Former Sheriff Taken Away
Louisville Hospital Saturday Afternoon

Albert Joseph Pickens died at 2:15 o'clock Saturday, September 23 at Norton Hospital, Louisville where he had gone for treatment. Mrs. Pickens and his adopted daughter, Mrs. L. E. Yates and Mr. Yates were present when the end came. The remains arrived here Sunday morning for burial.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church at 10:30 Monday. Friends from all over the county gathered in to pay a last tribute of love and esteem to the deceased and the church, including the galleries, were crowded. The funeral discourse was delivered by Rev. Robert Lear, with an invocation by Rev. R. T. McConnell. The floral offerings were very beautiful and abundant. Interment followed at Maple View Cemetery.

Mr. Pickens is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jennie McConnell Pickens and adopted daughter, Mrs. L. E. Yates. He is also survived by three brothers and five sisters: John T., J. A. C. and James A. Pickens all of this county; Mrs. A. A. Debee, Mrs. Eliza R. Debee, Mrs. Lou C. Lamb, Mrs. W. L. Wilson and Mrs. P. C. Lamb.

The deceased was a son of William C. and Susan Lamb Pickens and was born December 22, 1852. He began life for himself as a farmer in early manhood. He always took an interest in local politics and in 1882, he was elected county jailer, serving two terms. So popular did he become as jailer that in 1886 he was elected Sheriff of the county and so well did he serve the people in that capacity that he was re-elected without opposition. In 1896 he was appointed by the governor of Kentucky to the office of Stewart of the Feeble-minded Institute at Frankfort, serving in that capacity four years.

There is perhaps no man in the county who has a better acquaintance with the people of the county or has more friends and admirers than did Mr. Pickens.

BARBECUE

One of the most enjoyable picnics of the season was the barbecue, given at Orme's Park by Mr. and Mrs. Levi Cook, to the members of the Senior B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were assisted by Misses Elizabeth Cook and Forrest Hammock. The tables groaned under the weight of the good things to eat, prepared as only Mrs. Cook can.

There were barbecued goat, chicken and squirrel, boiled corn with butter, creamed potatoes, bread and luns, pickles, onions, coffee with whipped cream and Coca-Cola.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Levi Cook, Mr. and Mrs. P. Guess, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Stephens and son, Thomas; Messrs. Lawrence Hard and C. Mayes; Misses Marian Hard, Ebbie Wathen, Zora Lewis, Beth Stephens, Ethel Hard, Leffa Wilborn, Margaret Hard, Elizabeth Cook, Forrest Hammock, Thelma Travis, Margaret Guess, Lavine Guess, Lois Hicklin, Virginia Doss, Anna E. Hard, Laura Butler and Katherine Hughes.

Time was passed by pitching dollars, drop the handkerchief, "Going to aris" and other games and all present voted it the most delightful picnic they had ever attended.

LOSE CLOSE GAME TO PRINCETON

The Marion baseball team journeyed over to Princeton and lost a close game to their ball club, the score being 3 to 1 in favor of Princeton. Floyd Wheeler worked on the mound for Marion and was exceedingly hard for Princeton to connect with his offerings. He allowed only three hits and caused many a Princeton player to lay down the stick.

Princeton managed to score a run in their round at bat in the third and two in the fourth after two men had been retired, errors being responsible both times.

Frazer had no trouble in connecting three hits out of four times up and scoring Marion's lone tally. After Driskill received an injury Frazer relieved him behind the bat and caught an exceptionally good game.

Hancock pitched his regular good game and had many of the local boys puzzled, allowing six hits.

Court House News

Wm. Binkley was tried in county court Thursday, Sept. 20 on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor in violation of the prohibition laws. After hearing the evidence returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at 30 days in jail and a fine of $100. The case was appealed to Circuit Court and defendant was released under an appeal bond.

Clarence Debee was tried in County Court Wednesday charged with transporting liquor. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at a $100 fine and 30 days in the County Jail. The case was appealed and defendant released under a bond.

A still was discovered under a concrete bridge about one and a half miles south of town on the Princeton road by Watson Rice Wednesday. Mr. Rice telephoned the information to Sheriff J. T. Wright, who with a deputy went and brought it in. It is a copper still of about 25 gallon capacity and has evidently been unused for some time. It is supposed that the owner, becoming fearful of being overtaken by the law, hid it under the bridge as the best way available of getting rid of it. It is now in the Sheriff's office and has attracted considerable interest.

SHADY GROVE

Sign Growers for Tobacco
Growers Association

The drive for the Dark Tobacco organization in this county is now in full swing. Citizens of all classes have rallied to the aid of the tobacco growers and are lending their full power to organize this county before October 1. The county has been organized as to voting precincts and the local organization is well pleased with the prospects of signing up the county.

