Dark Tobacco Growers Marketing Association

EDDYVILLE, Ky., March 27.—Mr. L. E. Foster, Secretary Hopkinsville Chamber of Commerce, addressed a large audience of tobacco growers and business men here today, giving in detail an explanation of the plan of organizing the dark tobacco growers into a Co-operative Selling Association.

Mr. Foster showed the fallacies of the present marketing system and explained that so long as grower competed against grower and tobacco competed against tobacco, a circumstance which always results when farmers dump their crops instead of merchandising them, nothing but demoralized markets and depressed prices could be expected.

He explained further that the auction method did not permit the expert grading of tobacco, that under the present system, the farmer can not create new markets, that he has no control over market supply. That in short, he has nothing to say regarding the prices placed upon his crops.

What we need, said Mr. Foster, is a plan of pure co-operation under which the farmers will sell their tobacco collectively and thus maintain a decent price from year to year.

That is the only method, according to Mr. Foster, which will permit a stabilized market and a prosperous agriculture.

Mr. Foster predicted that the success of the movement would be assured and that the dark tobacco growers of Western Kentucky and Tennessee would, within a short time, enjoy the same prosperity as was enjoyed by the co-operative farmers of California where four farmers out of five made money every year.

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of Attach Order of sale directed to me, which issued from the Clerk, office of the Crittenden Circuit Court, in favor of T. H. Cochran & Co. against LaGrange Mining Company for the sum of $341.90 and cost of this action, I or one of Deputies, will, on Saturday the 15th day of April 1922, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 2 o'clock P. M. at above named mines in Crittenden county, Ky., near Eumaus church, expose to PUBLIC SALE to the highest bidder, the following property (or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy Plaintiff's debt, interest and costs) to-wit:

Two big washers and fixtures, about 2500 ft 2-in. pipe, one lot 1-in pipe, two lots of 1 1/2 inch pipe, two 6-H. P. Engines, one Typhoon pump, one deep well pump, one Cameron pump, levied upon as the property of LaGrange Mining Co.

TERMS: Sale will be made on a credit of three months, bond with approved security required of the purchaser, with interest from date at the rate of six per cent per annum, and having the force and effect of a judgment.

Witness my hand, this 27 day of March 1922.

MRS. HENRY CHANDLER FLU VICTIM

Mrs. Henry Chandler, 46 years old, died Thursday, March 23, at her home in the Tribune section, of flu followed by pneumonia. Mrs. Chandler was a daughter of the late Eph Hill and a sister of George Hill. She is survived by her husband and four children.

Funeral services were held Friday at Sugar Grove church led by Rev. W. T. Oakley. Burial at Sugar Grove cemetery.

Mr. George Orme, of Palms, Cal., is visiting the family of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Orme. Mrs. Orme will join him the last of the week.

Circuit Court

The March term of the Crittenden Circuit Court re-convened Wednesday morning after nine days adjournment on account of the influenza epidemic. Judge Ruby Laffoon convened the court at 8:45 o'clock. Commonwealth Attorney T. C. Bennett was present to look after the interest of the Commonwealth.

One of the grand jurors being absent on account of illness, Eb Sullenger was sworn in to fill the vacancy in the panel and was appointed by the court as foreman of the jury. Calvin Corley was excused by the court from serving on the grand jury on account of illness and T. J. Slemaker was made a juror in his place.

The court room was crowded to its capacity while Judge Laffoon gave his instructions to the grand jury. He called attention to their duties as grand jurors and of the high position they occupy in the plan of justice and law enforcement. He explained the various law violations, from murder to breach of the peace and named the penalty of each.

The Judge called special attention to the offense of carrying concealed deadly weapons and the violations of the prohibition laws. The enforcement of the latter, he said, depended mainly upon the citizens of the county, whose duty it was to report all cases that came to their knowledge, regardless of where the parties might be. He also called attention to the dog law, which he told the jury, should be enforced whether as individuals they considered the law a good law or not.

MRS. GUY GRIFFITH DIES

Mrs. Guy Griffith, 33 years old, died Friday, March 24 at her home on Shady Grove road, after a few days illness of flu, followed by pneumonia. Mrs. Griffith before her marriage was Miss Nellie Donakey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donakey of this county. She is survived by her husband and eight children.

Funeral services were held Saturday at Siloam Methodist church, conducted by Revs. G. P. Dillon and W. F. Hogard. Burial services were held at the Love cemetery where the remains were laid to rest. She leaves a large circle of relatives and friends who regret her early taking away.

G. B. CRAWFORD PASSES AWAY

Green Berry Crawford, one of Crittenden county's well known and respected citizens, died at his home on South Main Street Monday night of heart trouble. He had been in feeble health for several months and his passing away was not unexpected by his friends.

Mr. Crawford, who was 74 years old, was the son of the late William Crawford and was born and reared in this county. His honesty, integrity and genial manners won for him a large circle of friends who will regret his taking away. His wife, who before her marriage, was Miss Fannie Croft, daughter of the late T. S. Croft, survives him. He is also survived by a daughter, Miss Clara Crawford, of this city, and two grandchildren, Clifton and Wilma Crawford, children of the late W. T. Crawford.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at the Main Street Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. James F. Price and Rev. O. M. Caphaw. The burial services at Mapleview cemetery, where the remains were laid to rest, were under the direction of the Masonic lodge, of which fraternity Mr. Crawford had for many years been a member.

Mrs. Mattie Acox and little son, Ernest, of Kansas City, Mo., who have been visiting the family of their father and grandfather, R. B. Gregory, left for home Wednesday.

Rev. T. C. Carter and Mrs. Carter were visitors in Sturgis Wednesday.

BIG THING FOR POULTRY RAISERS

If the farmers and other poultry raisers will co-operate and avail themselves of the opportunity offered them by the Crittenden County Farm Bureau it will be money in their pockets that otherwise would never get there.

The Farm Bureau will on Friday and Saturday, March 31, and April 1, will load a 17,000 pound poultry car bound for the New York market. The car will be on the I. C. railroad near Marion depot. The County Agent will be there, as will also Mr. A. W. Wanning. They will pay on delivery at the car 22 1/2 cents a pound for hens and 10 cents a pound for roosters. This offer not confined to members of the Farm Bureau. All poultry raisers may take advantage of this opportunity to sell their fowls considerably above market price.

