PARALYSIS VICTIM

Fatally Stricken at Hotel Henry
Waterson, Louisville Last Thursday Night

William Graves Clifton died at St. Anthony's Sanitarium in Louisville, at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night, following a paralytic stroke at Hotel Henry Waterson on Thursday night. Mrs. Clifton was with him when the end came. The deceased was 45 years old.

The remains arrived here Sunday evening and were taken to his home on Denot Street, where funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. C. G. Frather, pastor of the Methodist church. The floral offerings, contributed by loving friends, were beautiful and abundant. Interment at Maple View Cemetery.

The active pall bearers were R. B. Cook, E. F. Haynes, Sam Guenther, J. H. Orme, Maurice Nunn and J. I. Clement. Honorary pallbearers: T. J. Yandell, W. E. Cox, E. L. Harpending, Eugene Guess, T. H. Cochran and Virgil Threlkeld.

There were no better men than Will Clifton and few people had more friends and admirers than he. He came to Marion from Evansburg about twenty-five years ago and was a member of the business firm of J. H. Clifton and Sons. For about fifteen years he had been traveling salesman for the Harris-Polk Hat Company, of St. Louis, which position he held at the time of his death.

Five years ago he was married to Miss Eva Clement, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. I. H. Clement, who survives him. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Clifton, and a brother and three sisters: J. L. Clifton, of this city; Mrs. C. L. Burke, of Brownwood, Tex.; Mrs. T. F. Newcom, of Blackford, and Mrs. G. M. Conner, of Memphis.

COL. SIMMONS'

ADDRESS SPLENDID

Noted Colored Orator Greeted By Good Sized Audience at Court House

Col. Roscoe Simmons, who has a national reputation as an orator and educator, addressed a good sized audience at the Court House here Monday evening on "The Past and Present of the Colored Race". The audience, which was composed of about one third white people, was not disappointed. He spoke for about two hours and handled his subject in such a manner as to be highly pleasing and instructive to both whites and colored. Many out of town visitors of colored people were present to hear the address.

Farm Bureau Notes

District Agent Here

Mr. E. J. Kilpatrick, District Agent for the district including this county, was here last Saturday. It is Mr. Kilpatrick's custom to visit a Farm Agent soon after he is placed in new territory. He went over plans for the work with the Assistant County Agent. The plans were approved and several helpful suggestions were offered.

Interest In Poultry Increases

Poultry raisers show keen interest in methods of flock improvement. The Assistant County Agent is spending the greater part of his time this week in visiting poultry raisers of Crittenden county and encouraging them to keep records. Most farm flocks run at large over the farm foraging for the greater part of the grain feed. In most cases of this nature only production records are kept. Record blanks for this purpose will be furnished any one who will agree to keep a daily record of egg production and furnish a copy to the County Agent's office at the end of each month. Several persons kept this record known as the winter egg laying contest last year. Most of these are keeping records again this year and several more have been added to the list. Are your chickens paying their board? Talk it over with the Assistant County Agent.

WM. P. LOYD DIES

William P. Loyd died Tuesday at his home near Crayne, from the effects of an accident Saturday night on his way from church. The news reached here too late for an extended writup. More will be given later.

POSSUM SUPPER AND BAZAAR

The ladies of the Main Street Presbyterian church Hallowe'en Tuesday evening by serving a 'possum and chicken barbecue supper at the Carnahan building on Belleville St. A large number attended and was greatly enjoyed. The proceeds amounted to about $75.

BAKERY CHANGES OWNERS

The new bakery founded a few months ago by E. R. Hutson, has changed ownership. Mr. Hutson selling out to R. K. Butler and Mr. Stone, who will continue the business under the firm name of Butler & Stone. If the loaf they so kindly presented to this office be a criterion to judge by, the new firm is turning out some mighty good bread.

ARMSTRONG-HUGHES

The marriage of Mr. Alvis Hughes and Miss Geneva Armstrong was solemnized Wednesday at the residence of Rev. E. M. Eaton, who performed the ceremony.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hughes and the bride a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Armstrong, residing near Sheridan. Many congratulations were extended the young couple.

