PROCLAMATION BY THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Naming the Second Week in May As "Kentucky Clean-Up Week"

WHEREAS, Official reports to this office show that 60 out of every 100 cases of sickness and 47 out of every 100 deaths which occurred in Kentucky last year—an average year—making a total of 149,280 cases of such sickness and 12,280 deaths were due to preventable diseases and to a large extent to diseases caused, or greatly aggravated and made more fatal by the pollution of the soil, water and air by human and animal discharges and other filth in and around the homes in cities, towns and country districts, not actually connected with effective sewers, and

WHEREAS, Most preventable sickness and deaths are confined to people in early and middle life, often to young mothers and fathers, with the broken hearts and homes so often seen, and, to say nothing of the needless suffering and sorrow resulting from these diseases, causing a financial loss to the State almost beyond estimation,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, That the State Board of Health, by virtue of authority vested in it by law, and in the discharge of a manifest public duty, hereby sets apart and proclaims the second week in May, from Sunday the 8th, to the succeeding Saturday the 14th, as "Kentucky Clean-Up Week", and it appeals to the leaders of the public opinion everywhere—health and civil officials, women's clubs, teachers, ministers, physicians the press and all other welfare agencies and to every family in every community—to at once organize for this work in such ways as may make it effective. It asks the officials of every city and town to at once have the streets and alleys cleaned so that, with this done, they may furnish teams and men to dispose of all accumulations collected on private premises and elsewhere, and encourage the work for the entire week by offers of prizes for groups or classes doing it best.

As a fitting introduction and incentive to this health and life-saving campaign the Board requests that, in so far as may be possible, the services in every Sunday school and the morning services in every church in Kentucky for May 8th be made an exposition of the Mosaic Health Code as modified by modern scientific knowledge, or some other kindred scripture. It requests that Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday be made "Mothers, Teachers' and Children's Health Days" for the systematic cleaning of cellars, out-houses and yards and the collection and burning of trash, except the heavy things to be hauled away later, to filling or draining low or damp places, and to leveling the yards and planting them in grass and flowers; that the work of Thursday and Friday be given over to the men and large boys, and devoted to the crowning of wells, cisterns and springs with concrete, so as to guard the water against surface pollution, to grading, sodding or planting grass around them, and the white-washing of all fences, out-houses and cellars, not only for looks but still more for health; and Saturday and every Saturday in every year afterwards until cold weather, to attention to any other offensive matter which has been overlooked, and to cleaning out and hauling away the manure from every stable—public and private—in the city, town and country districts, in order, once and forever, to put a stop to the breeding of house flies, the busy, ever active carriers of the seed of most of the preventable diseases, and man's most universal and dangerous enemy.

It will be easy for the counties of Boyd, Daviess, Fulton, Harlan, Mason, Muhlenberg, Scott, the City of Louisville and Jefferson County outside of the city, with their all-time Health Officers and Visiting Nurses to carry all this on by intensifying their daily work, as will be made possible by the large voluntary force which the Board is calling to their aid, and an appeal is here made to every other county to compete with these more favored ones in so perfecting their organizations as to get the best possible results, and to send full reports to this office as to

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

For the first time women will participate in a Good Roads Convention in Kentucky June 7-10. The Executive Committee of the Kentucky Road Engineers' Association, arranging for the road meeting to be held in the Jefferson County Armory, Louisville, decided that since women are taking interest in public affairs and have been given the vote, they should be allowed opportunity to participate in the sessions.

It is expected that some of the most enthusiastic road advocates will develop among the fairer sex, not only are they being urged to attend but women speakers will be included in the program.

Gov. Edwin P. Morrow will be asked to issue a proclamation officially designating the week as Good Roads week in Kentucky and calling upon the people to participate in the road congress. Every county is urged to be well represented. County Judges, Engineers and Fiscal Courts have been invited.

In addition to Governor Morrow, Joseph S. Borges, Highway Engineer and members of the State Highway Commission, who have accepted invitations to deliver addresses, some of the most noted road experts of the nation have been engaged to speak. The exhibit of modern construction and maintenance equipment and motor trucks, in connection with the Convention will be highly interesting and instructive to delegates and visitors.

All sessions, the exhibits and various entertainments will be open to the public without charge.

H. E. PARKER LEAVES

Mr. H. E. Parker of South Bend, Ind., who has spent three weeks in Marion superintending the big sale of D. O. Carnahan's left Sunday for Elkhart, Ind., where he is to superintend a sale of a large stock of men's clothing and furnishings.

Mr. Parker made many friends while in Marion by his attentiveness to his business as well as by his easy way of doing things. He is a gentleman of high class and the whole Press force as well as his many acquaintances regretted to see him leave.

ELECTION MAY 10

The voters of the county will be given the opportunity to express their preference of the present way of administration of the affairs of the county or by a commission form of government on May 10th.

There seems to be but little effort manifest so far and the way the situation appears to the Press is that the commission form will have a small vote and will be defeated and ought to be unless it could be shown that the commission form is superior to the present.

THE APPLE CROP

D. W. Stone reports a good one-half crop of apples on his farm near Tolu. Winesaps being the hardest hit of any of the varieties. He has Delicious, Ben Davis, York Imperial, Jonathan Roan Beauty and Winesap. All varieties have apples now, but the Jonathan York Imperial, Ben Davis and Roan Beauty have almost a full crop.

NOTICE TO DEMOCRATS

The Democratic voters of Crittenden county in the various precincts will meet the first Saturday in May at 2 p. m. at the voting places for the purpose of electing precinct committeemen. All Marion precincts will meet at the Court House. A man and woman from each precinct is to be selected, and all Democrats should bear this in mind. On Monday following, the precinct committeemen elected are to meet in Marion at the court house and organize by electing a chairman and secretary. Active party men and women should be selected as members of the committee.

