ELECT OFFICERS OF ASSOCIATION

Dark Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association Fully Organized

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Nov. 26.—With a full corps of officers selected and business policies outlined for the Dark Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association of Kentucky and Tennessee, things are rapidly shaping up for the handling of the actual business for which the organization was formed. This was all done at the important meeting of the board of directors which was held here last week, and which, as was expected, lasted for several days, from Monday through Thursday, to be exact.

The officers selected are as follows: President, W. F. Bradshaw, prominent banker of Paducah; first vice president, W. C. Broadbent of Trigg county, the largest tobacco grower in the district; second vice president, Claude C. Cooke, of Clarksville Tenn., another tobacco grower; Reams D. Farmer, banker of Adams Tenn., was named as temporary secretary and later was elected as permanent treasurer; these with Judge Robert W. Bingham, of Louisville and J. Guthrie Coke of Auburn form the executive committee which is entrusted with much important business.

It was not until Thursday that the rest of the places were filled, the selections at that time being general manager John Hantratty, prominent tobaccoist of Clarksville, Tenn.; his associates are Ennis P. Harris, of Bowling Green for the One Sucker district; Clarence D. Brown of Owensboro for the Green River district; men for the stemming and Dark fired districts are yet to be named.

Director of warehouses, R. E. Cooper, tobaccoist and warehouse man of Hopkinsville; C. A. Rogers of Owensboro was named as associate and Geo. Covington, of Mayfield and B. Moore of Springfield, as assistants, with others to be named by Mr. Cooper.

Chief of field service division, Joseph Passonneau, who has been in charge of the organization campaign. He was empowered to name his associates.

Chief Grader, C. K. Smith of Clarksville; assistants: for the dark fired district, James West; for the one sucker, T. Duke; for the Green River, R. O. Flynn; for the stemming, James G. Gist.

Counsel, Aaron Sapiro.

The City National Bank of Paducah, was made financial trustee with the Bank of Hopkinsville as depository and holder in escrow of receipts and etc.

All these men are splendidly qualified for the position for which they have been selected and general satisfaction has been expressed that they have been secured to handle the association's affairs. All of them have gone actively to work to get their departments in shape to functioning as quickly as possible.

The matter of finance naturally provoked much discussion and to meet immediate needs a loan of $500,000 was ordered to be floated at once with local banks. Then it was also ordered that several million dollars should be secured from the War Finance Corporation, and if possible a conference on this be held at Washington on Dec. 6. The committee to represent the association at this meeting will be Pres. Bradshaw, Judge Bingham, Aaron Sapiro, Claude Cooke, J. Guthrie Coke, J. Passonneau and William Bailey.

At the conference held with warehousemen, 137 houses were offered to the association, according to Director Cooper. Some of these are not suited to the needs of the association and cannot be accepted for that reason, but early consideration will be given to this important matter, for houses must be secured before tobacco can be received.

All over the district the feeling among the members is good and everybody is expecting the association to be successful from the first.

TO COURIER-JOURNAL AND TIMES SUBSCRIBERS

I now have the agency for the Courier-Journal and Times and shall try to make prompt deliveries of these newspapers to my subscribers as soon as they arrive in Marion. As you probably know, the papers have missed train connections several times recently, causing a delay in city delivery here. I hope to get the papers routed so they will come regularly. I cannot prevent the papers from missing train connections en route but will do all I can to give prompt delivery when they do arrive.

Farm Bureau Notes

Feed Tankage or Sour Milk

Animal protein fed to hens either in the form of tankage or sour milk is a big item in keeping the winter egg basket full according to results obtained by a Henderson county farmer. Mr. Howard, a farmer of that county has just completed the records on his flock of 167 hens. His flock averaged 164 eggs to the hen and was the third highest producing flock in the state.

With proper feed an acre the possibilities of egg production are very great. The highest egg production of any hen in Kentucky was made recently by a Plymouth rock pullet owned by the Kentucky Experiment Station at Lexington. This pullet laid 263 eggs in twelve months—more than five times the average for all the hens in Kentucky.