DARK DISTRICT

IS ORGANIZED

Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association Formally Launched at Meeting at Hopkinsville

A Card From W. B. Yandell, Crittenden County Chairman

To the Crittenden County Tobacco Growers who Have Signed the Pooling Contract:

Now that the campaign for pooling contracts is closed, and the services of the local organization committee, together with mine as Chairman, are ended, I desire to make the following report:

On Tuesday of this week I attended a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Executive Committee at Hopkinsville, where reports from every county in the dark tobacco district were canvassed, and it showed that 71.4 percent of all the tobacco now growing in the district has, by signed contracts, been placed in the pool; the Committee formally declared the pool effective, and the necessary committees were then appointed for perfecting the permanent organization, for procuring warehouses, and for financing.

In Crittenden County, our campaign was at least two months later in starting than any of the other counties, and I believe it was for that reason that we did not pool as large a percentage of the growing crop as was done in any of the other counties. Our census shows 2,100 acres growing in Crittenden County, and 1,210 acres in the pool. But fortunately for Crittenden county the pooled percentage in the other counties was so large as to perfect the pool, including Crittenden county.

Let me say, in conclusion, something to those who have signed the contract, as well as to those who have not signed.

To those who have opposed the movement, from whatever cause, we have nothing but the kindest feelings, for we have all along considered that every man has a right to his own opinion and to act upon it. I am confident the result of the pool in this first year's business will be of such striking benefit to the growers in general that next year, if the doors are thrown open, as I trust they will be, a large majority of those who did not see fit to go in this year will voluntarily come in next year.

Your Committee also desires to thank every one who has rendered assistance in any way. Men in the country and men in town, have worked splendidly. No county in the whole district had more energetic workers, and the Committee has been supported in a loyal manner.

And especially to the growers who are in the pool, let me urge that every one of them be patient while those in charge perfect the plans and devise the means of completing the organization. It is an immense task to get the machinery in motion for the conduct of so large a business. The thing for every grower now to do is to begin to consider what man among the growers in this county can best serve your interests as Director, and when you have made up your mind in this regard, vote accordingly. Make up your mind who you will vote for regardless of personal friendship, and consider only his personal integrity and business qualifications for the place.

On behalf of the Organization Committee, I again thank every one for every help rendered, and ask for the Association your undivided and loyal support.

W. B. YANDELL,
Chairman, Organization Committee

HIS 75th BIRTHDAY

Dr. D. M. Daniel, of the Weston section, was in town Tuesday Oct. 31, looking hale and happy, that being the date of his 75th birthday. The Doctor can fish and 'possum hunt and coon hunt around Crooked Creek and bring in as much game as a much younger man. When he wants larger game he takes a trip to the wilds of Arkansas and always brings back trophies of his success as a hunter. May he enjoy many more birthdays.

J. H. NIMMO

PASSES AWAY

Well-known Marion Citizen Succumbs to Tuberculosis After A Long Illness

John Henry Nimmo died at his home on North Main Street at seven o'clock Saturday evening Oct. 28, after several months illness of tuberculosis, aged 56 years.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Christian church conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Flynn, after which the remains were laid to rest at Maple View Cemetery.

Mr. Nimmo came to Marion some fifteen years ago from Benton, Marshall county, this state, representing the Watkins Products Company, this position he held until he was forced to retire on account of ill health several months ago. He was well known in all parts of the county and had many friends and admirers. He was an active member of the Christian church and also a member of the W. O. W. Lodge. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jane Nimmo, and by two sons, J. E. Nimmo of this city, and W. C. Nimmo, of Chicago.

MISSING WORD CONTEST ENDS

This week's issue of the Press contains the last of a series of our special Missing Word Contest Advertisements. This contest has lasted thirteen weeks and much interest has been manifested by our readers. Over two thousand replies have been received by the Contest Editor. This shows a great amount of interest in our advertisements carried in our columns.

The close of the contest promises to be a hot finish as several contestants are now neck and neck and much depends upon the solution of this weeks ad.

Last week the word was COMPLETE and should have been in the ad of W. O. Tucker Furniture Co., between the words OUR and LINE.

This week the missing word contains four letters, one of which is O. A close study and all will be able to locate it.

Winners of prizes will be announced next week.