Supt. Geo. Colvin addressed a large crowd of farmers at Shady Grove on Tuesday afternoon in interest of the organization pointing out the need of this organization for the farmers, the advantages it has over the old system of pooling the tobacco and why it will make tobacco bring the grower what his crop is worth.

TO RAISE FUNDS FOR COMMUNITY BUILDING

The Woman's Club is putting forth every effort to make a sufficient amount of money to get a community house, not for themselves alone but for the people of the county. For some time there has been a dire need of a rest room for the women who come shopping and this need has been one of deepest concern. As the money for each entertainment is taken in it is put out on interest until the first payment can be made on property for a community house.

MARION WINS
TWO GAMES

Blue and White Teams Emerge Victorious in Basketball and Football Contests

Saturday, September 23rd was a bad day for Princeton, Kentucky, insofar as high school athletics were concerned for on that day Marion knocked Princeton for a double row of canary-bird cages in football and basketball. The result of the football game was 31 to 3, and the result of the basketball contest was 13 to 4.

The game was a thriller from the start. Contrary to the indications of the score the game was hard fought at all stages. In the first quarter Princeton showed exceptional strenght in hitting the line while the Princeton line with their big 215 pound tackle on the job, refused to yield to the thrusts of the Blue and White backfield. In the second quarter Dick Hicklin opened a cute little dash around the north side of the Princeton line and scored a touchdown. A few minutes later Perry Dillard by means of some keen open field running, scored another touchdown traveling eighty yards without a chaperon to do this patriotic act. In the last half Hicklin added two more touchdowns to the list and Capt. Wilson shifted thru the line for the other. In the final quarter Princeton scored a field goal from the twenty-five yard line.

In school activities Princeton plays to win honorably or lose honorably, and for this they should be given credit.

The Blue and White showed the advantage of good teamwork during the entire game and each member of the team contributed his bit toward achieving the victory.

THE MISSING WORD

The word omitted last week in the Missing Word Contest was "US", and should have appeared in the advertisement of National Dry Cleaners between the word "call" and "Telephone". We told you that the word commenced with U and ended with S thus spelling the word for you. This week we will not tell you what the word is but it begins with "K" and contains six letters.

Farm Bureau Notes

Interest in the Crittenden County Fair is growing right along and indications are that the one to be held Saturday will be the biggest ever held in Marion. It is expected that the entries in live stock will be far greater than last year. Keen interest is evident in the horse and mule department and the judging there will require a nice decision.

The babies will be judged at 1:30 P. M. and announcement is hereby made so let no one who plans to enter fail to be there by that. A space will be allotted in the tent near the entrance for the final "fixing" of the babies and all contestants are urged to be there and report to either Mrs. Lester Terry or Mrs. Dr. Nunn between 1:00 and 1:30 if they plan to enter. Who will have the best baby in the county? That event alone is worth the price of admission to the entire fair.

A well qualified judge will be here from Lexington to judge the live stock and farm products and it is planned that he will have several assistants to help him in the various classes.

Don't forget about a cover crop for your bare fields this winter. Right now is the time to seed it on your tobacco and pea fields. Both will wash badly this winter if not properly taken care of.

A special caponizing demonstration will be made at the Fair grounds to everyone interested in this line of work. Mr. Stribling will have charge of this. Don't miss it as capons will make more meat and meat of a much higher quality.

Scrub Cows Eat Profits

"Do you keep cows or do cows keep you? That was one of the questions that confronted farmers and dairymen who visit the State Fair the week of Sep. 11 to 16. The question formed the main theme of the exhibit which was made by the college dairy department to show why farmers and dairymen cannot afford to keep low-producing cows.

The exhibit was built around the models of two cows, one a well-bred high producing animal and the other a scrubby, boarder type of individual found on many farms. A huge bank book was displayed over the models of the animals to show the profits that each type of cow returns to the farmer during a year. The records in the book were taken from two farms in Kentucky showed the milk and cream alone from ten cows of the high producing type yielded almost 2 1-2 times as much profit during the course of a year as that from the cows of the scrub type. Feed records from the same farms showed that the ten poor cows consumed as much during a year as did the ten profitable cows.

The value of the well-bred cows was further emphasized by other facts which were displayed with the two models. The relative value of the calves from the well-bred and scrub cows, the amount of feed consumed during a year by each type of cow and the amount of labor required to take care of them was shown by means of actual results obtained on the two farms.

Columbus Akers, an inmate of the county poor farm, died Monday.

J. Watts Lamb of Blue Diamond, is visiting friends and relatives in the city this week.

When Washington Knocked Out Columbus

Not Not a prize fight, but a knock-out blow for the early development of Kentucky. Washington, D. C., vs. Columbus, Ky.