THE METHODIST REVIVAL

The revival being held at the Methodist church here continues with increased interest and attendance. The auditorium is filled each evening and large crowds are attending the afternoon service. The people of all denominations are co-operating.

There has been over 40 conversions to date and several added to the church. Rev. Caphaw is preaching soul stirring sermons that are reaching the hearts of both saint and sinner. The singing under the leadership of Prof. Franklin is very much enjoyed by the large number attending the services.

Many persons who have attended the services say this is one of the best revivals ever held here. A service for men only was held Sunday afternoon and was attended by a large crowd.

The evangelist and singer have won their way into the hearts of the people here and the results of their efforts are being felt in the homes of all the people of the city.—Seebree Banner.

The meeting closed Thursday of last week and Bros. Caphaw and Franklin returned home Friday.

OBITUARY

Green Berry Crawford was born on the old Crawford homestead in Livingston county December 18, 1847 and began there the building of a life which established for him a heritage of love and appreciation of his acquaintance of which God's people speak with fond recollection, he died March 20, 1922.

As a mere boy he professed faith in Christ, was baptized, and for years worshipped at Old Hopewell Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Livingston county. On April 4, 1870, he was married to Fannie M. Croft, daughter of Thos. S. and Almira Croft, one of the oldest and most highly appreciated families of Kentucky. The early part of this married life was spent in Elizabethtown, Ill., thereafter moving to Tolu, in this county where the greater portion of their lives were spent and where Mr. Crawford for the past forty years has been regarded as one of the county's most substantial and foremost farmers.

To the deceased and his good wife who survives him was born three children, William and Blanche who though dead are yet loved and remembered by the people of this county and Clara, the sole surviving child who has been spared to comfort her aged mother in this hour of bereavement.

To the passing of a land mark like Uncle Green Berry, as we are wont to remember him, we are strongly reminded of God's plan of life and the universe and to the living such a life should and will be a forceful guide toward a life well spent and a death fearlessly approached.

Could we turn back the hands of time in the history of Crittenden county for the past forty years and cast about for men of the real type who stand four-square for the uplift of the community, the fulfillment of the law of God and man, a powerful strength would be found at its post of duty in the person of Green Berry Crawford, whose body has ceased to function but whose life while living shall remain a heritage of fond recollection to his family and friends and all who knew him.

A Friend

The Public schools of Kentucky will now have a term of seven months instead of six months as heretofore. This was brought about by the passage of a bill to that effect by the General Assembly at Frankfort.

IMPORTANT SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

Mrs. Geo. A. Joplin wants to hold a meeting in which she will meet with Sunday school workers from all over Crittenden county. The meeting will be held in the Methodist church at Marion the afternoon of the first Sunday in April at 2 o'clock. She wants representatives from every Sunday school in the county. If your school has lapsed thru the winter be sure for some one to come anyway. She wants to plan for Go-to-Sunday-School-Day, for children's week and for the work thru the coming year.

SOIL EXPERT HERE

Mr. R. E. Stephenson, soil expert of the University of Kentucky, was here the first three days of this week, conferring with County Agent John R. Spencer in regard to soil improvement. Three meetings were held in different localities of the county and a number of special tests were made to ascertain the amount of acidity of our soil. It was not learned what the result of those tests was but it is generally conceded that the average Crittenden county farm is in need of soil improvement and it will be a long step in the right direction if these experts can determine by tests just what kinds of fertilizers our soil needs.

ISAAC HUNT PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Isaac Hunt, 46 years old, died at his home in the Pleasant Hill section Sunday of flu and pneumonia. His wife, who before her marriage was Miss Maggie Long, survives him. Funeral services were held Tuesday at Pleasant Hill church, conducted by the pastor of the church, Rev. John B. Paris.

Mr. Hunt is also survived by seven children: Mrs. O. Paris, Mrs. Ruby Moore, James, Lavina, Ruth, Naomi, Linnie, Carl, Elbert, Amos and Dorothy Hunt.

CITY ORDINANCE

The City Council of the City of Marion, Ky., do ordain as follows:

That it shall be unlawful for any person to let run on any of the streets or alleys of the city of Marion or any premises or property than that owned or controlled by them, any chicken, turkey, duck, goose, guinea or any other fowl, of whatsoever kind belonging to or controlled by them. And any person violating this ordinance shall be fined in any sum not less than $1.00 or more than $5.00 for each violation thereof.

Passed and approved Aug. 13, 1912 After March 19th, 1922 this above ordinance will be enforced according to law.

BUFFALO BILL WANTED TO ADOPT TOM MIX

Do you know that "Buffalo Bill" once wanted to adopt Tom Mix, the celebrated William Fox cowboy star? It's so. Tom told the story himself one hour while he was making "The Night Horsemen," his latest William Fox production, which will be shown Saturday at the Rex Theatre.

Mr. G. E. Boston went to Sturgis Wednesday on business.

Court House News

On Friday of last week Lem Hughes and R. N. Pulley, both of the Franklin Mine section, engaged in an affray wherein, it is alleged, Pulley sliced Hughes with a razor, inflicting a serious wound. Hughes was brought to town and his wound dressed, it requiring nine stitches to close up the gash. Pulley was arrested and brought before County Judge E. Jeffrey Travis for trial but he waived an examination and was held under a $200 bond to answer any charge the Grand Jury might find.

IMPLEMENT DAY

Ten years ago the firm of T. H. Cochran and Co. had their first Implement Day. From that time on the day has been continued until now and practically every man, woman and child in Crittenden county and many in adjoining counties know that "Implement Day" is one of the biggest days if not the biggest day which Marion has during the year. The Crittenden Press has always favored anything which will in a legitimate way bring crowds of people to Marion because we believe that anything that draws town and country closer together helps and serves both.

Weeks ago Cochran and Co. began getting the advertising ready to encourage folks to spend April 10th in Marion. If the day is fair, and heres hoping that it may be, the folks will come. Meet your friends in Marion on April 10th.