Treating Breeding Ewes

Stomach worms, present in almost every flock of sheep in Kentucky, annually causes a heavy loss to the farmers and breeders of the state according to L. J. Horlacher, in charge of sheep work at the College of Agriculture. Farmers can take a big step at this time of year to wipe out this trouble by treating their pregnant ewes with copper sulphate. If ewes are free of worms before the lambing season comes the chances of the lambs getting worms are considerably lessened.

A solution made of copper sulphate commonly known as blue stone, is the best one to use in treating the ewes. The solution is made by dissolving 1-4 pound of powdered copper sulphate in a quart of boiling water and then diluting this to three gallons. This amount is enough to dose 100 ewes.

In treating ewes they should be kept off feed the night before and then drenched the following morning after which they should be kept up from six to eight hours longer. The dose for each ewe is about 3 1-2 ounces or seven tablespoonfuls. In case the ewes are in a badly rundown condition they should be given a drench of epsom salts about 24 hours after the copper sulphate treatment. One fourth of a pound of the salts dissolved in water is enough for each ewe.

J. D. CARNAHAN ACCIDENTLY SHOT

Thirteen-Year-Old Boy Wounded In Arm While Out Hunting Saturday

James D. Carnahan, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carnahan, was accidentally shot while out hunting Saturday morning.

When about to shoot at a bevy of birds with his 22 caliber rifle, he dropped the gun which was discharged by the fall, the bullet taking effect in his left arm between the elbow and wrist.

The wounded boy walked from the pasture of Eb Sullenger to the Crider residence where he telephoned home and was brought in an automobile to the Carnahan residence on Belleville Street, where Dr. I. H. Clement dressed the injured arm. Though painful, the injury was not serious, and it is reported that he is getting along well and will soon recover.

250 BEEF BULLS DISTRIBUTED BY BETTER SIRE SALES

As a result of cooperative sales commonly termed better sire sales because of their nature and purpose progressive live-stock owners of the state distributed 250 pure bred bulls this year. The majority of the bulls are to be used for improving grade herds. The number of bulls disposed of in the sales mentioned does not include those distributed through private sales which breeders conducted themselves.

In connection with better sire work in Kentucky extension workers in animal husbandry are conducting demonstration work in live stock feeding. In a number of counties field day meetings are held in feed lots. The meetings assist materially, State college of Agriculture believes, in showing and teaching better feeding practices along with the importance of good breeding.

MEXICO PARENT TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

The Parent Teachers Association, which was organized the first morning of this school, is still growing into a bigger and better body under the following officers: W. O. Wicker, president; R. W. Winters, V. president; Mrs. R. C. McMaster, Sec.; and Mrs. Bird Whitt, treas.

The purpose of this organization has been to aid our efficient teachers Prof. and Mrs. D. H. Postlethwait in attaining a splendid school spirit and to relieve them of as much responsibility as possible. Our teachers have from time to time arranged programs for the entertainment of the Association. These programs have been varied. Outside and home talent have each been given very successfully. Prof. Jagers, of Marion; and Mr. Shelby and other members of the Marion High School faculty have given us addresses.

Through the Association a number of the patrons have conducted chapel exercises for the school and furnished the school with a number of outside visitors who have addressed the school.

Through this organization more than one hundred dollars have been realized for the benefit of the school. Equipment has been added and the debt on the school house has been paid.

This P. T. A. is a member of the state organization and hopes to continue better and lasting good for the school and for all school in Crittenden county. We believe that we have the most progressive teachers who will lead us to a higher goal.

OBITUARY

Little Martha Lane Rushing came to live with her fond parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rushing on November 4, 1921, and God let her stay with them one short year because He called for her Tuesday morning Nov. 14, 1922 and the little spirit went back to God who gave it. Little Martha Lane was a delicate child, she never enjoyed good health. She was the constant care of her father, mother, grandfather, grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Woodson, and her three brothers, Curtis, Boaty and Woodson. She was a bright beautiful child and was the idol of the home. Everything that could be done was done; the doctor did his best; heartbroken loved ones did their best but God wanted her to live with him in Heaven. God is making Heaven just as homelike as He can make it and no one who has ever gone there has ever wanted to leave. Little Martha Lane can not come back to us but we can go to her. The funeral was conducted by Brother Prather at the residence and the interment in Maple View Cemetery. The floral offerings were as pretty and abundant as God makes flowers.