MARION LOSES

TO MORGANFIELD

Hard Fought Game Ends in Victory
For Morganfield in Last Saturday's Game

Marion met her second defeat of the present football season Saturday in the annual clash with Morganfield. The score was 19 to 6. Even in defeat the eleven boys who battled and lost Saturday demonstrated the fact that they are the strongest team that has ever represented Marion in football. They also demonstrated the fact that they have been coached by a man who understands thoroughly how to develop a high school team.

Now Morganfield is supposed to have a "stone wall" line. To a man on the sidelines Saturday during the first half of the game there was no Morganfield line. In fact during this period Morganfield displayed the sorriest line that the Blue and White has encountered this season. Of course this was made possible by the good offensive work of the Marion forwards but Brown and Wilson found nothing in their way when they hit the line in the early part of the game. The famous linesmen representing Morganfield were consistently moved to a position from which they could observe but could not hinder the progress of the Blue and White backfield. In the first quarter Marion registered six first downs to Morganfield's two. On the first play in the second quarter Wilson carried the ball over for a touch down. In the second half of the game Morganfield showed their strenght in end runs.

As has been stated before the entire squad played in a manner that leaves no regrets for the followers of the Blue and White but the exceptional work of Terry should receive a word of praise. Martin Brown directed the team in fine style and contributed several thrilling broken field dashes as did Wilson.

This Friday the Blue and White plays Sturgis at that place.

Monday evening Mrs. R. E. Jagers, Miss Lurline Lewis and Miss Helen Williams entertained the faculty of Marion Graded and High School at a masquerade party at the home of Mrs. Jagers. The guests came in appropriate costume and no one could have guessed that they were dignified teachers. The rooms were beautifully decorated, and spoofs, ghosts and goblins met the guests. After unmasking, an enjoyable program of games, contests, stunts and music was enjoyed by all. During the evening after an 'automobile ride' the guests were led to the dining room where elaborate refreshments were served. There also, each guest found his or her fortune. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Shelby, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Esceel James, Mr. and Mrs. Ira T. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Jagers, Misses Emma Terry, Nannie Miller, Hazel Miller, Myrtle Glass, Margaret Hard, Ruby Hard, Ethel Hard, Lurline Lewis, Helen Williams and Lena Holtzclaw. Messrs. John Y. Brown and Sigisby Lowery.

Miss Frances Hard entertained the Girl Scouts at her home on Walker Street with a Hallowe'en party on Tuesday evening. Those present were, Misses Alberta Yates, Evalyn Hina, Margaret Hina, Mildred Bennett, Mary Elizabeth Bennett, Ruth Graham, Virginia Crider, Irene Shoulders, Frances Travis, Ophelia Vick, Margaret Waters, Helen Doss, Corrine Lowery Anna Elizabeth Hard and Frances Hard.

REPORTS ON WEATHER HELPFUL WITH BEES

Notable Success Achieved by Wisconsin Beekeeper.

Enabled to Ascertain When Conditions Are Suitable for Late Flights of Honey Gatherers in Late Autumn Months.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Weather reports issued by the United States Department of Agriculture have been used with notable success by a Wisconsin beekeeper in the handling of bees in fall and spring. By keeping in touch with the local office of the weather bureau at Milwaukee he learns when weather is likely to be mild enough for late flights of bees in the fall before they are put into winter quarters and for early release in the spring.

Honeybees develop dysentery and other serious disorders if kept in the hive too long in winter. This is due to the fact that they will not void their feces while in the hive. It is, therefore, important to shorten the season of housing as much as possible without running into danger of freezing weather or high winds which scatter the colonies. It is highly desirable to give the bees a cleansing flight just before housing.

This apiarist has found that he can expect a satisfactory temperature for flying between November 5 and November 20 practically every year. In a recent autumn there was such temperature November 17. As the official forecast was for much colder weather, he housed his bees November 19. The temperature dropped steadily and reached zero December 1. The month of December was the coldest in 40 years. Other beekeepers, not using the forecasts, left their bees out until about the middle of December, with resulting damage.

Last spring he received a special forecast April 1 announcing that the following day the temperature would be satisfactory for flight. He set the hives out that night, and the following day the temperature went up to 71 degrees and the bees had a "glorious cleansing flight."

SWEET CLOVER FOR PASTURE

Biennial Plant is Excellent to Use in Rotation—Acre Will Furnish Feed for Cow.