Most of the merchants in Marion have made some special efforts to have a crowd in town on that day. Read their ads in this and next week's issue—and the following issues—of the paper. We are glad to recommend to you as deserving of your patronage merchants who advertise in the Press. And now speaking of advertising, we wonder why all the merchants of Marion, because all of them more or less derive benefits from such days as Implement Day will be, do not line up and get together and boost for more such days.

BUYS FINE PIG

Postlethweight Bros. received on Tuesday a fine Duroc Jersey male pig which they purchased from the experiment station at Bowling Green. The pig is less than six months old and weighs more than 200 pounds. The pig was sired by Woodward Sensation which sold for $15,000 and was purchased by McKee Bros., of Versailles, Ky.

BEARD MINES

Mr. Norman Hoover's folks are all recovering from an attack of the flu.

Jack Alvis has moved to the Beard Mines section.

Leemon Gass purchased a fine mare recently.

Miss Velda Paris spent last Saturday and Sunday with Ellen and Lena Gass.

Dennie Clark and wife visited in this section Sunday.

Bob Horning and family visited at the home of his parents last Sunday.

Attorney Neville Moore is in Dix on this week on legal business.

Farm Bureau Notes

Soil Work

The first part of this week Dr. R. E. Stephenson, soil expert, from the Experiment Station, spent in soil work in Crittenden county. Several meetings were held in various parts of the county and well over 40 different soils were tested for sourness or acidity. The majority of those that were lime did not test acid or sour while 75 percent of those that never had any limestone tested or were sour. Sour soils are also indicated by blackberries, golden rod, moss, sheep sorrel and the absence of clovers. Dr. Stephenson estimated that a majority of the county's soils were acid and would be greatly helped by an application of limestone. He recommends that the farmers begin by liming only an acre or two at the start and adding to it as the benefit was evident and the farmers finances afforded.

Shade Trees

The State department of agriculture has under its supervision two State Forest Nurseries in which there are a number of seedling trees for distribution for roadside, school grounds, parks and lawn planting. The department is anxious for organizations and individuals to know that these trees may be secured for a small sum. They have the following trees for distribution: white ash, catalpa, wild cherry, red elm, black locust, red maple, silver maple, pin oak, red bud and sycamore. These trees may be secured in lots of not less than ten trees at the nominal amount of 5c each for trees up to six feet and 10c each for trees 7 to 10 feet in height for expense of packing and drayage, F. O. B. Louisville or Frankfort. Address State Department of Agriculture at Frankfort. State Dept. of Agriculture, State Fair Grounds, Louisville.

Make a Good Seed Bed

No matter what you are going to plant or when or where, it will not pay to plant it on poorly prepared land. All farmers agree with this in theory but in practice a lot of them forget it. For many farmers habitually and most farmers occasionally plant their crops on land that has not been properly prepared for the planting.

Now this years planting season is close at hand. It is likely to be a year of close margins. The farmer needs to produce his crops at a low cost per unit. The cheapest cultivation that can be given any crop is that given before it is planted. The most economical of all cultivators is a good harrow properly used. Make a good seed bed this spring for each and every crop you plant. Happy is the seed that falls in a good seed bed; wise is the farmer who makes such a seed bed for all his crops.

Fat and Feeding Cattle Show

The Burbon Cattle Yards at Louisville will hold their first annual Fat and Feeding Cattle Show and sale November 23 and 24th 1922. There will be over $5000 in prizes offered. It is said to be the largest amount of money ever given in an event of this kind, sixteen rings, fifty awards, no entrance fee. Complete list of awards in pamphlet form at the County Agent's office.

Rape Pasture for Growing Pigs

By reason of the food which it contains rape has come to be recognized as one of the best pasture crops with which to balance a corn alone ration for growing pigs.

When the crop is to be grown alone for hog pasture five to eight pounds of seed sowed into each acre will give a good stand altho the heavier rate of seeding is preferable since the seed is cheap. It may be used with oats, 3 to 5 pounds of rape and 1 1/2 bushels of oats an acre being a good rate of seeding in this case. When used with oats and clover, about three pounds of rape, one bushel of oats and eight pounds of clover seed an acre will be found satisfactory.

Bring in your chickens for the Farm Bureau car load on Friday and Saturday. Hens 22 1/2 cents and roosters 10c.

Tides Dispose of Sewage.
In Boston and many other coast cities the tides are utilized in the disposal of sewage, part of which is held in reservoirs until strong outgoing tidal currents have developed. Before the turn of the tide the sewage has been carried so far that it has become mixed with an immense body of ocean water and is rendered harmless.

The waves of wireless stations are unceasingly passing through our houses and our bodies and we neither see, hear nor feel them. FARM LIVE STOCK

MANY DISEASES ARE COSTLY

Three-Fourths of Ailments Which Often Ruin Valuable Herd Can Be Prevented.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Every year the people of the United States lose over $200,000,000 directly (and no one knows how much indirectly) through the diseases of farm animals. There are five principal causes of disease and death of animals—contagious diseases, sporadic diseases, parasitic troubles, accidents, and neglect. Contagious diseases can be avoided, or at least their consequences greatly diminished, if farmers will learn to co-operate with the United States Department of Agriculture and the various state live stock and sanitary authorities, who are striving to maintain animal health. Farmers should report promptly to the nearest official any suspicion of the presence of contagious diseases, and they should observe carefully all regulations in regard to quarantine sanitation, and

Some of the Toll of the Outbreak of the Foot and Mouth Disease.

Care of animals, as protection against contagion.

Parasitic diseases also carry off large numbers of valuable animals every year. They are largely the result of improper housing and neglect. The average farmer cannot be expected to have the time and aptitude for study which will keep him abreast with the latest developments in feeds and feeding, animal nutrition and medicine, hygiene, and other important matters related to the stock raising industry. He can, however, avail himself of the benefit of the studies and demonstrations of specialists who have devoted their entire time to these subjects. Every state agricultural college maintains a corps of specialists whose publications and services are available.

The Department of Agriculture is constantly giving out important information in books and bulletins which may be had on request and in every state the department has representatives combating animal diseases. The wise breeder is ever on the lookout to prevent disease instead of waiting until a cure is necessary.

SPLENDID FEED FOR HOGS

Experiments Have Shown That There is Nothing Better Than Rape, to Produce Results.