J. I. CLEMENT, Chairman Democratic County Committee, Marion, Ky. April 25 1921.

Miss Melba Cannon, Martha
Mrs. Cleo Frazer, Electa
R. E. Wilborn, Sentinel.

MARION SUNDAY SCHOOLS

As everybody knows last Sunday was Go to Sunday School Day and every Sunday school in Marion planned to make it a banner day from the point of attendance. The Methodist Sunday School and the First Baptist Sunday School had each set 500 as their goal for the day. The superintendents of the two Sunday schools, H. C. Franklin and Sam Carnahan, were anxious that every member do his best on that day.

Saturday morning it was learned that the Marion High School Track Teams would be out of town Sunday morning. The young folks were anxious to be counted so the Superintendents arranged for them to have the class meeting as usual wherever they happened to be at the Sunday School hour.

The attendance of the various churches follows:

STILL IN THE RACE FOR SHERIFF

To the voters of Crittenden County: It has been reported in various parts of the county that I had withdrawn from the Sheriff's race. This is to say to my friends that the report is absolutely without foundation. I am in the race to the finish. I assure you of my appreciation of your support. My record as Sheriff of Crittenden county is open for inspection. I am willing to abide by your decision.

Remember that I am in the race to win. Signed,

JOHN T. PICKENS

ENTERTAINMENT AT SCHOOL HOUSE

"Polly Lou" a delightful two act comedy drama was given at the High School Auditorium Monday evening. A good crowd attended considering the weather.

The play was put on by students of Marion High School and was ably rendered. The star of the occasion was unanimously accorded to be Billy Eskew. The amount of the proceeds was about $75.

MARION GIRLS TRIUMPH

The C. I. A. Annual Track and Field Meet was held last Saturday. A new feature was introduced into the regular program, being a girls' track meet.

Marion sent teams of both boys and girls and several loyal followers accompanied them on the train and in cars. The girls from Marion High School carried off first honors in nearly every event. Sturgis won first place in the boys meet with a total of 48 points. The nearest competitor was Morganfield with 18½ points. The Marion boys amassed the total of 2½ points. Hicklin placed third in the mile and Swansey took third in the 220 low hurdles and tied for third honors in the pole vault.

The girls that went from Marion and carried off the C. I. A. honors were Misses Evelyn Moore, Ruby Birchfield, Irene Daughtrey, Madeline Mick, Mildred Duvall and Marie Lowry. Miss Evelyn Moore amassed the highest number of points to the individual in the meet. Marion's total points were 20½ and the nearest competitor was Morganfield with 17½ points.

On account of bad train connections, the teams had to stay overnight in Providence, where they were entertained with an old-fashioned "Buffalo Chase."

REMAINS BROUGHT TO MARION

Nancy Jane Foster, aged 74, passed away early Friday morning at the home of her son, George H. Foster, on the Asylum road. She is survived by two sons, George and Robert E. Foster.

Mrs. Foster, a native of Jackson county, Kentucky came to Phoenix a little over two years ago, after the death of her husband, Robert N. Foster, and made her home with her son, Robert, on North Second avenue until last fall when she went to California to visit a sister. While there she caught a heavy cold from which she never fully recovered, and complications set in causing her death.

The body is to be taken to Marion Ky., for interment.

The remains of Mrs. Foster arrived Saturday morning accompanied by Mr. George H. Foster. Funeral services were held in the cemetery by Rev. G. P. Dillon.

WOOD-TOWERY

Miss Mary Towery of Piney section and Mr. John Wood, of Oklahoma, were united in marriage by Rev. W. T. Oakley at the home of G. B. Johnson on East Depot Street at 3 P. M., May 3.

The bride is a teacher of this county and the groom a prosperous farmer, of Oklahoma.

They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Babb. Only a few intimate friends of the contracting parties were present. They left immediately for their home out west.

THE NEW BUILDINGS

Mr. G. E. Boston and his crew of hands are progressing well on the new brick building on Main. It will be ready for the roof this week.

The Marion Hardware and Grocery Company is having the debris removed from the lot on Salem Street and the work will soon begin on the building. Other buildings will likely be under way of construction soon.

EYE TALKS

By Susie E. Gilchrist, Oph. D.

The signs of eye-strain are: cross eyes, twitching lids, a turning in or a turning out of the lids, dancing eyes, squinting, styes or tumors; pain in eye ball or orbit; inflammation, supuration, granulation; weak watery eyes; dry itchy eyes, excessive accommodation, crow's feet at corners of eyes; vertical wrinkles between the eyes, deep set eyes, growths in eyes; also disorders peculiar to the female sex, nervousness, acute or sick head-ache; under-development in children; dullness in school, most all organic troubles, in fact one noted author says that eye-strain is the primary cause of at least eighty-five percent of the human ills.

ROBBERY NEAR MADISONVILLE

A coal company's store near Madisonville was robbed on the night of May 2 and the robbers got away with over $1300. They have not been apprehended.

CO-OPERATIVE CREAM SHIPPERS MEETING

Thursday morning April 28th at the court house the cream producers held a meeting to discuss cooperative shipping. Mr. D. Card, a market specialist from the Experiment Station was there to assist County Agent John R. Spencer in the discussion of the problem. That there is a great deal of interest in such an organization was evidenced by the large crowd present. The plans, requirements and probable benefits were clearly explained. A committee was appointed to gather further information, namely take a cow census of the interested producers and determine the amount of available cream. The committee consists of James A. Hill, George Conditt, P. P. Paris Vergil Threlkeld and County Agent John R. Spencer. They will report at the next meeting on the feasibility of organizing such an association. Everyone who is interested is urged to get in touch with some member of the committee.

MEETING OF FISCAL COURT

The Fiscal Court met Tuesday with all the members present and Judge R. L. Moore presiding. Roads and bridges consumed the whole session.