Many farmers have found the biennial white sweet clover an excellent pasture plant to use in rotation. Some have successfully used a rotation of corn, oats and sweet clover. The sweet clover planted with the oats, lives over the winter after oat harvest and comes on the next season. Where it is successfully established, it is found that an acre will pasture a cow for a whole season in a good sweet clover section, and furnish her an abundance of feed. In this plan the essentials for success with sweet clover are to lime the land enough to grow red clover well, plant 20 pounds of scarified sweet clover seed to the acre and inoculate where neither sweet clover nor alfalfa has been grown previously. Permanent pasture in some sections may be improved by this treatment—that is, by limiting the permanent pasture and placing the pasture in the rotation, as suggested by the farmers who have tried this plan.

EXHIBITS OF CLUB MEMBERS

Various Products Which Boys and Girls Grew or Prepared Displayed at Many Fairs.

Pigs, poultry, potatoes, bread, canned vegetables and meats, and other products which boys and girls enrolled in extension clubs grew or prepared following demonstrations by county extension workers were shown in 4,200 exhibits at community fairs and 6,000 exhibits at county, district, and state fairs last year, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture.

INJURY BY JAPANESE BEETLE

Foliage of Many Fruit and Shade Trees Damaged by Immense Number of Insects.

The Japanese beetle was much more abundant during the present season, and over a wider area. Serious damage to the foliage of many trees was caused by the immense number of beetles, especially fruit trees and certain varieties of shade trees, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. There was important injury to early fruit, particularly early apples and early peaches.

"HOW TO GET THE LAST TICK"

Much Valuable Experience Accumulated by Scientists Given in Recent Circular.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

As the territory infested by the cattle tick gradually contracts under the pressure of eradication work, the difficulties in the way of further reduction of the area increase. In the 15 years since the campaign was started to starve and poison the tick out of existence, counties and states have been freed of the insect at a rapid rate but there are knotty spots in the remaining tick territory, and progress toward the goal of a tick-free country will be slower than in the past.

However, those who are now engaged in cleaning up infested country have the advantage of much valuable experience accumulated by scientists, veterinarians and local authorities, while more than 500,000 square miles were being made tickless. These fundamental facts, a knowledge of which is essential to those taking the lead in eradication, particularly the inspectors, have been gathered into a circular, "How to Get the Last Tick," by W. M. MacKellar, one of the inspectors for the United States Department of Agriculture who has had years of experience in various infested areas.

The circular contains no new formula, no panacea; it is classified experience of practical field men put into usable form for those who will have charge of the work of cleaning up the remaining ticky states and counties. Although it is designed principally for inspectors, others who are interested in eradication work may get copies by addressing the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

CHANGE PIG PASTURE OFTEN

Healthy Animals Become Infested With Internal Worms From Feed, Water and Soil.

The main trouble which hog raisers have in raising pigs seems to be that when a trouble, such as worms, gets started in the lots, they let it spread too rapidly over the entire herd. Healthy pigs become infested with internal worms from feed, water and soil which has become infested by other pigs having the same trouble.

The logical thing, then, is to see that pigs have a frequent change of pasture. This is not so big a problem where they are given plenty of range. There are other desirable points in having a range of pasture for the growing pigs, although they can be raised successfully, and are so raised, in close quarters if these are kept clean. Dividing up a pasture and letting the pigs run a while in each part will keep the pigs healthy and give the pasture a chance to come back when not in use.

SUPERIOR CORN FOR SILAGE

Some Growers Can Use to Good Advantage Larger Variety—Choice Should Be Limited.

"Generally the same variety of corn grown for grain production will prove satisfactory for silage also," says Prof. A. C. Arny of the division of farm crops and farm management, University of Minnesota. "However, since it is not necessary that corn for good silage should mature beyond the beginning of the dent stage before cutting, some growers, particularly those in the northern part of the state, can use to advantage a somewhat larger corn for this purpose. The choice should be limited to varieties which will produce ears that reach the beginning dent stage before killing frosts."

Pigs Grow Vigorously.

On clover pasture and skimmed milk, with a little barley or oats, pigs grow rangy, strong and vigorous. They make quick and profitable gains when turned into the feed lots or corn fields.

Young Pigs on Pasture.