Rape has proved most valuable of spring-sown forage crops for swine at the Ohio experiment station. It furnishes a palatable, nutritious feed throughout the season, if not pastured too closely. In one experiment lasting 119 days this crop had a value, as forage for hogs, of $77.87 an acre in replacing concentrates in the ration, corn being valued at $1.12 a bushel and tankage at $9 a ton. In addition to this pasture the hogs received a daily grain ration amounting to 2.5 per cent of their live weight.

The crop may be seeded from April to the middle of July, either broadcasted or drilled solid or in rows 24 to 28 inches apart. Five to eight pounds of seed are needed to broadcast an acre, and from two to three pounds if the rape is to be grown in rows. On good soil and with early cultivation the crop is ready to be pastured in six to ten weeks from planting.

EXAMINE FEET OF HORSES

Their Condition is a Marked Factor in the Capacity of the Animals for Work.

In breeding horses, stress should be laid on having sound, well-shaped feet in both nates and stallions, so as to ensure this desirable quality in their progeny. Poorly shaped, weak and flat feet in the parents, or in one of them, are readily transmitted to the offspring in the same way as any other bad quality. Although poor feet are found in most breeds of horses, they are more frequent in certain breeds than in others. This is due largely to climate influences and the nature of the soil. It may be broadly stated that dry, high-lying soil and a comparatively dry climate favors the production of horses with strong, tough, sound, well-proportioned and rather small feet, while horses bred on low-lying, marshy land and in a damp climate have soft, spreading and often flat feet of an inferior quality as regards ability to stand work.

Floors for Real Service

Thump! Crash! Bang!—Isn't that the way children generally play? Yes, it's hard on floors, but here's a floor finish to withstand even that hard usage. It's

HANNA'S LUSTRO-FINISH

This superior finish keeps the floor looking bright and lustrous all the while. Hard knocks can dent, but they never break it. It's elastic and durable and so sticks to its job through every test. You can apply it yourself.

Lustro-Finish is also fine for furniture and wood work.

How Many Objects in This Picture Begin With "C"?

LOADS OF FUN FOR ALL!

Can you find fifteen or twenty words in this picture beginning with the letter "C"? Of course you can. There's cash, cow, coal, etc. That's a starter. See how many you can find. This is an opportunity for the entire family to join in and have a lot of fun and at the same time win more money than many earn in months of labor. $1000 in real cash and nine other handsome cash awards will be awarded to some of those who help us in this nobility campaign. Get your whole family around a table and commence now to enjoy this fun and share in the distribution of cash prizes. Observe the rules. See the prize list and send in your answer to the puzzle at once. It is your game, your fun and your big awards. This is an easy puzzle, everything in plain view, right before you. If you are awarded first prize you win a handsome cash prize, whether you send in subscriptions or not. We like first to send in your answer. Don't wait till the last day.

YOU CAN WIN $1000.00
If the judges award you first prize and you have sent in one six months subscription to the daily or Sunday Evansville Courier, you will receive $1000.00 instead of $100.00. Second prize $100.00, etc. (See second column in prize list.) But if you are awarded first prize and you have sent in one subscription for one year, or two subscriptions for six months you will get the Big Cash Prize—$1000.00 instead of $100.00. (See third column in Prize list.)

Now, isn't this a fine offer? Think of the fun you are going to have in finding the word objects, and it takes only one subscription for one year or two subscriptions for six months to qualify for the Big Cash Prize—$1000.00 award. Your own subscription will count and subscription will be taken to start any time now or later. When sending in subscriptions write instructions on a separate sheet of paper from your puzzle answer.

1. Any man, woman, boy or girl who is not an employee of The Evansville Courier, or member of an employee's family, may submit an answer. It costs nothing to try for the prize.

2. All lists should be written on one side of the paper only and numbered consecutively 1, 2, 3, etc. Write your full name and address in the upper right hand corner. Do not write subscriber's name or anything else on the paper with list of words. Use other paper for any correspondence you should desire to send in.

3. Only words found in the English Dictionary will be counted. Do not use hyphenated, compound or obsolete words. Use either the singular or plural, but where the singular is used the plural cannot be counted, and vice versa.

4. Words of the same spelling can be used only once, even though used to designate different objects. An object can be named only once, but any visible part of the objects may be named.

5. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of names of visible objects shown in the picture that begin with the letter "C" will be awarded the First Prize, etc. Neatness, style or handwriting have no bearing upon deciding the winners.

6. Persons may co-operate in answering the puzzle, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household, nor will prizes be awarded to more than one of any group, where two or more have been working together.

7. All answers will receive the same consideration regardless of whether or not subscriptions for The Evansville Courier have been sent in.

8. In the event of a tie for any of the prizes offered, the prize will be equally divided.

9. All answers must be mailed by April 15, 1922, and sent to the "C" Word Puzzle Manager, Evansville Courier, Evansville, Ind.

10. Three prominent men of this city, having no connection with The Evansville Courier, will be selected to act as judges and decide the winners, and participants agree to accept their decision as final and conclusive.

11. The judges will meet directly following the close of the contest and an announcement of the winners and correct list of words will be published in The Evansville Courier just as soon thereafter as possible.

The serial story that is now running crowded out this week, along with other features. The next instalment of this story will appear in an early issue of the Press.

FLOOR OF THE ATLANTIC.

If the hills on the earth were used to fill in all the valleys, we should have a world as smooth as a billiard ball, completely covered with an ocean 8,700 feet deep. That depth is called the "mean sphere level." The Atlantic ocean has an average depth that differs little from that level, for, compared with the other great oceans, it has an unusually large area of comparatively shallow water. First comes the shelflike "continental slope"; then follows, at a much lower level, a vast plain of a uniform, dull-grayish buff color, flat and featureless as the desert, unmarked except by an occasional rock, or wreck, or recently laid cable.
This plain continues with hardly a break until it reaches the great mid-Atlantic ridge that extends from Iceland as far south as 33 degrees south latitude and that roughly bisects the ocean. The ridge runs almost parallel with the eastern contour of Europe and Africa. Occasionally the ridge rises above the surface. The Azores, St.
Paul's rocks, Ascension Island, the Island of Tristan da Cunha, and the Gough Islands are all parts of it.