Good bye little Martha Lane for a while; we will be lonesome down here without you but some day we will see you again.

Rev. Robert Lear returned Saturday from Missouri.

Mr. W. N. Love who spent the week end at home in this county, returned to Clay Monday.

Deputy Sheriff John T. Pickens went to Princeton Monday for medical treatment. Miss Elvah Pickens accompanied him.

Rev. E. A. Powers of Dixon filed an appointment at Dittrey Sunday.

Steel makers over the world are watching an experiment which a Frenchman is making with a process by which he asserts iron ore may be directly converted into steel. If this process is practical, the intermediate step of converting ore into pig iron will be eliminated. The cost of producing steel will be reduced materially. The amount of capital invested to make pig iron from iron ore is tremendous, all of which would be released for employment in something else. Time and money in vast quantities will be saved to the world when this Frenchman or some other inventor achieves the goal he is set upon.

Barren financial writer, wonders what has made the United States develop in less than two centuries from a wilderness to "the greatest nation on which the sun has shone." It isn't territory and fertile soil, for Africa beats us in that respect. It isn't wheat-raising area, for Canada beats us there. It isn't education, for we are far behind Germany, where 98 per cent of the population can read and write. Freedom has something to do with it. But the great force that created Uncle Sam's empire was plain, old-fashioned hard work, a vagabond
 now held generally in contempt.

A great many localities report a labor shortage, but it isn't that there are not men enough for the jobs, says the Houston Post. The trouble is, the jobs are unsatisfactory, most of them being out in the sunshine, and away from soft-drink stands, and minus the comforting presence of a flapper stenographer and a machine for clipping coupons.

SHEEP REQUIRE GOOD SHADE

Plenty of Right Kind Returns Big Dividends—One Tree is Much Worth Than None.

Plenty of the right kind of shade for sheep returns big dividends, farmers and sheep raisers say. Only one or two shade trees in a pasture are worth more than none at all since a place to which the sheep come day after day soon becomes a hotbed of parasites, they add. The construction of small shades which can be moved from place to place is solving the difficulty for many farmers.

ARTIFICIAL SHADE FOR HOGS

Protection of Some Kind Should Be Provided in Pasture Where Trees Are Lacking.

Where there are no trees in the hog pasture to provide the much-needed shade during the summer months, an artificial shade is a most important part of the summer equipment. A good shelter may be constructed by setting short posts in the ground and building a roof of light boards over these. Windstorms should be guarded against by nailing the boards securely.

Home Town helps

LOOK TO COMMUNITY'S NEEDS

What Has Been Accomplished at Fort Scott, Kansas, May Be Cited as Case in Point.

Half a dozen years ago there were two years when the wheat around Fort Scott did not come to harvest and, as wheat was the only product of the community the town was left flat. Even the merchants closed their stores and moved away.

The chamber of commerce decided that the community needed more diversity of production. It studied the situation and decided that the dairy industry would fit logically into its scheme. The farmers owned only scrub cattle, but despite this the chamber went down to Kansas City and induced the big milk users to establish three shipping stations in the Fort territory. The farmers were much surprised to find that they could get money for milk which formerly had been used only as fuel for hogs.

Then the chamber of commerce took its second step. It organized an excursion and took forty of its most progressive farmers to that part of Wisconsin where the dairy industry is most highly developed. It showed them just what first-class dairy farms and first-class dairy cattle were and how such an enterprise is properly operated.

The chamber did not stop here. It raised enough money to buy a trainload of the best milk cows it could find in the United States, had them shipped to Fort Scott and sold to the farmers at cost, which was less than the price they would have had to pay if they had bought individually. Last year this community sold half a million dollars' worth of milk alone. That wealth would not have come to Fort Scott but for the sale of milk. It will be spent among the business people who make up its chamber of commerce. The country roundabout has just completed the laying of 225 miles of improved roads, a thing that the farmers had formerly refused to finance. The whole community is transforming itself. All of which comes of taking thought of community needs and proceeding to supply them.

KEEP THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Annual Clean-Up All Right in Their Way, but There is a Very Much Better Method.

The annual spring clean-up in Kansas City has become a well known event. But why should it be an event? Why not a continuous process?