It is seldom if ever profitable to force young pigs to subsist on pasture alone. It is generally more profitable to feed two pounds or more of corn per 100 pounds of pigs than to feed a lighter ration.

OBITUARY

James Wendell Agree was born on Feb. 12 1905, he was the only child of S. W. and Bertie Agree, he came to his death in Kansas City by a collision of two street cars. He was returning to his home after an honest days work had been done. He was making his home at this time with his uncle Hugh Agree, a brother of his father. We give the readers a small clipping from the Kansas City Blade:

Wendell J. Agree, age 17, 6200 East 7th St., received a crushed left leg when an east bound independent Mo. car ran into the rear of an East bound Fairmont Park car at 9th St. and Monroe Ave. shortly after noon. Agree was standing in the vestibule of the Fairmont Park car which had stopped on 9th St. at Monroe Ave. The vestibule of the car in front was badly damaged. Wendell was taken to the general hospital and died at 10 o'clock P. M. Oct. 21, 1922.

Wendell professed faith in Christ in November 1920 and united with Pleasant Hill church, August 1922. Where he lived a faithful consecrated life until Oct. 21, 1922 when the spirit took its flight to God who gave it and Wendell's voice will be heard no more in this world, but his influence still lingers with us, for to know him was to love him. He is gone but not forgotten. The funeral was conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. B. Paris, assisted by Rev. W. T. Oakley in the presence of the largest crowd ever seen at Pleasant Hill for a funeral. When the grave was finished it looked like a bed of flowers, it was covered with the choicest of flowers.

Thus ends the sweet life of a noble young man.

Studebaker

It is not necessary to buy a high-priced roadster to get maximum comfort. Comfort is a matter of correct design. Comfort is built into the Studebaker Light-Six.

The seat is placed at just the right angle for relaxation and is provided with big, fat cushions, upholstered in genuine leather. The semi-elliptic springs are long, strong and resilient.

There is ample luggage space under the rear deck—plenty of room for everything you may want to carry.

Vibration, which is so destructive to motor cars, is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor. This is largely due to the fact that the crank-shaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, an exclusive Studebaker practice for cars at anywhere near the Light-Six price.

Economy of operation is increased by valves inclined at a 20-degree angle and by the internal hot spot.

This handsome roadster is a quality car throughout. It is sold at $975 only because of complete manufacture, in large volume, in one of the most modern and complete motor car plants in the world.

Middlemen's profits are thus eliminated, and the savings are passed on to you.

The Light-Six Roadster well upholds Studebaker's 70-year reputation for dependability and dollar-for-dollar value.

Attractive coil lights. Thief-proof transmission lock. Cool ventilator. Storm curtains opening with the doors. Large plate glass window in rear curtain. Inside and outside door handles. Upholstered in genuine leather. Ample space under the rear deck for luggage.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

Illinois Central System Tells About Shortage of Transportation

We are now in one of those periods when the business of the country, including agriculture, suffers severe losses by reason of the shortage of railway transportation—the inability of the railroads to move promptly all of the traffic awaiting shipment.

The Illinois Central System is leaving nothing undone in its efforts to meet the situation. In our October statement we showed that we have this year added to our rolling equipment new cars and locomotives costing a total of more than $14,000,000. These purchases included sixty-five locomotives. Since that statement was published we have purchased, in addition, seventy-five large freight locomotives, making a total of 140 locomotives purchased this year. However, we are handling the largest traffic in the history of this system, and our patrons doubtless will continue to be inconvenienced by the general shortage of transportation facilities.

The miners' strike, which continued for nearly five months, and the railway shopmen's strike have naturally had an effect upon the present shortage of transportation, but the main cause goes far deeper than those strikes.

What is commonly called the "car shortage" is in reality a shortage of all kinds of railway facilities, including locomotives, freight cars, passing tracks, terminal facilities, etc. For a number of years the rate at which the railroads have been able to increase their facilities has gradually fallen off, while the ton mileage hauled, which represents the public demand for transportation, has been gaining steadily.