Many years ago a prize was offered by the Hay Fever association to any doctor who would discover a real cure
—not merely a palliative—for the malady from which the members of the association suffered. That was back in the days of Henry Ward Beecher, and no physician has yet won that prize. Let us hope that some doctor will be more fortunate in searching for a cure for cancer. The Cosmopolitan Cancer Research society of Brooklyn has made the splendid offer of $100,000 for a cure for cancer. The medical man who will earn that money, will not only receive it,
but millions from persons who are afflicted. There is no known remedy for cancer, says the New York Morning Telegraph. Experiments have been made with radium, but the secretary of the Cosmopolitan Cancer society declares it is the belief of members that radium will not cure the dreadful disease. Doctors may start with a clear field in their search for the remedy. Fame awaits the one who finds it—fame and a big fortune.

Some people said that Central Americans withheld their hands from their sidesarms during the World war because they were aghast at the awful-ness of the mupin in Europe. Others —despicable cynics—said it was because the Central Americans could get no powder and shot, Europe outbidding 'em. But, anyway, here are Nicaraguans and Hondurans falling out in the same old way, raiding across
each other's borders, burning houses,
stealing pigs and chickens, mactheting
the banana trees. The awful example, if it was an awful example, is forgotten. Traditional habits rule again. A Central American is a Central American once more, says the Toledo Blade.
All is not lost of the good old days if our Latin neighbors go from time to time upon the warpath, put in a day or two filling the valleys with smoke,
themselves with glory and strong drink, and come home again, dusty, joyously elated and picturesque candidates for office.

After-war starvation in Russia will add 5,000,000 lives to the 35,000,000 already charged up as a sacrifice to the war. An investigator for the American relief administration says many Russians will starve to death before spring. In spite of all the efforts that can be made to rescue them, says Capper's Weekly. American food trains are now reaching districts where the people have had no food except grains, barks and roots, but the food will come too late for many! How war scourges the world!

Lord Rayleigh, an eminent British scientist, says that by penetrating 20 miles into the earth's crust mankind
could develop an almost inexhaustible source of heat and power. Possibly, but the experienced motorist would be afraid to take a chance, knowing the disaster that usually attends a bad puncture.

HOLD WOMEN IN SUBJECTION

"Equal Rights" Theory Has No Standing Among Tribes of the African Slave Coast.

Woman is still the inferior sex in Africa. Man still makes her the beast of burden, the salable chattel, and treats her like an ignorant and recalcitrant child. With the Yorubas on the Slave coast, man's chief occupation seems to be to direct and impress women. Among other things,
"to prove to the womenfolk that man
rises and goes to heaven," says a University of Pennsylvania Museum bulletin, "a man, dressed in the shroud of the dead man, and with a wooden mask of the dead man's face upon him,
is placed in a private room with the body. Then, when all the family is assembled in an adjoining room, some one strikes the ground three times with a stick, crying out 'Father! Father! Father! answer me!' The 'Egun,' or man with the corpse, answers in a deep voice, and everybody
claps hands and rejoices.

Even the male children are aware that it is the "Egun" who answers;
but frail woman is supposed not to know. Woe betide her if she voices any doubts or unbelief about it! She gets a good beating. The "Egun" has developed in many localities of Yorubaland into a kind of boggy whose function it is to spirit away undesirable—
bushbodies, scolds, scandalmongers.
The women are his special providence,
although on occasion he will punish a man if that high-and-mighty member of society can ever be thought guilty of any punishable offense! An African woman who threatens an "Egun" with personal violence, or speaks evil-of him, is punishable by nothing less than death.

WORLD LOVES PLEASANT MAN

Simple Rules by Which One May Attain Popularity, and Its Concomitant, Power.

Learn to laugh; a good laugh is better than medicine.

Learn how to tell a story; a good story, well told, is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick-room.

Learn to keep your own troubles to yourself; the world is too busy to care
for your ills and sorrows.

Learn to stop creaking; if you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself.

Learn to hide your aches and pains
under pleasant smiles; no one cares
to hear whether you have headaches,
neuralgias, or rheumatism.

Learn to meet your friends with a smile; a good-humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic
is not wanted anywhere.

Above all, give pleasure; lose no
chance of giving pleasure.

You will pass through this world
but once.

Any good thing, therefore, that you can do, or any kindness that you can show to any human being, you had better do it now; do not defer or neglect it.

For you will not pass this way
again.—Montreal Family Herald.

Please Have Their Uses.

The next time you are worried by a flea, do not be impatient with it. It has its uses, remarks London Answers.
Glasgow, which justly prides itself
on its municipal efficiency, has lately discovered that even small insects may be utilized in the interests of empire.
The filters at its sewage purification works become periodically choked with a gelatinous matter, the clearing away of which was very costly. The local authorities have now enlisted large numbers of insects of the flea tribe,
and the results are remarkable.

Each of these insects absorbs four pounds per week of this disturbing gelatin, and allows the sewage to be converted into water that possesses crystal clearness.

Acharutes, as they are called, have hitherto been regarded merely as pesta. It is fortunate that we have found some useful employment for them at last!

"In the Jug."

"In the jug" is an expression that has all the characteristics of slang
but it was adopted into our own patois
from that of the Scots.

Jug, in this connection, doesn't mean a vessel, though it is tempting to trace the thought of someone being in jail to the term of "bottled up."

The word itself is derived from the Scottish "joag," a kind of iron yoke
or pillory for the head, which years ago was used in the punishment of rogues and criminals. When, years later, a round house of stone was set up in the market place for such offenders, this prison was popularly called
"the stone jug." This particular building is supposed to have been the first prison ever constructed on British soil.

Civilization Four Thousand Years Ago.

Excavation at Knossos, Patos, and other sites in Crete has not merely established the existence of a people whose form of civilization was the earliest in Europe, but has shown much about their daily life, games, amusements; their art, religion, writing—though hardly yet their language;
their physical characteristics, dress,
and the houses they lived in. A huge palace has been unearthed at Knossos.
It has a drainage system that an eminent Italian archeologist has described as "absolutely English," and that certainly anticipates the hydraulic engineering of the Nineteenth century. The men of science engaged in the work estimate the age of their discoveries at 4000 years.