Recently an excellent method of keeping the streets always in repair has been put into operation. Why can't something of this kind be made to apply to the cleaning not only of streets but of yards, lots and other places that demand attention? There is provision for street cleaning, of course. But the street-cleaning forces do not receive the encouragement and help they ought to have. Their work often is nullified or made difficult by the carelessness of individuals who throw papers and various kinds of refuse where they will be most unsightly and generally objectionable. Keeping a city beautiful and clean all the year around does not stop with the operation of any city department. It becomes a part of the civic duty of every individual; it must be checked up to every home as well as to a health or street cleaning department. It may become a matter of habit with the people. It should be prompted by pride; a regard for the rights of neighbors; for what visitors may think of the city; for the best things in respect to appearance and public health.—Kansas City Star.

Stimulating Home Ownership.

One of the chief ways in which home ownership can be stimulated is through the education of the general public. Of late years it has become apparent to the leaders in the real estate profession that many people have not purchased their homes, not through inability or unwillingness, but simply because of their lack of knowledge. They fear that perhaps they might find themselves engaged in a venture about which they know nothing, and hence it does not appeal to their conservatism. The one best method of educating the public is by visualizing the processes involved in the acquisition of a home and home site. This is best done by having representative men in the industries allied to home construction brought together at an exposition to show people at first hand what has been done and what may be accomplished in the future and to give them authoritative information and definite costs.

Culture.

"Don't talk to me about colleges!" scoffed the self-made man. "Look at me! Do you suppose I would have been any more successful than I am if I'd had a college education?" "No," admitted the professor, "but you might have been less inclined to brag about it."—Judge.

HOME TOWN HELPS

EFFECTIVE PLEA FOR ZONING

Practically Impossible to Construct Proper Sewerage System Without Up-to-Date Arrangement.

The value of completely zoning a city or village is demonstrated in many ways. One of these is in the opportunity it gives the engineers to design and build sewer systems on precise information as to the character, number and use of buildings that will occupy the district which the sewer system is to serve.

The information derived from the zoning ordinance and the official maps will tell him in advance that the area to be drained is zoned, say, for a single-family district. This means to the engineer a smaller density of population, a smaller volume of sewage, shallower and smaller sewers.

Without zoning, the engineer is obliged to estimate the type and intensity of the development of any given district and design his sewers on the basis of his estimate.

If in his estimate he did not provide for large numbers of apartment buildings or hotels, requiring provision for a much greater volume of sewage and deeper basements to be drained, his sewers will be found to be inadequate to take care of the district as it finally develops.

The inadequate sewer is distressing and costly, as it means the backing up of the sewage into basements. Involving the loss of property by flooding, the expense of cleaning out the fifth and sixth which are deposited after the water has seeped away and the menacing the health of occupants of the buildings.—From a Report of the Zoning Committee of the Western Society of Engineers.

NOT YET NATION OF RENTERS

Home Owning Is by No Means a Lost Ambition Among People of the United States.

Are home owning a lost ambition? Are we becoming a nation of cliff dwellers and renters? Not if we put faith in the figures compiled by the latest established bureau of housing of the Department of Commerce, observes the Nation's Business.

Of 68 cities of more than 100,000 population but 20 show a loss in percentage of homes owned between 1910 and 1920 (the figures are from the census bureau), and the losses are more than offset by the gains of the other 48. Of the 30 where losses were recorded, four, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis and Los Angeles, are in the first ten cities in point of population.

Although in New York more homes are owned than in any other city, the percentage is the lowest, but 12.7, yet even here the percentage has grown from 11.7 in 1910 and 12.3 in 1920. Manhattan presents the most striking situation. With more than half a million homes, less than 11,000 were owned, little more than 2 per cent.

If home owning be a form of civic virtue, then Des Moines may gather her championship as the Iowa paragon among cities shows a percentage of home ownership of 51.2, a growth from 45.6 per cent in 1910 and 38.5 in 1920. In only one other community of more than 100,000 inhabitants are half the homes owned and that is Grand Rapids, Mich.

Old Houses Being Made Over.

An era of remodeling old houses runs across the entire country, according to Northwest lumbermen.

Following the building shortage of late years has come an appreciation that any house, old or new, has untold possibilities of alteration. Architects have been called upon to produce instances of "before and after" of ramshackle, barnlike structures made over into charming homes. Old barns have been rebuilt into studios, shops and warehouses into residences of taste.