The right of way has been secured from Marion to the Caldwell county line on the Princeton and Marion road, also the right of way for the Ohio River Road from Marion to the Livingston county line. It is reliably reported that the county Road Commissioners are to appropriate $25,000 for the Marion and Princeton road and $75,000 for the Ohio River Road.

Caldwell county has appropriated a nice sum to the State road which comes from Dawson Springs to Princeton to Eddyville, Smithland and to Paducah. This will give Crittenden county an outlet south.

This is looking good to the Press. Here's hoping that the project will be made to function, and that soon.

J. N. BOSTON & SONS' SALE

J. N. Boston & Sons, dealers in lumber, building material and contractors, had a special sale during April. The sale proved most satisfactory. Mr. M. N. Boston reports that they sold one third more than their expectations. Some good values were offered and the people who were planning to build took advantage of them. They advertised in the Press and got results.

KENTUCKY REPUBLICAN

ENDORSES BOB WILBORN

We clip the following from the Kentucky Republican, one of the leading Republican weekly newspapers of the State, published at Frankfort.

"News reaches the Republican that 'Bob' Wilborn, of Marion, is a candidate for re-election as Representative from Crittenden and Livingston counties. During the last session of the Legislature Mr. Wilborn did splendid work, as his record shows, and when one makes good why exchange for an untried and unknown proposition. Here is wishing for Mr. Wilborn all the success he seeks and may his record in office always be clean and faultless as a proof-sheet without an error."

SOY BEANS AND CORN GIVES $700 GAIN ON 10 ACRES

That hogging off soy beans and corn is a profitable means of producing pork is shown in a report which Leslie Perkins Bardwell has just made to Ralph Trenny, Crop Extension specialist from the College of Agriculture. Mr. Perkins realized a profit of $700 from 10 acres of corn and soy beans by this method of feeding. The land on which the crop was produced yielded approximately 40 bushels of corn to the acre.

Mr. Perkins planted the soy beans in the same row with the corn and cultivated the two together. The hogs were weighed before being placed in the field and weighed again when they were finished for the market. Mr. Perkins kept accurate records on the experiment and believes that the practice of hogging off corn and soy beans could be profitably practiced by every farmer in Kentucky.

What to do these rainy days—repair the mower and binder and see that they are in good working order when the rush of work comes.

The Oakland School Community Club will meet May 17th with the following program:

Preparation of seed bed and planting of corn; A. M. Small, T. H. Roberts and W. E. Smith.

Supplementing the Feed of Milk cows in Pasture: C. A. Adams, Maurie Bigham and Leslie Walker.

The Joke Book: Each person must tell one joke.

DRILLING FOR OIL

The oil drilling machine arrived in Marion and was set up last week on the farm of Dr. O. C. Cook. Drilling operations have already begun. Mr. John Butts, who has charge of the machinery, is making good headway.

J. M. Caldwell, of Sturgis, who owns the drill and is an experienced oil man, thinks the prospects are very flattering. He expects to find oil in paying quantities at a depth of about 500 feet.

Several of the influential citizens of this city are interested in the development of the oil fields in Crittenden county and have formed several companies and bought up leases.

This is the first drill to be set up and more drilling is expected to begin in the near future. If oil should be found in this county in paying quantities it would mean quite a boom for Marion.

LIVE STOCK

HIGHEST PRICES FOR SWINE

Especially Advantageous to Southern Farmer to Study Use of Well-Balanced Hog Ration.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Information secured by the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture, indicates that southern hogs will command prices as high as those paid for hogs from the corn belt if they are properly fed and handled. Nearly 6,000 hogs from a single owner in Mississippi have been received at the National stock yards, Illinois, within the past few months and all were firm, finished porkers, which sold well in line with the best that came from other sections of the country. A representative of the bureau of markets made some inquiries into the manner in which these hogs were fed. He discovered that the same owner has feeding pens in Iowa as well as in Mississippi, and that he bought his young pigs and fed them a mixed grain ration in connection with corn and tankage. All the animals showed intensive feeding and weighed 250 pounds or over when they arrived at the market.

It would be especially advantageous to the southern farmer to study the use of the well-balanced grain rations and the complementary adaptation of peanuts and velvet beans, which can be grown so abundantly in that section.

Twelve carloads of hogs were received from a single Tennessee owner at the same stockyards. These animals were of a distinctly southern type, says the bureau of markets' representative.

A Good Pasture is the First Thing to Provide for the Most Profitable Production of Pork.

representative, but they were well finished on corn, and sold readily at the top of the market, despite the fact that they came from the so-called "doubtful territory." The owner received a check for $72,417, the largest ever paid to a patron of that market for a single shipment.

DOUBLE TREATMENT IS BEST

Serum May Be Satisfactory for Short Fattening Period—Immunity Is Not Permanent.

The serum treatment alone will not bring permanent immunity from hog cholera. It may be satisfactory for a short fattening period. But for the farm herd it is necessary to give the double treatment which consists of the virus and the serum. It is generally understood that a hog that has once recovered from a case of cholera is permanently immune. This immunity is the result of the formation in the body of the animal of antibodies which are antagonistic to the disease germs. For hogs that have been exposed to the disease or that may take it, it is necessary to use the virus which gives the animal the disease in a slight form. The serum which is then injected combats the disease germs and assists the body in resistance.

ISOLATE ALL SHOW ANIMALS

Stock on Exhibition at Fairs Should Be Segregated on Return to Farm to Avoid Disease.

It is an enjoyable, if not a profitable pastime, to the owner to exhibit his best animals at fairs and shows, but when they are returned to the farm, as well as others that may have been purchased, they should be segregated for a period that will insure their freedom from contagious diseases to which they may have been exposed.

VACCINATE FOR HOG CHOLERA

Double Treatment Can Successfully Be Used on Pigs When They Are Still Quite Young.