SEEM AWKWARD IN MOVEMENT

Bird Lover Points Out Varying Gaits
of Feathered Creatures Seeking Food on Ground.

Watch a blackbird hunting for worms on a lawn; he moves by hopping.

But watch the wagtail darting about on the lawn or following the plow, or hunting down by the streamside—he walks or runs. He glides as smoothly over the rough furrows of the field as if he were skating on thin ice. So graceful are his movements that he seems to be dancing.

Why some birds should thus hop
after their prey and others run is a curious problem, observes a writer in Pearson's Weekly. A solution may be found in the different life habits of the hoppers and runners and in the different habits of their prey.

To hop on a lawn after worms may be the best way to disturb and pounce upon them. But it would be better to run after low-flying winged insects.

Walkers and runners as a rule are birds who seek their food on the ground and live chiefly on the ground. Partridges and landralls are famous runners. Robins, larks, meadow pipits
and starlings live much on the ground,
and walk and run.

Hoppers, as a rule, are passerines—
birds with claws adapted to perching.
It is natural for them to hop about trees, and so they hop when they come to ground. There are some exceptions to the hopping habits of tree
birds; thus the wood pigeon is a tree
bird that walks.

A walking bird, like a starling, may occasionally hop, and the usual hopping of the thrush may break into a quick run.

Other birds will not either walk,
run or hop if they can help it—like swifts, who rarely touch ground at all.

HASTE IS WASTE IN TROPICS

Northerners There on Business Must Leave All Preconceived Standards at Home.

Who enters the tropics should leave all haste behind. We have a superior way of talking of the land of "manana," quite overlooking the fact that the physiological law of the land is expressed in the "manana" attitude.
With the cumulative energy of generations of temperate-zone-born ancestors in our veins, we may maintain our standards of push and speed in the tropics for a time, but that is no reason why we should expect people who have been reared under less favorable climatic conditions to live up to them.

Indeed, it is highly advisable to leave all of our preconceived standards at home. Latin Americans have been long subjected to climatic and other influences which have of necessity profoundly affected them both bodily and mentally. We must remember also that, racially, we are as far apart as were the Conquistadores
from the Pilgrim fathers.

Let us therefore accept as a fact that our habits of thought are fundamentally different and give to history,
tradition, environment, and heredity
their share of praise and of blame for existing conditions.—National Geographic Magazine.

First Aid to Cupid.

Hefetore clotheslines have served two purposes. Obviously, their most frequent use has been to hang clothes
on. Their more important service, from a social standpoint, has been the breaking of falls of persons who happen to tumble out of windows.
But now comes a new use which promises to supersede the others. A certain young man, and an equally certain young woman, who live in apartment houses on the south side, facing each other across a large yard, have discovered that a clothesline makes a love line by the aid of which all sorts of messages may be sent and received.

After writing a note the sender attaches it to the line, which is manipulated across the yard. After reading and enjoying the contents the receiver writes an answer and sends it to the other side.

Earthquake's Peculiar Effect.

An earthquake that shook India not so long ago was remarkable for the curiously distorting effects it produced upon standing objects. Similar effects have been noticed from other earthquakes, but seldom to so striking an extent. In an official report in the matter it is described how this earthquake twisted a lofty monument at Chatax. The monument was an obelisk of brick, coated with plaster, more than 60 feet tall and 12 feet square at the base. About six feet of the top was broken off and thrown to the south, and nine feet more was thrown to the east. Then a piece 20 feet in height was separated, 23 feet above the ground, and twisted in a direction opposite to the motion of the hands of a watch, but without falling.

Finds Snoring Costly Habit.

A Brooklyn man's snore is costing him $2,000 because he has to take it to Europe with him. The snore is so powerful that he has found it necessary, if his wife was to get any sleep,
to occupy a room far apart from here,
in his large residence. The couple are planning a Mediterranean tour and the husband had to arrange for separate stateroom accommodations, for his wife's comfort, so she might sleep on the steamship. This means $2,000 more for the separate charges
for this notable snore.—New York Evening Post.

ORITUARY

William Reginald Lynn was born
Nov. 5, 1908 and died Feb. 20, 1922 at Institution for the Blind, Louisville.
He professed religion at the age of ten.

At the age of two he had the dreadful disease of spinal meningitis which destroyed his eyesight at the age of seven.

He attended school at Louisville
for the past three terms until Feb. 17,
when he took measles and pneumonia
and passed away Feb. 20, 1922
He was a lovable character, full of sunshine and loved all whom he met and to know him was to love him. His supreme motive in life was to please God. Nothing suited him any more than to talk religion.

Being of such bright disposition
he won the admiration and affection
of the entire school.

A beautiful floral offering, as a memento of their love, of both teachers and pupils accompanied the remains from the Louisville Institution.
A host of friends attended the funeral

and extended their heartfelt sympathy to the family. It was hard for the parents to have to give up this precious jewel but God knew best and called him home.

I most heartily sympathize with the entire family and trust that each of us will so live that we shall see him again in that day when God shall wipe all tears away.

MIRROR BELIEFS

It is considered unlucky to sleep in front of a mirror.

Don't look in the mirror just as the clock strikes midnight.

To break a hand glass is the sign of the death of an infant.

To come suddenly upon oneself in a mirror is accounted good luck.

If you gaze in your mirror when troubled, your anxiety will soon pass away.

If you see yourself in two mirrors, at the same time, you will be disappointed.

"Look in the mirror at night and you'll see the devil there," is a common myth.

If three persons look into the mirror together, one will die before the year is out.

In Switzerland it is said if a mirror breaks, the one who looked in it last will be the first to die.

When a mirror is broken in large pieces, you will have large troubles; if in small pieces, trifling troubles.

The seven years' bad luck identified with the breaking of a looking glass is modified in some countries to "bad luck but no want."

Don't measure your height standing before a looking glass because they do say that is bitter disappointment for one before the year is out.

"WISHING" LORE

In East Prussia the sap of dogwood, absorbed in a handkerchief, will fulfill every wish.

When you find a stone broken in halves, place the two parts together, throw them over the right shoulder, and wish.