There is an enormous demand on the Northwest planing mills for moldings, trimmings, shingles, siding, inside finishings, lumber and fancy grained fir, hemlock or cedar for cabinet work.

Lumbermen declare this demand has come from the alteration wave over the nation, repairing and adding built-in features.

How Zoning Saves Money.

It is estimated to the city engineer of the city of St. Louis that zoning would have saved the property owners about 15 per cent of the cost of sewer construction.

If this saving is true in the case of sewers, is it not equally true of the other services which combined make a mighty sum?

Avenged.

"Good heavens, man; pretty badly smushed up, ain't you? Anybody with you?"

"Yes, the chap who was trying to sell me this used car."—Harper's Magazine.

Use and Appearance.

"Do you think your bathing suit is proper?"

"Proper enough as a bathing suit," replied Miss Cayenne, "though perhaps deserving of criticism as a security."

DAIRY HINTS

FEED POINTS FOR DAIRYMAN

To Obtain Maximum Milk Production Cow Must Be Attended to at Proper Moment.

If you would get a maximum milk production from your cows, feed the right feed at the right time and in the right amounts, advises M. H. Keeney, dairy specialist of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture.

Mr. Keeney gives the following practical suggestions for dairymen in feeding for milk production:

1. Feed all the roughage a cow will

More Guernseys Have Been Imported to United States During Past 33 Years Than Any Other Breed.

clean up. Part of it should be a legume such as clover or alfalfa.

2. Feed some succulent feed such as silage or roots.

3. Feed a balanced ration.

4. Feed grain in accordance to milk production: For a Holstein or Ayrshire, approximately one pound of grain for each 4 pounds of milk; for a Guernsey or Jersey, about one pound grain for each 3 pounds of milk. A variety of grains in the mixture is desirable.

5. During short pastures supplement with silage or some green feed, together with some grain.

6. Feed and milk regularly.

7. Supply an abundance of pure fresh water at all times.

8. Give access to salt daily.

9. Purchase grain feeds on the basis of their protein and energy content and not alone on just the cost per unit.

GROWING RATIONS FOR CALF

In Feeding Young Dairy Animals Material Supplied Must Be Fresh. Building—Salt Is Needed.

"There are two things to remember in feeding dairy calves," says E. A. Hanson, dairy specialist with the agricultural extension division of the University of Minnesota. "The feed must make them grow and must supply flesh-building material so they will be in good condition."

Growing feeds, he says, consist of skim milk, clover hay, oats, bran and oil meal. The fattening feeds are corn, barley and oil meal. For calves under six months old in good condition and having a soft, mellow hide a mixture of 30 pounds ground corn, 30 pounds ground oats, 30 pounds bran and 10 pounds oil meal, fed three to five pounds daily, is recommended by Mr. Hanson. A mixture of 30 pounds ground corn, 20 pounds ground barley, 40 pounds ground oats and 10 pounds oil meal, also fed at the rate of from three to five pounds a day, is advised for calves in poor condition.

"Salt improves the calf's appetite, so keep a box with clean salt in sheltered place where the calf may eat of it freely," Mr. Hanson advises. "Provide all the good clover or alfalfa hay the calf will eat up clean. Never allow the calves or yearlings to run with the herd."

NEW BETTER-SIRES EMBLEMS

Certificate of Improved Design for Recognition of Good Work in Improving Stock.

A new emblem of improved design for recognition of good work in improving live stock is ready for distribution by the bureau of animal industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. The certificate, which measures 8 1/2 by 10 1/2 inches, resembles a steel engraving and is suitable for framing.

A person holding an old emblem and desiring to exchange it for a new one may do so by returning the old one to the bureau of animal industry. About 7,800 of the old emblems have been issued to breeders and others working with the department in improving the utility value of farm animals, reducing the number of runts, and in other ways benefiting the live stock of the country.

Bull Is Most Important.

Have you a ready dairy bull? If not see your county agent about getting one or forming a co-operative bull association. The bull is the most important part of the dairy herd as he is the sire of your future herd.

Make Silo Fit Herd.