Here's the story in brief:

The first Congress was called upon to decide upon a location for the Capital of these United States.

Thomas Jefferson, then Secretary of State under President
Washington, wanted it at Columbus, Ky.

If you would know why his plan failed—why Washington was finally selected as the Capital—does not contain one illiterate child. Mayfield, "the old-fashioned girl," how she surpassed the country club flapper in everything really worth while. How $300,000 was spent by one county to get out of the mud. When President Tyler was a coal miner in Kentucky.

IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

The only sure things of life are the things that have already happened.

The world will sometimes take a man on bluff, but it is better to have a return ticket.

It may be all right to follow the crowd, but it's a mighty poor way to get to the front.

Of course foresight is a good thing, but it won't keep a man from being stabbed in the back.

Any married man will tell you that a woman doesn't have to get on the scales to have her own way.

Accepting gratuitous advice proves that the fellow who gets something for nothing must pay dearly for it.

You never can tell. The woman who is talked about is apt to be almost as unhappy as the woman who isn't.

It is doubtful if there is any similarity between a fair weather friend and the one who makes hay while the sun shines.

"Honesty is the best policy," quoted the Wise Guy. "Yes, but you've got to keep your premiums paid up," added the Simple Mug.

Muggins—"Did Wigwag go in for athletics when he was in college?" Buggins—"I believe he held the record for jumping at conclusions."

The Cynical Bachelor observes that inasmuch as marriage is a tie, it seems quite natural that a matrimonial alliance should have a string to it.

Blotbs—"Are you doing anything these days?" Shobbs—"I'm working every day, eight hours at a stretch." Blotbs—"Where?" Shobbs—"In the rubber factory."

ODD FACTS

Trial by jury is said to have existed in 2000 B. C.

Portuguese is the language of about 30,000,000 people.

There are 6,000,000 children born every year in China.

Women farmers in the United States number over 200,000.

A weight 400 times its own is just an average lift for a crab.

Ravens pair for life and use the same nest year after year.

A single tusk of an East African bull elephant has been known to weigh 225 pounds, but the average tusk of the old wild bull elephant of today is said to be not more than 40 pounds.

INSECT TALES

The microscope will show the mosquito has 22 teeth.

The caterpillar's range of vision is only two-thirds of an inch.

A beetle has been known to dispense with food of any kind for three years.

There are more beetles than all other creatures in the world, put together.

The gnat fashions its eggs in the shape of a lifeboat. You cannot sink them without breaking them to pieces.

Scientific computation has established that 10,000 threads of the web of a full-grown spider are not larger than a single hair of a man's beard.

A Mediterranean mollusk is locally called the silk worm of the sea, as it spins a fiber from which clothing and hosiery can be made.—New York Sun.

CHUNKS OF WISDOM

A crowd is not company.

A booster and a liar are cousins.

A brave retreat is a brave exploit.

A cracked bell can never sound well.

A contented mind is a continual feast.

Is to be hoped that the campaign the object of which is to have every family in its own home may not languish soon, as it is all too likely to do.

Tenantry in large cities cannot be abolished altogether; perhaps it would be undesirable to do so. However, tens of thousands of people would be better off physically, mentally and morally did they live under their own vine and fig tree. Vastly too many people are still unnecessarily dependent upon the wish and will of others, industrially, politically, socially; a condition tending ever toward slavery, injustice and unhappiness. Ownership of anything spells independence in some measure, though it often means restraint, too; and to own one's home, where none dare intrude or make afraid, is the most satisfying of all.

The owner of a home is sociologically a better citizen, a more public-spirited person, than he would be otherwise. The condition of a neighborhood, the quality of government, sanitary and social matters, are at their best where most people own their homes. What does the average renter care for the condition of his neighborhood? A bird of passage, he seldom identifies himself with the progress or welfare of the community, as does an owner, and at the merest whim he is on the wing. To own one's home is not generally an easy accomplishment, but requires resolution, self-restraint and tenacity. Few slogans are more worth while.—Chicago Journal.

CITY PLANNING PAYS WELL

Haphazard Method of Allowing Community to Develop is Poor Policy and Costly in the End.

The civic leagues and societies that get after the authorities to compel the cleaning up of cities and offer prizes and other inducements for well-kept lawns, attractive flower beds, reformed back yards and the like are advancing culture and civilization.

Many cities have followed Washington's example and have art commissions that pass upon all public work to keep it in harmony with some established plan of artistic development. We should go further than that. Our building departments carefully examine every plan made for private as well as for public buildings and prescribe just how the walls shall be for strength, how high the building may go, what the sanitary details must be. The people have become used to such control and direction. The city art commission should have greater power and should co-operate with the building department and pass on all plans for all buildings, private as well as public.—Washington Star.