Take the little bow out of a man's hat without his knowledge, wear in your shoe, and all your wishes will come true.

If a person will make a wish and then cut an apple in halves without cutting the seed, it is a sign that the wish will be fulfilled.

If you pull wishbones, the one who gets the junction of the bone does not get her wish; and if it flies away neither girl will be married.

The wishing rod was a rod of pure gold belonging to the Niebelungs. Whoever possessed it could have anything he wished, and hold the wide world in subjection.

Every Japanese believes firmly that at least one wish of his heart will be granted. Their goddess of mercy with her lunar aureole must not be prayed to but once in a lifetime by any person, but that once she will hear and answer.

OLD BRITISH ROYAL JEWEL

Stone Once Set in Ring of Edward the Confessor Said to Have Power of Curing Sciatica.

Only a few of the early British royal jewels survive in the present regalia. The oldest of these is the sapphire of Edward the Confessor, which was originally set in his coronation ring.

It was buried with him in his shrine in Westminster abbey, but in 1101 the shrine was broken open and this and other jewels received.

The sapphire is in the cross on the top of the king's state crown. Legend has it that St. John once appeared before the Confessor as a pilgrim, and that the monarch gave him the ring, which was returned later. The stone is reputed to have the power of curing sciatica and rheumatism, but has not been so used recently.

The Black Prince's ruby, as big as a hen's egg, came into British possession in 1367, having been taken by Don Pedro of Castile from the Moorish king of Granada, whom he slew in battle. The Black Prince wore it. Henry V displayed it in his helmet at Agincourt. Richard III, hunchback, wore it at Bosworth field. Today this magnificent gem occupies the place of honor in the front of King George's crown.

Some wonderful pearls in the regalia are said to date from Elizabeth's time, though such age for a pearl is doubted. —London Answers.

ODD BELIEFS OF GAMBLERS

Almost Every Devotee of Chance Has Some Pet Superstition, Some of Them Laughable.

Unusually rich in superstitions are the gambling resorts of Deauville and Monte Carlo.

Not the least inexplicable of these strange faiths is the belief voiced by a Russian at Deauville that eating almonds for dinner is the secret of good luck at the tables.

At Monte Carlo this season a man and woman appeared at the tables every night, and while the man played the woman remained seated nursing a black cat. The man at first won considerably; but later his luck changed.

Amethyst tiepins are popular at Deauville because of their alleged luck-bringing virtues.

To play with the third and fourth fingers of the left hand crossed is another device practiced by one woman. She could give no reason for her faith, except that such manipulation of the fingers brought luck.

Turtle Liked the Music.

The teacher of a school at Manchester, N. H., encouraged her pupils to bring small zoological specimens to school in order to become fully acquainted with them. The resulting collection included several turtles of various species. They were all kept in one inclosure. The teacher says: "It was while we had all the specimens together that I learned that they were affected in some way by music. They appeared to be listening when the music lesson was in progress. The next music period found me in the room watching them. Before the lesson began the turtles were moving slowly about, but the moment the singing commenced every head was up in a listening attitude, and I failed to see a movement of head or foot till the music lesson was ended. What their sensations were, of course I could not tell. It is reasonable, however, to believe that they were pleased, for had they been otherwise the turtle would have appeared restless."

Marriage.

"Nooring in a husband is a nasal certificate of good conduct." "It doesn't do to put your husband on a pedestal—the best of them is only a baby in a high chair."

"Marriage is a very difficult pursuit. It is no good to a man who has to do anything else. It is like golf, no good unless you can give your whole time to it—and then you will probably lose to an American."

"If any woman tried her wiles on me she would find me adamant." "Yes, with the accent on the Adam."

"I can say no more. It concerns a lady." "Quite." "No, not quite, but a very charming woman." —From a London Play, "The Trump Card."

Walk on Live Coals.

When a Tamil Hindu recovers from a serious illness he sometimes makes a vow to do something entailing discomfort and pain to himself as a sort of manifestation of gratitude combined with self-sacrifice and self-abasement. These vows take different forms, such as rolling over and over on a hard metal road, lashing himself or being lashed on the back or wearing a hair shirt, but walking over live coals is the means most commonly chosen by the devotee, this being very often accompanied by other forms of self-torture.

Islands Worth a Visit.

Tahiti is the most important of the Society Islands, and from its principal city, Papeete, one may see Moorea Island, capped by the stately Maunaroa mountain. With its industry of pearl fishing, the famous society of the Aereos, who cultivated the arts and killed new-born babies, and its cult of fire walkers, the Society Islands abound in the fascinating and the freakish. —National Geographic Society Bulletin.

PLAN TO AVOID HOG CHOLERA

Highly Contagious Disease Can Often Be Prevented by Using Simple Precautions.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Recently an instance was brought to the attention of the United States Department of Agriculture where hog cholera appeared almost simultaneously on the farms of six out of the eight members of a "threshing ring." The infection on all six farms was traced to the premises of one of the members of the "ring," whose hogs were sick at the time the threshing was done on his farm about 10 days previous.

The owner of the sick hogs failed to recognize the nature of the disease, and in his eagerness to cure for his crop while the weather was favorable, he delayed calling a veterinarian until after the threshing was finished. As a result he lost over half his hogs and the infection was carried to his neighbors' herds.

It is a common practice for farmers to borrow and loan farm implements and exchange labor when they are threshing, shelling old corn, filling silos and hauling stock and grain to market. Farmers are advised to read Farmers' Bulletin 594, Hog Cholera, especially the discussion of modes of infection with hog cholera.

"Threshing rings" are quite popular and no doubt under present conditions crops can be handled speedily and economically in this way, but the danger of carrying hog cholera from infected hog lots should be kept in mind and precautions taken to avoid it. In the instance cited the threshing was set in the hog lot, although it was known at the time that some of the hogs were sick.

It is much safer to thresh grain in the field and avoid driving into inclosures where hogs are kept. If driving through the hog lots is unavoidable, the members of the "threshing ring" are advised to rinse their shoes in a disinfectant and remove their overalls; also wash their horses' feet and legs and the wheels of the wagon with the disinfectant before returning to their own premises, and especially their hog lots. Hog cholera is a highly contagious disease and often losses can be avoided by using the simple and easily applied precautions specified.