Pigs can be successfully vaccinated for hog cholera with the double treatment when from a few days to a few hours old, according to Dr. R. E. Nesbitt, president of the Illinois Veterinary Medical association. The cost is less, losses are smaller, and Dr. Nesbitt believes from his experience that immunity will last until the pigs are ready for market.

HOME TOWN HELPS

ADVICE ON PLANTING TREES

Bulletin Issued by the American Forestry Association Will Be Found, to Be of Value.

The American Forestry association, Washington, has issued a bulletin entitled, "The Tree—The Memorial That Lives," written by Charles Pack, president of the association, in which are set forth instructions as to the selection of the best kinds of trees, how to secure them, prepare them, plant and care for them, and he adds a program for the ceremony of planting. This bulletin may be had for the asking. And, says Mr. Pack:

"This matter of the planting and the care of trees can be readily promoted by anyone. There are a few fundamental principles underlying the various simple operations. But the entire affair is mostly a matter of the exercise of common sense. Fortunately, the majority of us can lay claim to a fair share of this quality. There are certain conditions which are met and known requirements of tree-planting that are satisfied. By a little attention to the features of tree-planting and care, anyone may make a success of tree-planting operations and, furthermore, may care intelligently for trees after they have been planted."

GOOD MOTTO FOR ANY TOWN

Excellent Spirit Shown in the Slogan "Get It Done," Recently Adopted by Kansas City.

The "get-it-done" campaign is producing an important by-product. It is speeding up business in Kansas City. The phrase sticks and makes an impression. Employee as well as employer is affected by it more or less unconsciously.

Little business matters are being attended to today that before were being put off till tomorrow. Loose ends around the store or office or factory that were allowed to accumulate are now being cleaned up. In a thousand places the effect of the advertising of these three words is showing itself.

If the thing keeps on, Kansas City will get a reputation not merely for getting things done for the municipality, but for putting a new sort of energy in its ordinary business affairs. "Get it done!"—Kansas City Star.

Improving Rural Housing.

The country life problem as a whole cannot make consistent headway in humanizing and socializing farm life, so long as the work elements of farming smother the farm home. That farm people get accustomed to the proximity of ever-present occupational things and processes, means only that hardening invades the precincts of the farm mind and soul as it invades the farm house. A rural housing social conscience will probably at no distant day transfigure living on the farm and give rural America an air of architectural grace and land-art beauty.—Department of Agriculture Bulletin.

Walnut Has Many Advantages.

Walnut is a good tree to plant along highways, because it grows its branches high, which lets in the sun and allows the rapid drying out of the road. It is immune to fungous diseases, and, with the exception of one or two caterpillars, insects will leave it alone.

On account of its peculiar taste horses and other animals will not nibble these trees; so, taking it all around, the walnut seems to be our best tree for replanting.

Advice for Tree Prunes.

Any branch which must be taken from a tree should be cut as close as possible to the trunk, and in the case of large branches make the cut first about two feet from the trunk, to take care of the splitting of the bark and then make the final cut. Paint all cuts with a suitable preservative. A very good one is pure white lead, raw linseed oil and lampblack, mixed stiff enough so it will not run. Do not use ready-mixed paints which contain a dryer.

Good painters like to do good work. They are as much interested as the property-owner in seeing that the paint they put on looks good and wears well. The fact means much, therefore, that many painters always use Hanna's Green Seal Paint on every house painting job. They find that produces the right results. It imparts a beautiful glossy finish; it wears well; it forms a durable film that covers the surface thoroughly without brush marks showing; and every gallon spreads out over a wide area.

In the long run Green Seal is the brand most economical to use on your property.

FARM STOCK

COLT NEGLECTED IN SPRING

No One Considers That He Should Be Gradually Changed Over From Dry Winter Ration.

Consider the colt in the springtime! Maybe he is a yearling with a half-formed equine mind full of curiosity and wonderment. Every old horse on the place is off in the fields somewhere at work in daylight. His owner neglects the colt as much as he can and have the youngster live.

The half remembered green fields and pastures of last year become green once more. The colt has vague memories of the taste of green things that mingled on his taste nerves with the flavor of mother's milk. From between the cracks in the post-and-rail fence that incloses his world he looks upon the springing grass, marvels and hungers. Part of his hunger is plain hunger, part is memory, and most of it is instinct, but it is all very real.

He is a lonely little hideful of instincts and cravings about to start his second year. He is a bewildered orphan of the farm stalls and stables, accustomed to his corn and alfalfa, and with all the troubles of horsehood a life before him. About half the time no one considers that he should be gradually changed over from the dry-winter ration to the soft green summer ration, and when the change comes it comes so quickly that there is not a day's time for that young horse's stomach to get used to it.

For long weeks the plow teams have been getting ready for the change. If they could not sense the spring in the air, in any other way they might know it from the gradually increasing amount of corn that is going in the feed boxes. They are being worked a little more and a little sturdier than they were while January's snows still covered the pastures. The colt, though, goes his neglected way until some day after the oats are in and every plow moidboard on the place is like burnished silver, then all at once some one decides it is high time that the colt was on the pasture.

On the pasture he goes. It may be just enough of a pasture to keep life within his hide, but he must get along with an occasional salting on sunny Sunday mornings. The grass may be thin and watery, tasteless compared with that good alfalfa he has been getting all winter long, but if he gets thin and hard-bellied, then that must be the colt's fault and not because he is not getting enough to eat. Is he not on a pasture and is not a pasture supposed to be the very place for colts?

Of course, it stands to reason that the change from the warm stable and the regular corn and alfalfa to the open pasture and the yellow-green, then, spring grass should be a gradual one. Still, no one is supposed to use a great deal of reason in dealing with a boy, a pup or a colt.

TO ESTABLISH SHEEP FLOCK

Farmers Should Not Hesitate to Pay Good Price for Ewes That Produce Thrifty Lambs.