In the seven years ended with 1907 the number of locomotives increased 2,500 a year and the number of freight cars 80,000 a year. In the next seven years the number of locomotives increased only 1,500 a year and the number of freight cars only 50,000 a year. In the seven years ended with 1921 the number of locomotives increased only 275 a year and the number of freight cars only 6,000 a year. The increase in the number of locomotives in the seven years ended with 1921 was only one-ninth as great as in the seven years ended with 1907, while the increase in the number of freight cars was only one-fifteenth as great. The decline in the amount and capacity of the equipment provided has been accompanied by a corresponding decline in other facilities. This condition cannot continue without causing frequently recurring losses of a serious nature to the country.

During periods of business depression when there is a surplus of transportation, the railroads should be most active in enlarging a redextending their facilities for future needs, but that has not been possible in the past because business depressions have been accompanied by widespread demands for reduced rates. Such agitations discourage railway managements when questions of recommending extensive and costly improvements are being considered and drive investors away from railway securities. When the confidence of investors in railway securities is fully restored, large expenditures for additions and betterments can be made, and the railroads will then be able to supply all necessary transportation. This is the "railway question" in a nutshell.

What the country needs badly are many leaders among business men, farmers and workers with vision to see that business including agriculture, must have ample railway service, and with courage to tell the truth about the transportation situation. Upon the attitude of the public toward the railroads will depend whether such crises as the present one are to be avoided in the future.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

How to Open a New Book.
To the lover of books there is nothing so exasperating as to see a new book ruined by careless opening. To open a new book correctly let it rest on its bound edges then put one back carefully down and then the other. Put down a portion of the leaves, alternating back and front until all the leaves are down. A new book opened this way a few times will not be ruined by the leaves coming loose.

Great Writer's Work Analyzed.
Turgenev's novels are nearer to poetry than any others, because his comment on life is so purely emotional. Like Schubert, he makes his songs out of sorrow; all his exquisite precision of detail, all his skill of construction, are means of expressing that. His very characters are mouthpieces of it, and subdued to the minor key. So his books have the unity of music.—A. Clifton-Brock.

STOCK

PRODUCTION OF SPRING PIGS

Average Cost of 100 Pounds of Marketable Pork Placed at $6.08 by Department.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The average cost of producing 100 pounds of marketable pork in sections of Iowa and Illinois in 1921, was $6.08, according to a cost of production study made by the United States Department of Agriculture on 3,574 spring pigs producing 855,140 pounds of marketable pork.

This pork was produced when corn was relatively cheap last year. The survey shows that 65 per cent of the hogs returned between 25 cents and 75 cents per bushel of corn fed. Costs ranged from $3.76 in one drove, to $10.80, in the drove showing the highest cost. 85 per cent of the pork showing a cost of $7 or less per 100 pounds. An average profit of $1.28 per 100 pounds of marketable pork is shown, or an average profit of $3.05 for each pig weaned.

The size of the litters, the relative economies made in the use of feed and labor, and the quantity of pork produced per sow were the three principal cost factors. The entire herd was used as a basis for cost finding, all the expenses of the sow being divided among the pigs in her litter. The principal causes of high costs were the small litters, weaned, heavy feed and labor expense, and slightly lower gain per head. Tankage formed an important part of the ration of the economical pork.

The average cost of the total quantity of pork produced, or 882,756 pounds, which included 27,612 pounds lost later through deaths, was $5.88, with a range of $3.76 on the farm making the cheapest pork, to $10.48 on the farm showing highest costs. Thirty-nine of the 51 farms upon which cost figures were kept showed costs between $4 and $7.

The farm averaging the smallest litters, or two pigs to the sow, made 478 pounds of pork per litter in 200 days. The farm making the highest record made 1,750 pounds of pork per litter in 200 days from an average of 1.27 pigs weaned per sow. Two farms producing an average of eight pigs per sow produced 1,616 pounds and 1,435 pounds per sow respectively.

Pasture Crops Compete Hogs and Grow

The average cost of producing a weaned pig, ten weeks of age, was $4.50. Figures were kept on 710 spring litters. The cost of producing a weaned pig varied from $2.73 in the breeding herd having the lowest cost per pig to $10.16 per weaned pig in the drove having the highest cost. These costs included all feed and other expenses upon the mothers from the time of sorting the sows in the fall to be bred to the date of weaning; also the feed and other costs on the boar while on the farm.