PROVIDE SHELTER FOR SHEEP

Animals Need Protection Against Dampness as Well as From Cold During the Winter.

For the benefit of farmers who are wintering a flock of sheep for the first time this year, the Nebraska College of Agriculture offers the following suggestions: A good well-ventilated shelter is necessary, not so much for protection against the cold as against dampness. The sheep will keep the sheep warm if it is dry. A good shed open on the south will serve the purpose until lambing time, when a warm barn is necessary. If the weather is at all cold. After the corn is shucked the sheep can run in the stalks in good weather, with corn silage or alfalfa fed in limited quantities. A little fodder may be fed instead of silage, but sheep seem to do better where some kind of succulent feed, such as silage, roots, pumpkins and the like is a part of their ration. Very little or no grain is needed up until a week or two after lambing.

FINISH CATTLE FOR MARKET

Farmer Will Find It Profitable to Practice "Feeding" Before Offering Them for Sale.

It is customary for the farmer who has only a few head of cattle to sell them to the local buyer, and after being shipped to some central point, and after passing through several hands, they are sometimes found on the farm of a neighbor, who makes feeding a business, being finished for market. In a series of years the farmer who feeds makes more money than the farmer who does not. While there are losses on the operation some years, there are big profits other years. On the average of years the operation is profitable.

WOOL AND MUTTON COMBINED

Experiment Station Established at Dubois, Idaho, to Solve Sheep Problems.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sheep breeders, ranchmen and animal husbandmen from six or eight states went to the United States sheep experiment station near Dubois, Idaho, this year for the annual shearing. Keen interest attaches to the work done by this station, especially by those who are alive to the importance of producing, if possible, a breed that shall combine weight in mutton and excellence in fleece, with special reference to market demands for fine or coarse grades of wool. In the shearing this year, just reported to the Department of Agriculture, the Ramboulllets scored highest. The report shows these results:

Average Weight of Wool per Sheep.
Ramboulllets	11.14 lbs.
Columbia	10.85 "
Corriedales	10.68 "
Corriedale grades	10.60 "

The station at Dubois was established by the bureau of animal industry in 1917 to conduct experiments with which it was hoped to solve some of the big problems in range sheep business. With only a little more than three years' experience the specialists do not consider the results sufficiently conclusive to warrant definite assertion in favor of or against particular range practice, but the work has attracted the attention of sheepmen everywhere, and is expected to become increasingly important as the experiments develop.

"It is quite generally agreed," said one of the sheep husbandmen, "that for the main part of the range sheep country of the northwestern states the type of ewes obtained in the first cross between the long wools and the fine wools is a very desirable stock ewe. We appreciate the fact that fine wool rams were most popular in 1919, and that this was due in part to the high price of fine wool. Even should fine wool continue to sell above coarser grades, which is doubtful, we still could not afford to neglect the lamb

With the Coming of Cool Weather Healthy Ewes Will Have a Better Appetite and If Fed Liberally Will Gain in Weight.

side of the business that has been the cause of such large use of crossbred stock."

Sheepmen concerned in the business of producing sheep that shall combine mutton and the right kind of fleece watch with interest the development of the Corriedale grades and the Columbia. The Corriedale was imported from New Zealand in 1915 by the bureau of animal industry for this work. The Columbia is the Lincoln and Ramboulliet cross interbred.

WHY PERCHERON IS POPULAR

Breed Adapted to All Kinds of Farm Work, and Exceptionally Docile and Sensitive.

The modern Percheron is very popular with the American farmer because he is an easy keeper and an early maturer, is hardy and vigorous, but docile and sensible, strong, active and well adapted to all classes of farm work and city use. America had a preference for a black horse which has led to the production of darker colored horses, but, as is evidenced by some of the leading shows of recent years, there is a tendency to revert back to the original color, that beautiful iron gray. It is a good thing that this is true, for a minor point like color should never detract from the value of an otherwise good horse.

PREPARING FOR SPRING PIGS

Good Idea During the Winter to Arrange for New Pastures and Lots—Practice Rotation.

It is well to plan new pastures and lots for the spring pigs. For next to disease, worms probably cause the greatest losses. The larvae of the various types of infectious worms lie over in the grass and on the ground for months. A manure pile may be full of them. Rotation of pastures and lots is a good practice in raising healthy pigs.

A MERCIFUL JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Marion resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

A. C. Melton, brick mason, 633 E. Depot St., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills at different times for a weak and lame condition of my back and they have helped me. I certainly think they are a good remedy and gladly advise anyone troubled in this way to get a box or so of Doan's at Orme's Drug Store." (Statement given October 17, 1916)

On December 22, 1920 Mr. Melton said: "I still think Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine kidney remedy and gladly confirm the statement I made in praise of them in 1916."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Melton had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advertisement)

Delivering Pay-
Loads

Keeping your truck in operation on full time—
every working day of each week, with a low cost of upkeep and depreciation, makes it possible
to deliver pay-loads.

Using inferior oils causes more "grief" and paves the way for more delays and repairs than any other feature of motor truck operation.

CHAMPION
APPROVED PENNSYLVANIA
MOTOR OIL

assures perfect lubrication, avoids friction and adds power. It forms a solid oil jacket over all working parts of the motor
which cannot be broken or thinned by heat.

Champion Oil is made entirely from the purest Pennsylvania crude, the highest grade crude oil
in the world. Try it.

Tenth, and the Opportunity Is Again Yours!

It is a sense of gratitude to us to invite our friends and customers to our Annual Implement days. April 10th is the date this year, and with the co-operation of our friends and customers we expect to make this the best one we have had for several years.

Why not lay aside your home duties for one day and come to Marion and spend one enjoyable as well as a profitable day with us? If you don't want to buy a single article you will be as welcome as we know how to make you. If you do want to buy one or many articles, we will guarantee that you can buy more goods and better in Marion for less money than you can in any town in the state of Kentucky. We invite you to come and see. Ladies especially invited.

We will have a Special Sale on many items on this date. Some real Bargains. Look for the Big Aluminum Ware Advertisement. You can't afford to miss it.