In establishing a flock of sheep do not hesitate to pay a good price for ewes if they are exactly adapted, and especially for those that, when judiciously mated, are likely to produce lambs that will give the best return for the food which they consume. It is of the utmost importance to make use of rams that possess great individual merit, and strongly inherit the good points by which they are distinguished. Unless a ram has a good masculine head and stands firmly on strong legs he should not be selected, however great his merits may be in other respects. Breeding ewes should be kept in good state condition. Show condition and low condition both must be avoided.

BEST TIME TO TRAIN COLTS

Mistake Not to Halt Foals and Teach Them to Lead During Infancy—Means Less Trouble.

It is a mistake not to halt foals and teach them to lead during infancy, when it can be done with less trouble than at any other time. A few minutes two or three times a week is sufficient, as they should be by no means pulled about so as to make them perished about as there is risk of their spine, as there is then a risk of their taking cold. As well as the halter lessons the youngster should be taught to eat dry food, which he will soon do if it is held to him or if allowed to eat from the manger with his dam.

POULTRY

GREEN FEEDS ARE ESSENTIAL

Good Varieties Are Sprouted Oats, Alfalfa Meal, Clover Hay, Cabbages and Mangel Beets.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Green feeds should be supplied to hens confined in small yards, and, indeed, to all hens during the winter. Free range or large yards kept in grass furnish ideal conditions for green feed. Smaller yards should be divided into two parts, used alternately, planting the vacant section two or three times yearly with a quick-growing green crop, such as rape, oats, wheat, rye, or barley. This method furnishes green feed and helps to keep the yards sweet and clean, which is an important consideration, poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture say.

Good varieties of green feeds are sprouted oats, alfalfa meal, chopped alfalfa and clover hay, cabbages and mangel beets. In ordinary cellars cabbages do not keep as well as mangel beets, and should be used up first. Cabbages may be hung in the poultry house; the beets are usually split and stuck on a nail on the side wall of the pen about a foot above the floor. Vegetables that have been frozen can be thawed out and fed to fowls, but do not keep well after thawing. Clover and alfalfa may be fed as hay, cut into one-quarter or one-half-inch lengths, or they may be in the form of meal.

Oats for sprouting are soaked overnight in water and spread out from one to one and one-half inches thick on trays having perforated bottoms, and put into an oat sprouter. Stir the oats daily until the roots are matted together. Keep the oats moist by watering them once a day. Artificial heat should be supplied in cool weather. Use a good grade of oats and allow a square inch of sprouted-oat surface for each hen daily, feeding these sprouted oats on the floor of the poultry house or in the yard. Feed at any time after the sprouts are well started, which usually takes from five to seven days. Keep the sprouter clean and spray it occasionally with disinfectant to prevent the growth of mold spores.

Keep oyster shell and grit before the hens all the time. These substances are an inexpensive but quite necessary part of the ration. Hens will eat about two pounds of oyster shell and about one pound of grit each in a year.

WINTER CROWDING IS ERROR

Big Mistake to Put Too Many Hens and Pullets Together in One House in Cold Weather.

A good many farm poultry raisers make the mistake of housing too many hens and pullets together during cold weather. Hens will lay as well if yarded and well cared for as if on free range; but they must not be crowded when they are confined.

If the hens are being fed and forced for eggs alone, get them into winter quarters in their pens early in the fall and do not change them about after they have been located. Introducing new hens into the laying pens always causes more or less confusion, and this decreases the number of eggs laid.

GREEN FEED OF IMPORTANCE

Not Only Assists to Supply Necessary Amount of Vitamines but Also Acts as Regulator.

With hens being confined to the pens it is important that plenty of green feed should be given. Not only does it help to give the required amount of vitamins but it also is beneficial as a regulator. The nearer one makes the hens feel that they still have spring conditions, the better egg production can be expected. Cabbage, mangel, chopped and steamed alfalfa, and such like make fine food for fowls.

All Run Down Now Feels Fine

Eaton's Ended His Troubles

"Eaton's is the only thing I have found to stop my heartburn and I think it has been a great help in nervous spells," writes G. C. Johnson. An upset stomach may cause lots of suffering all over the body. Eaton's helps in such cases by removing the cause of the misery, because it takes up and carries out the excess acid and gases and keeps the digestive organs in natural working order. A tablet after meals is all you need. Big box costs only a trifle with druggist's guarantee.

AN IMPROVEMENT

The ladies are asking that the public hitching be changed from the public square. Their plan is to remove the posts and chains to the "jockey" lot or elsewhere and put concrete pavement around the square, put seats and ornaments on the square and so beautify it and make it a park where people coming to Marion may have a place for recreation while in the city.

By so doing it will remove the unsightly view from the center of the city. If for nothing else it ought to be done for the cleanliness of it to prevent disease.

The Press is heartily in favor of this. A lot of lots can be prepared to keep the horses safe and comfortable while here. This arrangement will make man and beast more comfortable while in the city.

What if it does cost something. It is worth the investment. The town kickers will oppose it but that will only intensify the zeal of the ladies.

Marion will soon have a lovely rest park.

STRONG SEED IS REQUISITE

That of Alfalfa, When Properly Matured, Has Clear, Light Golden Color, With Green Cast.

Good seed is the first requisite in getting a stand of any crop. Alfalfa seed should not only be of good quality and strong in vitality, but it should be clean and free from foul weed seeds. Properly matured seed of alfalfa has a clear, light golden color, with a faint greenish cast. Immature seeds are greener and seed which has been bleached or heated becomes discolored. Brown or blackened seeds are likely to be dead or low in vitality. Greenish colored seed, if not too shrunken, may germinate well. Prefer plump, heavy seed; badly shrunken seed, even though it may sprout, will produce weak plants.

INTRODUCTION OF MILO CROP

First Grown in This Country About 1882 and Was Not Uniform in Height or Maturity.

Milo was grown first in this country about 1882. It was not uniform in maturity and in height, most of the plants being tall. Standard milo is a direct descendant of the original type, reduced by systematic selection to a uniform height of from 5 to 6 feet under dry land conditions.