Roadside Tree Always Worth While.

The example set by the state of Minnesota, which will plant some 30,000 trees along its highways this year and each succeeding year will add several thousands more, conveys a lesson not only in reforestation in a relatively treeless state but in the esthetic value of arboriculture as well. Undoubtedly the years to come will bring their reward and travelers of the future, if they give the matter a thought at all, will pay tribute to the foresight which furnished them with grateful shade and added beauty of a peculiarly restful kind to the landscape. A ribbon of road stretching across a treeless plain is but a bleak thing, whereas it becomes an "avenue" when graceful trees nod in the breeze on both sides of it and travelers passing through into other states which have neglected their opportunities will not fail to note the difference. The roadside tree on the Pacific coast is a matter worthy of the attention of both the planter and the conservationist.—Portland Oregonian.

Select Location for Plants.

The south side of a structure if fully exposed to the sun and not shaded in any way is likely to prove particularly trying for many plants, especially those which require a cool location. Their foliage is likely to become scorched and burned during hot, bright days in summer, and if the plants themselves are not killed, they commonly fall to grow well and are unsatisfactory. When such trying conditions have to be met, plants which can withstand considerable heat and dryness should be selected. On the other hand, care should be taken that plants which can withstand cold and lack of direct sunlight should be planted upon the north side of the structures.

Oil and Air-Cooled Motors.

As the result of tests made during the war at the aircraft factory at Farnborough, Eng., it was demonstrated that in air-cooled internal combustion engines as much as 40 to 47 per cent of the cooling was, under certain conditions, done by the crankcase. The result has been the design of a so-called oil-cooled engine, in which the crankcase has been greatly enlarged so as to almost completely envelop the cylinders.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Where Extra Service is Demanded Firestone Cords Predominate

WHEREVER the exacting tests of tires are most severe—there you will find Firestone Cords in universal use.

The hard jobs seek Firestone. And so well has Firestone responded under difficult conditions—so consistently has mileage mounted to totals impossible to obtain from ordinary tires—that today Most Miles per Dollar is the buying slogan of thinking motorists everywhere.

The blending and tempering of rubber, gum-dipped cord construction, air-bag cure—all these mileage methods have been developed by men whose life work is the production of constantly increasing tire values for the public.

Users in this vicinity verify Firestone reputation, and report almost daily some new Firestone record of extra distance travelled.

Don't be satisfied to buy tires—buy values—the longest mileage at the lowest price consistent with such reliable performance.

Make Most Miles per Dollar your principle of tire economy—choose your next tire on that basis.

Studebaker

LIGHT-SIX

CLOSED CARS

Present prices are the lowest at which Studebaker Light-Six closed cars have ever been sold.

Yet the intrinsic values are emphatically the greatest Studebaker ever offered. This means they are the best values that the industry affords, because Studebaker cars have always been above par in the amount of value per dollar invested.

Capacity production and the savings resulting from Studebaker methods of complete manufacture make these low prices possible.

Light-Six closed cars are sturdily built of finest materials and best workmanship. The bodies are the product of Studebaker skill and craftsmanship, and the prices of $1550 for the Sedan and $1225 for the Coupe-Roadster are no index to their inherent value.

When you buy a car you want to look at several makes. Include Studebaker in your list and after you have ridden in the Light-Six Sedan or Coupe-Roadster it will not be difficult to make up your mind.

The foundations of Studebaker success are quality, durability, comfort and integrity—principles that have been upheld steadfastly by Studebaker for seventy years. You can depend upon Studebaker automobiles because of the name they bear.

IN MEMORY

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCune at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning July 23, 1922 and took from them their daughter, Jewel, who was 19 years eleven months and eleven days old. Her death was due to a short illness of typhoid fever.

Funeral services were conducted at Union Church by Rev. J. C. Lilly with interment in the Maple View Cemetery at Marion.

Jewel, an endearing name, expresses what she meant to her parents. She was a rare "jewel." To know her was to love her. She was a source of help and inspiration to her family. In the home life with them, her best was given and today there is a vacancy in their hearts which can never be replaced.

Death, that mysterious dissolution of the soul from the body, always fills us with wonder at the majesty and power of God, Who hath created us.

When it comes as the crown of a long and useful life, it is a fitting thing; but it seems, O! cruel Death, what hast thou to do with this young girl just in the bloom of life? For our very life-strings bleed at the thoughts of parting with her.

But let us lay down our broken hearts at the feet of our Divine

Master, and may the mist of our eyes, falling through the hope, create a rainbow whereby we rededicate the services of our lives to the Christ, our Savior, who hath through His voluntary death, made possible a We see but dimly thru the mists and reunion with our blessed dead.
