A UNION OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Healthy Housewife—Happy Home Lydia E. Paskaran's Vegetable Compound Has Helped Form Many Reading, Pa.—"It was a nervous a time for me," said Mrs. E. H. Paskaran in her home recently. "I had to for the third time in six years go to the doctor for the treatment of nervousness. It was a great strain to me to have to go to the doctor again, to be told that the trouble was the same as in the past. I had to go through the same procedure as I had before."

Mrs. Paskaran is one of the sponsors of Lydia E. Paskaran's Vegetable Compound. It is a strange fact that for years the Compound has been used without any complaint of nervousness. In its present form, however, Mrs. Paskaran thinks it is better than ever.

"I have been able to get along much better since I started taking this Compound," she said. "It is a great help to me. I do not have to go to the doctor as often as I did before."

The Compound is made of herbs and spices, and is said to be a natural remedy for nervousness. It is said to be effective in treating nervous conditions of all kinds. The Compound is sold in bottles, and is easy to take.

JUST KEEP GROWING

The number of chickens raised, even though predominantly for the Table, has been on the increase in recent years. According to the Department of Agriculture, there were 43 million bushel of corn, or about one-fifth of the nation's entire corn crop, used for chicken feed last year. This represents an increase of 25 percent over the 1939-40 season, when the corn crop was 358 million bushels. The increase in the number of chickens raised, on the other hand, has been from about 100 million to 125 million in the past five years, with 1941 showing the largest increase. The increase in the number of chickens raised has been due to several factors, including increased demand, better feeding practices, and improved marketing conditions. The increase in the number of chickens raised has also been due to increased use of chick feed, which has helped to increase the number of chickens raised.

HAPHAZISD EXTENSION

The Department of Agriculture’s Extension Service has been active in promoting the production of poultry and other livestock in the country. The service has been busy with a number of projects, including the development of new strains of chickens and the improvement of existing ones. The service has also been working on the development of new methods of feeding and housing poultry, as well as on the improvement of marketing practices. The service has been active in all parts of the country, and has been instrumental in bringing about a number of improvements in the poultry industry.