The SANDMAN STORY

STOLEN FRUIT

IN THE next yard to where Mrs. Pig lived with her five piggle children was an orchard and on the ground the five piggles could see when they peeked through the cracks in the fence heaps of apples, and though their mother told them they were green and not fit food for even a pig the piggles looked at them with longing eyes.

Billy Pig was smarter than his brothers, and so more often got into trouble, for his brothers were content to eat warm porridge for their dinner and then go to sleep with their mother, but Billy Pig was not.

He always slept with one eye open.

and as soon as his mother and brothers were sound asleep he would open the other eye and jump up.

Then around he would look for something to do which he couldn't when his mother was awake.

He had often looked through the cracks in the fence at the apples in the next yard; but one day, to his surprise, he found he could squeeze himself part-way through, far enough to reach the fruit.

It did not taste quite so nice as he had expected it would, but all piggles think stolen fruit sweet, and after he had eaten one or two he began to like the green apples.

There were plenty within his reach, and he ate and ate, never thinking of stopping until his mother, awakening from her nap, saw his hind legs, and jumped up with a grunt.

Then Billy Pig tried to jump, too, but to his surprise, though he wiggled and squirmed, he could not move.

He had eaten so many apples he could not get back through the hole, and though his mother poked and pulled, he was held fast.

Such squealing and grunting never was heard. The brother piggles did the squealing, though none of these could out-squeal Billy Pig, and Mrs. Pig grunted until the farmer came running to see what had happened.

He tried to pull Billy Pig out by the hind feet, but it was no use, and he had to call the hired man to help before the boards could be pried apart and Billy Pig set free.

Such a scolding as his mother gave him he had never had before, and he was glad to creep into his bed without his supper, but he did not sleep, for green apples are not good for even pigs to eat, just as his mother told him, and Billy Pig had such a pain and cramp that he never again wanted to eat green apples.

AVOIDING CATARRH

A WOMAN wrote to me recently and said she had suffered from catarrh for many years and was getting gradually deaf. She wanted some remedy, and asked if catarrh was curable. I gave her all the advice I could, but such cases of course, become too serious to be handled by one whose specialty is general health and looks, and I told her to go to a physician.

For catarrh is curable, and anyone who suffers from the least trace of this annoying affliction should start at once to cure themselves. If possible, they should go to a high or dry climate and live where fir and pine trees grow thick, since nothing is more effective than breathing the pine-scented air every day. If for any reason this is impossible, they should plant their yards full of pine trees, and put up window boxes filled with dwarf pines and firs, so the air coming through the windows bears the healing scent. For city dwellers this is especially good.

The nose and throat should be sprayed twice daily with some antiseptic solution, preferably one given by a doctor who understands the case. Anything with pine in it is sure to be effective. This treatment will cure any mild case of catarrh, advanced cases need a different form of treatment. Though living among the pines will cure anyone, they say.

The principle is to keep the throat and nose clean, to kill the poisonous formations, and so, to build up a stronger throat.

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

TO "RAISE" CHILDREN.

GRAMMARIANS generally are agreed that it is not correct to apply the term "raise" to the rearing or education or bringing up of children. The verb "raise" is applied with propriety only to crops or cattle, never to human beings. "She raised a family of eight children," says a charity report; it should have said, "She reared" or "she brought up." The Standard dictionary ridicules the expression, attributed to a Southern county, "She raised thirteen head of children."

The term "brought up" is the more modern of the two; the term "reared" is older. The misuse of the term "raised" is a colloquialism that is common in some of the Southern and Western states.

Some authorities criticize the use of the verb "grow" in connection with crops, asserting that we should not say, "We grow wheat on our farm," but should say, "We raise wheat."

Harvest Moon.

St. John Frederick William Herschel, the great English physicist and astronomer, said that the full moon which happens on or nearest to the 21st of September is called the harvest moon. At or about the time of harvest in the north temperate zone, the sun in its usual course is approaching the celestial equator, which it crosses from north to south on September 22. On that date it sets close to the western point of the horizon. If it happens to be then also full moon, the moon rises that evening as the sun sets, and it at its rising opposite the sun, or close to the exact eastern point of the horizon. Thus it begins to give light at sunset and continues to do so until sunrise, when it sets opposite the sun, just as the latter rises. This arrangement holds good without any great change for several days, so that there is practically no darkness especially if the weather is fine. The full moon which thus illuminates the autumn nights is called the harvest moon.

Esparto.

Esparto grows throughout extensive districts in the south of Spain, and a poorer quality is found on large areas of poor and sandy lands in Algiers and Tunis. Esparto fiber has been used for centuries in Spain, and the manufacture of matting, baskets and cordage exclusively of esparto dates from the time of the Moorish occupation.

Gigantic New Zealand Trees.

The sizes reported in some New Zealand trees are astonishing. Each of two kauri trees from the vicinity of the Waitomo forest is stated to have yielded 255,788 feet of sawable timber, which is about twice the product of the largest known trees of California, and equivalent to the entire production of nearly three acres of good European forest.

Health and Wealth.

"Doctor Fillers seems to be a fashionable physician."

"I should say so! He has patients at some of the most expensive health resorts in America and a waiting list of people whose health will give way as soon as they get money enough to consult him."

Preferred Creditors.

"Want to be a musician, do you? Then I advise you to take up either the bagpipe or the violin."

"Why so, father?"

"Because, when there's any paying to be done, I notice it's the piper and the fiddler who are preferred creditors."

After the Circus.

She—I bought it with the money you gave me for my hat, and had the hat put down to your account.

Overcome.

"What's the trouble here?"
"A citizen fell foaming at the mouth in front of a new garage with a capacity of 400 cars."
"Strange."
"Not at all. He's been trying to find a house to live in."

Teamwork.

