of freight rates, at least until net railway operating income, through economical and efficient management, rises to a point where a reduction of freight rates would be justified without impairment of service.

There are few lines of business prospering during this reconstruction period. The farmers are not prospering and the great manufacturing industries are not prospering. They are going through the same readjustment process that the railways are going through. The railways are struggling back to normal, and they will succeed if they have the support and confidence of the public—if the public is not led astray by the unconstructive criticism of those who would like to see them fail.

Wholesome criticism is a good thing but wholesome criticism coupled with a remedy is a better thing. Any student of the railway question knows that the railways carrying the burdens that have been fastened upon them by war prices and government control, cannot function without rates commensurate with their increased expenses. Since 1914 freight rates in the United States are estimated to have increased on the whole about 68 per cent and passenger fares about 45 per cent. During the same period railway wages have increased more than 100 per cent, while materials and supplies have increased from 100 to 250 per cent, and even more.

Ultimately the burdensome costs of producing transportation will be lower. In the meantime, the basic freight rate cannot be lowered if the country's transportation plant is to function. The public's stake is primarily in having a railway plant at all and in keeping it at service. The railway's stake is in earning enough net income to maintain itself and attract the necessary capital to improve itself so that service can be rendered.

America is soured to the core; American business principles are sound and we should not be disheartened over conditions. However, this is a time when clear thinking is needed—a time to stand for the principles that gave to America the greatest and most efficient system of railways in the world. Above all, it is not a time to lend encouragement to those who are seeking to fasten permanently upon the railways the very evils from which they are now struggling to free themselves.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Illinois Central System.

Good Friday.
Good Friday has been observed since the earliest days of Christianity in memory of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, which event is said to have occurred Friday, April 15, 29, A. D., or April 3, 33, A. D. The expression "Good (probably God's) Friday" is said to be peculiar to the Church of England. Good Friday is observed the Friday before Easter.

World's Two Great Canals.

The Suez canal, which was opened in 1869, is 90 miles long, while the Panama canal is but 50.5 miles in length. It cost about $100,000,000 to construct the Suez canal, while the cost of building the Panama canal was almost four times that amount.

Our policy is to discontinue the Press when the time expires unless we are notified otherwise.

HOME TOWN HELPS

TAKING CITY INTO COUNTRY

England Putting Into Effect Scheme Which Seems to Be Along Lines of Common Sense.

In England, instead of developing suburban communities, they are trying the scheme of taking the city into the country, to the benefit of the city and doing no harm to the country. Every new development in England will be practically a garden city, with plenty of open spaces, recreation grounds, golf courses, well-placed factories and industrial sections, and healthful residential quarters. The worker will have his patch of ground, and the usual smoke and grime of industrial communities will be nonexistent.

Town-planning schemes, many of them conceived before the new idea was generally adopted, were naturally much delayed by preoccupation during the years of war with more urgent matters and since the war by a housing scheme which occupied the full attention of the technical staffs of the local authorities. For the best results town planning should have preceded housing. Owing to the extreme urgency of the latter, however, it had to go forward first.

In all building schemes and proposals for improvement there is, occasionally, injury done to owners of property by the invasion of rights they have enjoyed for many years. Compensation in such cases is payable to the injured owner. No claim can be made, however, for injury to buildings erected, or improvements made subsequent to the scheduling of the area for town planning. And the further important provision is made: That authorities can claim one-half of the increase in value of property consequent upon the town-planning scheme. The government now realizes the commercial value of town planning and has no intention of creating private fortune by its intervention.

BURN UP UNSIGHTLY RUBBISH

Simple Contrivance Will Solve Many Problems That Have Probably Long Puzzled Housewife.

What to do with paper trash, rags that have outlived their usefulness, paper boxes and a hundred other things that accumulate and which are known as trash is a problem for every housekeeper. Yet it can be very easily solved. Trash can, of course, be burned in the kitchen range, provided it is a wood or coal burner, but it fills the stovepipe with soot, necessitating frequent cleanings, and makes an unpleasant smell and a great many ashes to carry out. As for making a bonfire outside, that can never be done unless some one watches it closely, and even then stuff blows about, littering the lawn, and the fire leaves an unsightly black spot.

A rubbish burner which is very inconspicuous can be placed in the back yard, is perfectly safe and answers in an entirely satisfactory way the question, "What shall I do with this?" which comes up every cleanup day either in the house or in the yard. It is nothing but a woven wire container. A piece of woven wire fencing long enough to make a circular receptacle two and a half to three feet in diameter would answer the purpose. Wire the ends together, making it circular in form. Make a cover for it by putting another piece of the woven wire over an iron hoop. Then weight it down, or anchor it in some way so that the wind will not blow it over or it will not be tipped easily.

Such a rubbish burner makes outdoor burning even on windy days safe and gives one a place in which to put rubbish whenever found. Wet things can be placed in it and left to dry out in the sun and then burned.

"Hedgers."

Hedgers are folks who never come out into the open. They are timid souls who would like to run something if they weren't afraid they might make a mistake. Sometimes these dwellers by the side have good ideas, but they are afraid to air them. They fear criticism and attribute that incentive to better effort if they possibly can. So they continue living in the shade of the hedges and never doing anything to bring them into their best. And because of their peculiar thinking and habits they are not even harmless. Such folks need a fire in the hedge or something else that will make them be themselves, and do things worthy of men and the times.

Will It Help Trains Make Time?

A motor-car clock has been invented which never has to be wound up. It runs from power obtained from the batteries used for lighting the car lamps. So little current is required to work the clock that it uses in a year less than is required to light a four-candle-power lamp for an hour.

Quite the Contrary.

"I thought you said, dearest, that your father was difficult of approach." "Didn't you find him so, dear?" "No, I didn't. I hadn't been talking with him five minutes when he approached me for a liver as easily as any man I ever met."—Boston Transcript.

Houge Withers Greek Girls.

Although most Greek girls are usually very pretty, they begin to paint and powder from a very early age—the cheeks bright red, the eyebrows and lashes deepest black, and veins delicately blue. The result is that they are withered old women at forty, and thus nowhere are uglier females to be found than beneath the blue skies of this classic land.

Do you know what You're talking about?

This is the question which a fair-minded man asked a friend the other day when he reported that a Trust Company was the most expensive way to handle an estate. The man who said that it was expensive to handle an estate through a Trust Company was honest in what he knew perhaps but he didn't know anything about what he was talking. When his friend asked if he knew what he was talking about he confessed that he didn't KNOW but was only giving his OPINION. Opinions are dangerous things to foot with when the welfare of some loved one depends on them. If at your death you leave your loved ones a thousand dollars or ten thousand dollars you want to know that they will get the benefit of what you leave them. You don't want somebody else's OPINION as to what they THINK will be the best thing to do. You want somebody that KNOWS.

The man who says that it costs more for a Trust Company to look after an estate or act as guardian doesn't know what he is talking about. The law settles that matter and the Trust Company MUST ACCOUNT FOR EVERY PENNY TAKEN IN AND PAID OUT. When you have THE FARMERS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY to look after your affairs as administrator or guardian there are no "ifs" nor "ands". There is no "guess-work." There are no expensive "opinions". There will not be a risk to run of taking notes that are good in somebody's OPINION. It is our business to look after estates exactly according to law and a moments reasoning should convince any right thinking man or woman that we can do it cheaper and better than any individual.

Just come in some day, regardless of whether you are directly interested or not and let us talk the matter over together.