In installing a silo make it fit the size of your herd. The diameter should allow you to feed your herd at least two inches of the surface to prevent surface spoilage, then make it deep enough to last as long as you expect to feed during the year.

Silo a Necessity.

The silo has come to be recognized as a necessity on farms where ten or more dairy cattle are kept. In fact it is now recognized as the most profitable building on the dairy farm.

Highway Improvement

LINKING UP STATE SYSTEMS

Progressive Step Attributed to Requirements of Federal-Aid Legislation.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A recent meeting of New England state highway officials and engineers of the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture, marks an important point in the development of highways in this country. This is the first meeting ever held between officials empowered to act, for the purpose of laying out a system of highways to serve an area larger than a single state. It is the first of a series of similar meetings which will be held between the federal officials and highway authorities of various groups of states, the object of which will be the solution of the problem for the whole country.

This progressive step, long wished for by all users of the highways, can be attributed to the requirements of federal-aid legislation. It is required that all federal aid be spent on a connected system of highways designed to serve the needs of the whole country. Tentative systems have been submitted by all except eight states, and now the series of meetings is being held to connect and co-ordinate the proposed state systems.

The bureau of public roads intends to push this work as rapidly as possible, so as to lay before the people the plans for what will be by far the greatest highway system in the world. At present only roads certain to be on the system are being approved for construction with federal aid; in May more than twenty miles of completed road was added to the system on each working day. It is estimated that the system will comprise 190,000 miles of highway.

LARGE STATE ROAD PROGRAM

South Carolina Wants to Spend $35,000,000 on Improvements in Next Six Years.

A proposal to spend $34,000,000 within six years and to complete within that time 4,000 miles of the state system, more than 600 miles of which would be hard surfaced and the remainder surfaced with sand-clay, top soil, or gravel is to be urged upon the legislature of South Carolina. In order that this proposal should conform to the federal aid acts the state highway officials recently held conferences with representatives of the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture.

HIGHWAY RULES ARE STRICT

Vehicles Not Permitted to Carry More Than Fourteen Tons Without Special Permit.

In Massachusetts no vehicle may travel over the highway which, with its load, weighs more than fourteen tons without a special permit and the load must not exceed 800 pounds upon tire inch of the vehicle. No motor vehicle which, with its load, weighs more than four tons, is allowed to travel at a speed of over four miles per hour if equipped with metallic tires, or over twelve miles per hour if equipped with tires of rubber or similar substances. The outside width of a vehicle is limited to eight feet.

Good Roads in Georgia.

The state of Georgia spent nearly $25,000,000 on good road construction last year, leading all states in the southeast. Almost $10,000,000 represented federal aid.

Cost of Our Highways.

The average cost per mile of highways constructed in the United States is $17,120.

Good Surfacing Material.

Tars and tar products are fast replacing mineral oil for surfacing roads.

LIGHT-SIX SEDAN

$1550

Studebaker

Let Us Show You the Difference!

Vibration is destructive. It shortens the life of a car. It takes the pleasure out of riding because it causes rattles, squeaks and other irritating noises.

Vibration is particularly annoying in closed cars.

There is no perceptible period of vibration in the Studebaker Light-Six at any speed. This is due in part to Studebaker's method of machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. No other car, at anywhere near the price, follows this practice.

Lack of vibration and the quiet, smooth-running motor find quick approval from everyone who rides in the Light-Six Sedan.

And every driver is similarly enthusiastic over the way it throttles down to a walking gait in high gear—and the quick response that follows the touch of the accelerator.

Aside from its mechanical excellence, the Light-Six Sedan is notable for its sterling coach work. The substantial body, like the chassis, is built complete in Studebaker plants. Materials and workmanship are of highest grade.

Long, semi-elliptic springs and deep, restful, nine-inch cushions afford genuine comfort. Upholstery is of a rich, mohair velvet plush—good-looking and durable.

Today's price is the lowest at which the Light-Six Sedan has ever been sold.

The name Studebaker on your car is the best protection you can have!

Exhaust heater. Eight-day clock. Thief proof transmission lock. Cool ventilator. Side coach lamps. Rain view and windshield cleaner. Inside locks on three doors and outside lock on right-hand front door. Silk roller-curtains. Four doors that swing wide open. Dome light. Mohair velvet plush upholstery.