"Was English society really shocked by Lady Quickhash's book?"
"I don't think so," replied Miss Cayenne. "My impression is that her friends professed great indignation in order to help along the publicity."

Aristocracy of the Cuisine.

"What is your cook's first name?"
"I don't know," replied Miss Cross-bra. "Anyway, it doesn't make any difference. We wouldn't think of being so familiar as to call her by her first name."

Suspicion Itself.

"Jones is a suspicious chap."
"Suspicious! He reminds me of a farmer I used to know. Whenever he found a herd of sheep he examined the wool of each sheep closely to make sure it had no cotton in it."

Parted Friends.

"So the Hotswaths are divorced?"
"Yes."
"What were the terms of settlement?"
"She gets $10,000 a year and he gets the liquor."

Right in Her Line.

"The people in the flat above us are constantly fighting."
"Must be unpleasant for your wife."
"No, she likes to have a fuss made over her."

LAND VALUATION CAN BE DOUBLED

Improper Utilization of Soil in High-Grade Agricultural District Is Related.

STREAM WASTES MANY ACRES

Farmer Can Redeem Much Valuable Soil By Regrouping Different Buildings Without Sacrificing Convenience.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Standard, on the next farm, has offered me 5 acres of land next to the line fence for $200 an acre. I need more land, and I've half a notion to take the offer."

The Sunday quiet and the warm spring sunshine had lured the farmer and his visitor to a perch on the top rail of the cow-lane fence, where they fell into discussion of United States Department of Agriculture reports. The visitor thought for a moment while his eyes roved across the flat farm land before them.

"Why pay $200 an acre?" he inquired finally. "Why not buy the few acres you need from a man who can sell it to you for half as much?"

Land Gets Full Price.

"One hundred dollars an acre for farm land in this country? I guess not! Pete, you don't know farm values out here. Back in your New England hills you may find land as cheap as that, but you can't buy a rod of tillable land in this section without paying the full price for it."

He laughed as he said: "If you can find 5 acres for sale in this township at the price you mention, I'll buy it—provided it is within 3 miles of my home."

"Closer than that," said the New Englander cheerfully. "In fact, you're standing on a part of it right now—sitting on it, I mean."

"But this is mine already!"

"Of course," retorted the other. "It's your cow lane and you're the man. You can sell yourself a few acres of first-class farm land at $100 an acre—less for some of it, perhaps. I bought a few acres from myself last spring, after I had learned how simple the transaction was."

The farm owner laid a firm hand on his friend's broad shoulder. "Quit talking riddles," he warned, "and come out with the story or I'll tip you off into the nettles!"

"You can get all the land you need by making your wasted land productive. You own the wasted land, and you can buy it from yourself at the price of making it tillable; that's what I mean."

"But the waste land on this farm can't be made productive. There's only an acre or so in that stony hillcock over there—and I'm even getting cash returns from that by planting cherry trees among the stones!"

"I didn't say 'waste land'; I said 'wasted land,'" the other reminded him. "Waste land is land made unprofitable by nature; wasted land is productive land that man himself has failed to make use of. That's the difference.

"The size of your farm business has more to do with your income than any other feature. While you've been planting cherry trees among the rocks on a stony acre you've been using this long lane for no other purpose than as a path for cattle to pasture. You could use the public road almost as conveniently. This lane is right in the heart of your corn land, too. It must be 500 yards long and it's a rod wide at least. There's about three-quarters of an acre of prime soil right there for the price of taking out one of these fences."

"And the road borders your farm for the whole length of your field. I don't know what the highway laws in this state are, but certainly they don't require all the land that lies between your fence and the road. Find out how much the highway encroaches on your land and move your fence up. There's another fat acre there."

"Then there's that Osage orange hedge fence your father planted along the line running west from the house. That hedge row robs you of more land per rod than any other fence on the farm. It not only encroaches on every 200 rods but renders worthless for cropping a strip 20 feet wide on each side of it. It will be money in your pocket to take the tractor out some time when work is slack and snake that old hedge out by the roots. You can put this rail fence there. Or you can put a wire fence there and use these rails to stake-and-ride some of your other rail fences.

"Look to your brooks and ditches. A brook that wanders at will through good farm land will put much of it beyond the reach of the plow—a ditch will set it straight."

Scattered Over Rich Soil.

"Many farmsteads have their buildings scattered widely over rich land. The farmer can buy back a lot of valuable soil by regrouping the clusters more economically without sacrificing either beauty or convenience. Where farm land increases in price, as it has in this section, it pays the farmer to go over his place with an eye open for wasted territory. It won't always be profitable to reclaim all that he sees. He can't, for instance, move a barn to gain a rod or two of land, but he'll be sure to see much that can be done. Every foot brought under profitable cultivation increases the farm business and the farm profit."

Plan of a Farm Plan of Same Farm Showing Wasted After Elimination Land in a Lane. of the Lane.

"I never realized that the matter was so important," mused the farm owner.

"Neither did I," was the reply, "until the Department of Agriculture wiped the economic dust off my business spectacles!"

FEEDING FARM FLOCK RIGHT KIND OF FOOD

Important If Hens Are to Give Profitable Results.

Aim Should Be to Use Grains That Are Grown on Farm—Mistake Not to Supply Animal Food of Some Description.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Feeding the farm flock the right kind of food is important if it is to be a paying proposition. If hens do not get sufficient or proper feed they can not be expected to give satisfactory and profitable results. A complicated ration is not necessary. The aim in feeding the hens should be to use, so far as possible, the grains that are grown on the farm or that are available in the immediate neighborhood. One of the most successful methods of feeding is to give a light feed of grain or a mixture of grains in the morning and a feed of the same material at night, the night feed consisting of about as much as the hens will clean up.