While no attempt was made to find the cost of pigs at farrowing time the report shows the influence that the selection of sows and condition of the farrowing pen have upon the size of litters, and the number of pigs brought through alive, the department states.

MARKETING EARLY LAMB CROP

Hot Weather Slows Down Gains Decidedly and It Doesn't Pay to Keep Them Back.

Experience has proven that it pays to market the lamb crop when it is ready rather than delay with the hope that additional weight may be had. As a matter of fact, hot weather slows down the gain very decidedly, and it doesn't pay to keep the lambs on after they are ready to go. Well-grown early lambs that weigh sixty to seventy pounds will soon be ready. Let them go then as soon as possible.

Exercise for Sows.

Exercise is necessary for brood sows. They should not be allowed to lie around all day, but given some grain at a distance from their sleeping quarters which will compel them to walk and thus keep fit.

Renew Interest in Sheep.

Many farmers are now becoming interested in the rearing and feeding of sheep who never before took much interest in them. Most of them have a lot of highly interesting things to learn about sheep.

WITH MUCH CARE

Experiments Show It to Be Excellent Pasture Crop for Live Stock and Poultry.

GRAIN IN RATION ESSENTIAL

Green Feed Has Good Effect in Maintaining Egg Production With Hens on Free Range—Great Danger of Bloating.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The results obtained by the United States Department of Agriculture and the various state experiment stations show that alfalfa is an excellent pasture crop for hogs, horses, mules, and chickens, but must be handled carefully when grazed with cattle and sheep.

Hogs are probably the best live stock to graze on alfalfa, but a small grain ration with the pasture is necessary for the best and most economical gains. All kinds of poultry relish green alfalfa, and it has been shown to have a good effect in maintaining egg production when the hens have free range.

Danger of Bloat.

When cattle and sheep are allowed on alfalfa pasture there is great danger of bloat. This is particularly true in the humid sections of the country. Bloat seems to be greatest when the alfalfa is young and tender, but there are other precautions regarding the use of alfalfa for cattle and sheep pasture that must be observed. These general rules are: (1) Do not turn the stock into the field when the alfalfa is wet with rain or dew; (2) let the animals feed on other forage, preferably hay, before turning them in on alfalfa; (3) allow the stock to graze only a few minutes at a time until they have become accustomed to it, and then do not take them out of the field except for water; (4) sow some grass with the alfalfa and have a patch of grass where the stock can graze at any time; (5) have a stack of hay or straw in the field to which the stock may have free access; (6) have salt and water easily accessible.

Hard to Get Stand.

Experiments with pasturing alfalfa have shown that it takes time for the stand to become established and that it may be seriously injured, if not destroyed, by careless grazing. Usually it is best to wait until the third year before turning stock in on the alfalfa field. Even then it is necessary to avoid over-pasturing, grazing at improper stages of growth, or grazing when the land is wet or frozen. When such care is not taken, plants die, the stand thins, and weeds come in.

A Splendid Field of Alfalfa.

GRASSHOPPERS PREFER OATS

When Food Is Scarce Insects Will Not Go Far Out of Way to Search for Pleasing Plants.

When various grains are available the grasshoppers prefer oats to any of the others, reports a United States Department of Agriculture investigator in Montana. However, when food is scarce the hoppers will not go far out of the way to search for the plants that please their palates most.

MADE FIRST FAMILY GARDEN

According to Figures of Department of Agriculture Many Farmers Changed Methods.

Two hundred and sixty thousand families either made their first home garden or changed their previous ways of gardening in 1921, as a result of demonstrations of improved methods by agricultural extension agents, according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture.

BALANCE RATION FOR FOWLS

Putting Out Trough or Self-Feeder of Mash Is Not Sufficient—Most Hens Like Grain.

Just putting out a self-feeder or trough of a good mash is not enough. Most hens like grain better than the mash, and if they are allowed too much grain they will not eat enough mash. Keep down the grain so the hens eat up at least as much mash as grain, to keep up the laying in hot weather.

SERVICE—Service is the cornerstone of Success. No business can live and thrive unless it renders real honest service to its customers and its community. Our service to out of town customers is a point of pride. A letter from you is a contract with us that you must be satisfied or we are not. The same when you visit our store—you are the first consideration and the last. That's why folks from outside of Evansville like this store.