In addition a dry mash should be provided where the hens can have access to it continuously. When considerable quantities of waste food are available for the hens to pick up from the fields, the amount of grain fed may be cut down. Oftentimes judgment in this respect is faulty, and but for the dry mash there would be danger that the hens would not receive enough feed. With the dry mash at their disposal they are able to make up any deficiency of feed due to faulty judgment as to the quantity they get in the fields.

One of the most common mistakes made in feeding farm poultry is failure to provide animal food in some form. Of course during the spring and summer, when quantities of insects are available, they may supply the hens' wants in this regard, but during those parts of the year when insects are not available, or are scarce, it becomes necessary to provide animal food. Milk, usually fed either as skim milk or buttermilk, provides an excellent source of animal food, but when milk is not available the hens should have beef scrap or meat scrap. While this product is high in price, it is economical, and should be included in the hens' ration because of the increased production that will result.

During the winter it is necessary to provide some form of green or succulent feed, such as mangels, cabbage, clover, alfalfa or sprouted oats.

SHELTER SAVES IMPLEMENTS

Farmer Would Be Surprised to See How Much Trouble Could Be Avoided by Keeping Off Rain.

"Shelter will double the life of farm machinery," says O. R. Zeasman of the agricultural engineering department of the University of Wisconsin. "If farmers would only keep the rain and rust away from their implements, they would be surprised to see how much trouble would be saved."

"Rust can cause many troubles. For example, an adjustment may become so badly rusted that it cannot be used. It is often damaged or broken in loosening."

Illinois Central System Sounds a Warning of Impending Coal Shortage

It is earnestly to be hoped that coal dealers and consumers have not forgotten the lessons taught by coal shortages of recent years, particularly the one of 1920. These shortages were produced largely by dealers and consumers themselves in not beginning to buy and store coal in adequate volume until late in the year. It is clear that unless coal dealers and consumers profit by the lessons of the past and begin at once to lay in necessary fall and winter supplies another coal shortage will be brought about.

As a result of the shortage of coal in 1920, the Interstate Commerce Commission was forced to require the railways to furnish open top cars preferentially for the handling of coal from June 19 to November 29 in order to prevent suffering in various parts of the country. Open top cars are also used for carrying building and highway construction materials and one of the effects of diverting open top cars to the coal traffic last year was the postponement of construction work that was vitally needed. It would be most unfortunate if this action, which was highly necessary last year, should be made necessary again this year. The housing and other construction which depend largely upon the use of open top cars are too imperative to be delayed by a congestion of coal traffic that can be avoided by the immediate movement of coal on a large scale.

The coal-carrying equipment of the railways is sufficient to handle a large evenly-balanced coal tonnage, but it is inadequate to handle the coal movement when the bulk of it is thrown upon the railways in a comparative short period after midsummer.

For the last five years the total annual output of bituminous coal in the United States, in tons, was as follows:

1916	502,519,682
1917	551,790,563
1918	579,385,820
1919	458,063,160
1920	556,563,000

The strike of the coal miners which lasted from November 1 to December 15, 1919, had a paralyzing effect on the coal output for that year, and the strike of railway switchmen, which was in effect from April 3 to August 1, 1920, likewise affected the coal output for 1920.

During the first six months of 1920, the output of bituminous coal was 261,760,750 tons or at the rate of 43,626,791 tons a month. During the first three months of 1921 the average monthly output was only about 32,750,000, and it is estimated that the April output did not exceed 26,000,000 tons. If the April figures should not be exceeded in May and June the coal movement for the first six months of 1921 would amount to approximately 176,000,000 tons a decrease of more than 85,000,000 tons as compared with actual output for the first six months of 1920.

This would mean that the mines would have to produce, and the railways would have to move more than 380,000,000 tons during the latter half of the year equal to the record of coal production for the year 1920 when there was a shortage.

To accomplish that would not only overtax the coal-carrying capacity of the railways, but would overtax the mines, probably resulting in higher prices of coal. Coal can be purchased and moved more cheaply during spring and early summer than later. Delay in purchasing and storing coal at points of consumption makes for higher prices during the time of heavy movement. There is now practically no surplus of bituminous coal above ground anywhere in the United States.

Coal mine operators are now in a position to produce, and the railways are in a position to move a large volume of coal. If the dealers and consumers fail to take advantage of the present opportunity to lay in fall and winter supplies, and another coal shortage eventuates, the public in fairness certainly will not attach blame to the coal operators and the railways. More than 255,000 open top cars are now standing idle on the side-tracks of the railways. Nearly one-half of the open top equipment of the Illinois Central System is idle.

The situation, as we visualize it, is that the country is headed for a serious coal shortage unless consumers immediately start moving coal in large volumes. We are emerging from the business depression. Within a few months the railways may be taxed to their capacity in handling traffic other than coal.

The Illinois Central System, as one of the largest coal-carrying roads in the Middle West, considers it a duty to sound this warning.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

Makes Your Home More Homelike

It isn't the finest furniture that makes the home the most homelike, but the way the furniture, woodwork, floors are kept, that attracts the admiration of your friends. It will surprise and delight you beyond expression how even a can or two of will help you keep up the beauty and freshness of your home. So easy to use. Spreads smoothly so that paint experience is not necessary. Dries with a hard wear-resisting service. See us for Spot-Lac.

GOING IT TOO HARD?

Overwork, worry, overeating and lack of exercise and sleep are responsible for much kidney trouble. If your back aches and the kidneys seem weak, rest up and use Doan's Kidney Pills.

C. M. Dillard, miner, Rochester St., Marion, says: "I have had very good results from Doan's Kidney Pills whenever I have been troubled with my kidneys. I have done a great deal of hard work and believe this and exposure caused my kidneys to become weak and act irregularly. At these times my back bothers me dreadfully and if I take cold it causes severe pains just over my kidneys. I am in misery until I get rid of the trouble by taking Doan's Kidney Pills at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store and it only takes a few to straighten me up and relieve the backache. Doan's are sure a good kidney remedy and I am glad to recommend them."
